The Convention Stimulating Public

Thought. Thought. The municipal convention, which attracted so much attention, began to make itself felt in local conversa-tion before it had been here long. It was peculiarly opportune in its coming from the fact that Charlette has weighty municipal questions to solve and that very speedily. The convention has precipitated a rediv-tivus of interest among those before indifferent and has intensified that of those who were already taking part in the discussions. Good seams bound to come of it.
