HAS WON HIGH TRIBUTES.

The Singing of Mrs. Minnie Wriston Smith Has Won Appreciation From Eminent Critics. "There are many singers with great fame, who cannot sing so well as you and who have not the voice which you possess. Your notes are so full and round, and so beautiful, that had you sung the selections poorly, I should have forgotten the mistakes, but you did not, your voice is exquisite."

This is a part of the splendid tribute paid by Madame Schumann-Heink the world-famous singer, to Miss Virginia Lloyd (Mrs. Minnie Wriston Smith), who will give a song recital at the Selwyn Friday night. The occasion was the visit of Schumann-Heink to Charlotte last November when Miss Lloyd sang for her.

"Your middle range," she continued, "is a thing so rare in a contralto, is wonderful. There is no reason why you should not have a great career and great success. It is a beautiful voice, yours, and I wish only you could come with me and I could assist you in interpretations. Your voice needs no more training. It is highly cultivated and magnificent."

The Observer in the following morning said in relating the incident: "The few people in the hotel lobby stood amazed at such a voice and until the face of the singer was seen. It was thought that it was the famous Schumann-Heink singing."

William Nelson Burrett, who has charge of George Henschel's studio at the Damrosch School, Fifth avenue, said of Miss Lloyd: "She has a fine, well-given dramatic voice, and sings with good interpretation, distinct enunciation and positiveness."

The conductor with whom she sang in New Haven, Conn., rendering the dual parts of mezzo soprano and contralto, said: "I wish to congratulate you on your great singing. We never had a soloist here who pleased us more than you have this evening. Your singing is certainly very artistic and effective."

Miss Lloyd accepted last year invitations to sing before the Dixie Club, the Selective Club, the Sorosis Club, the California Club, the National Arts Club, in New York. In each case, the press was very complimentary in its reference to her vocal performances.

POLLING PLACES TO-MORROW.

List of Places Where Votes May Be Cast in Prohibition Election To-Morrow—A Question of Majority Only.

The polling places for the prohibition election to-morrow will open at sunrise and close at sunset in the various precincts of the city and county. While much interest centers about the election throughout the State, there is little doubt but that a majority of the votes will be cast against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. The result in Charlotte township and Mecklenburg county will be awaited with considerable concern for the reason that a strong fight has been waged here by both sides, those for prohibition and those against the "bill."

The issue is but one of majority, according to the estimates of the best posted politicians. There are some, however, who claim that the outcome in Mecklenburg county will prove a surprise.

The Observer has already published a list of the registrars and judges of the election. The following is the official designation of the polling places for Charlotte township:

- Ward 1, box 1, city hall.
- Ward 1, box 2, Beattie's store, corner Ninth and Caldwell streets.
- Ward 2, box 1, county court house.
- Ward 2, box 2, Hooper's store, South Tryon street.
- Ward 3, box 1, Page's shop, corner Church and Fourth streets.
- Ward 3, box 2, Kidd's store, on West 7th.
- Ward 3, box 3, W. J. File's store, Chadwick Mill.

JUSTICE'S DECISION TO-DAY.

Thaw's Counsel Is Not Highly Hopeful of a Favorable Decision From Justice Morschauser.—Mrs. William Thaw Visits Harry.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 24.—Justice Morschauser will hand down his decision to-morrow morning in the habeas corpus proceeding of Harry K. Thaw, in which evidence was taken a week ago.

No hint of the purport of the decision has been given but action taken by Thaw's lawyers, James G. Graham, yesterday, was rewarded as indicating that he was not highly hopeful of a decision favorable to his client. Mr. Graham secured from District Attorney Mack a stipulation that Thaw should neither be given his freedom nor sent back to Mattawan after the filing of the decision until a formal order has been signed by the judge. This will have the effect of keeping Thaw in the Dutchess county jail for a week longer.

During this time, should the decision be unfavorable to Thaw, an effort will be made to induce District Attorney Jerome to consent to Thaw's commitment to one of the State insane asylums other than Mattawan. Thaw was visited in the Poughkeepsie court house to-day by his mother.

Craig fell without uttering a sound and Dunlap turned and fled into the mountains. Up to 10 o'clock to-night he had not been captured.
