VIRTUES OF COTTON SEED OIL

Mr. David Wesson, Manager of the Technical Department, Southern Cotton Oil Company, and Inventor of Wesson Process of Relining, Talks of the Many Excellencies of Cotton Seed Oil—An Interesting

Mr. David Wesson, of New York, manager of the technical department of the Southern Cotton Oll Company, is spending a few days in Charlotte. Knowing Mr. Wesson's close interest in all matters connected with the in-dustry as well as his expert knowledge, he was called upon by a repre-sentative of The Observer yest-rday and induced to talk on the subject He said that cotton seed oil first came under his observation in 1884 when he was in the employ of N. K. Fair-bank & Co., of Chicago. It was then refined by "rule of thumb" methods with excessive loss. The product had a rough, harsh flavor and was worked into what was called "refined lard." For domestic purposes 20 to 40 per cent, was considered a very large quantity to use, along with pure hog lard and oleo-stearine.

About 1888-1859, a mixture con-sisting of very carefully selected refined yellow oil and pressed beef fat known as "cottolene" was placed on the market. In frying it gave off an unpleasant odor and on account of the great difficulty in obtaining a uniform refined oil this prototype of the modern hogless cooking fats was ot at that time much of a success. The great difficulty with the cotton not at that time much of

In this manner the product has been greatly retarded in its development.

It remained for science to improve refining methods so that regardless of local conditions of soil and weather, the rank peanut-flavored oil of the Carolinas and the grainy tasting product of Alabama seed will all pass through the refinery and come out tasteless and odorless, suitable for the housewife and baker to use every where that a clean, sweet fat can be needed in the preparation of food.

The invention of the "Wesson prothan any one thing to put cotton seed oil on its present basis. It is difficult to estimate its great value to the South by making the oil of the cotton seed as staple an acticle as granto the farmer for the seed, to the crude oil mill for its oil and to all the people of the country a cheup, wholesome food, the production of which goes steadily on regardless of tion to the

To All Southern Soft Yarn Spinners:
Dear Sirs: At the request of a large number of hoslery yarn spinners, a meeting of our association is called at the Selwyn Hotel, Char-lotte, N. C. at 11 o'clock a. m., Satturday, September 12th, 1908, to con-sider prices and other matters for the good of hosiery yarn spinners.

As the new cotton year is now opening it is vital that we shall fix prices so as to keep our industry from be-coming further depressed and for insuring against further losses by the spinners so far as practicable. If something is not done now our in-dustry will be in bad shape for many months to come, and for that reason all of the hosicry yarn spinners of the South are urged to attend and give voice and influence in an attempt to do something to better our

We further urge all spinners in the association to do their utmost to secure the attendance of all other members as well as those outside of the shadowed by reports from widely scattered points. From Arkansas, Ok-lahoma and Texas come predictions of spiendid crops. Neither the boll weevil nor tricks of the weather have done any material damage. One Texas estimate says that the State's out-turn will reach the high total of 4,-000,000 bales. In the Memphis district, which takes in western Tennessee and northern Mississippi fields, the same optimistic reports come.

A different story is told in lower Mississippi and in Louisiana, where serious inroads on the crop have been made by the destructive insects and unfavorable weather. Contradictory reports come from Alabama, one correspondent predicting a bumper crop of from 1,300,000 to 1,500,000 bales. while another writes in a very pessimistic vein. North Carolina's crop has suffered from 30 to 40 per cent, loss.

PROGRESS AT DAVIDSON.

The College Town Forging to the Front With Improved Streets and New Buildings. Special to The Observer.

Davidson, Sept. 9 .- The Town of Davidson, it seems, proposes to keep step with the progress that marks life in the college campus. Town Marshal been removing some old and not very handsome landmarks that have been hugging the sidewalks too closely these many years. But these relics that bridge past and present-day his-tory have been removed to make place for what may be no more imposing but is far more handsome and useful now. From this corner of Depot street and Main on down to the south end of Mooney's hardware store, the town will lay a five-foot cement pavement. Mr. Scoffeld will put such a walk the entire length and breadth of who has been engaged in similar improvements for the City of Statesville. Material and men are already on the spot and the cement pavement will soon be a solid fact.

A new brick store on the north side of M. W. Cranford & Sons, together with a new wall for the badly dam-aged store adjoining, the large Sloan building that was burned several years ago, are some of the substantial changes that the, summer has; wrought, and literally in every part of town neat and in some cases handsome cottages, eight or ten in number, stand as silent and yet striking association can do for a place in a very brief period of time.

UPON the Declaration of Independence his name may be read without spectacles. It stands out the strongest, boldest, finest signature.

In the most realistic sense John Hancock pledged life and fortune to finance the Revolution in its earlier stages.

He held investments in banks, breweries, distilleries, stores, hotels, and owned a fleet of ships engaged in the rum, wine and oil trade. The seizure of one of them (for evading the revenue laws) precipitated the Boston Massacre. He was stronghearted, full of enterprise, patriotic and bold of spirit. Over many a foaming glass of Boston Ale and hot punch he often declared, "I glory in publicly avowing my eternal enmity to tyramy."
