MAN SEALS HIS OWN DOOM

CHOOSES PLACE, SAYS DR. FARR

Philadelphia Prescher Delivers Pine Sermon Before a Large Congregation at the Second Presbyterian Church at the Sunday Evening Service—Deciares That Every Man Gors to His Own Piace—The Wicked Would Be Unhappy in Heaven and Hell is a Merciful Dispensation in a Way—Every Man Chooses in What Piace He Will Spend Eternity.

"God would be a cruel God to keep a wicked man in heaven for five minutes. Can you imagine worse pain than that which impurity would suffer in the presence of infinite purity? Heaven is a prepared place for prepared people. It is almost a divine mercy that there is a place called hell, where the finally and utterly incorrigible may be by themselves?"

One of the many striking utterances, this, which gave character to the original and brilliantly analytic sermen of Rev. Dr. F. W. Farr. of Philadelphia, at the Second Presbyterian church last night, one of the first events of the Bible Conference, Delivering his third sermon of the day, Dr. Farr showed not the least wicked man in heaven for five min-day, Dr. Farr showed not the least fatigue, was in the best of form and held during the period he spoke the undivided attention of his hearers, who were sorry when he concluded. Characterized throughout by an inglaive logic which attracted by its very fearlessness, expressed in smooth-flowing, suggestive English, it was a sermon calculated to make people think, and this mission it evi-dently accomplished. Dr. Farr's text was Acts 1:25: "From which Judas by transgression fell, that he might go to his own place."

"Gravity," said Dr. Farr, "is the impulse or principle or force in accordance with which any object when removed from the earth and then liberated will fall back to the earth in a perpendicular to its surface. Every particle in the universe attracts and is attracted by every other par-ticle with a force directly in proportion to the mass of the attracting particle, and inversely to the square the distance between them. you toss a pebble in the air, you might say with some correctness that the earth rises to meet the pebble, since the attraction is mutual. The only difference is that there is much more matter in the earth that the force exerted by the pebble seems infinitesimal and is swallowed up in the other. "Up and down are always opposite directions at any point on the surface of the earth. Yet there is a marked uniformity about their relativity. We instinctively associate moral qualities with these directions. We think of up as right and down as wrong. And just as we use the expression 'upight,' we might with equal accuracy of thought say 'down-wrong.' mologically, heaven is a heaved-up place. Hell is a pit. Sin is always alling. Salvation is always rising. MORAL DERELICTS.

"This universe of ours," continued Dr. Fart, 'is kept in stable equi-librium by the law of gravity like a great mechanism, pelsed and balanced through all its component parts. Imagine some star suddenly leaving its orbit and flashing through space at tangent. What confusion, what a catastrophe would be consequent. Every human being has an orbit of norality as fixed as the path of heavenly star. Some have wandered away from their orbits. They are vagrants, fugitives, apostates, who have turned their backs on God and on their obligations and are moral duty, no orbit of life.

"No falling water has the power of hates he is in hell and hell is in him. staying itself. On the contrary it hates he is in hell and hell is in him. staying itself. On the contrary it hates he is in hell and hell is in him. staying itself. On the contrary it hates he is in hell and hell is in him. staying itself. On the contrary it hates he is in hell and hell is in him. "May not Judas be restored at tends to fall faster as it falls farther. Some far distant day?" No. There is This is an inevitable law of spirit as well as of water. This is what is really meant by the much talked of much criticised and much misunderstood dectrine of total depravity. This does not mean that people are as bad as they can possibly be, but that they are atterly unable to help themselves, or restors themselvs to the original state from which Adam fell. Total helplessness would probably be a bet-ter term than total deprayity.

"If this is true, wicked men are constantly becoming worse. The man who was wicked last year is more wicked this year and unless he is sayed this year his last state will be worse than his first. Unless arrested by the power of God and restored by the grace of God, an impenitent sinthe Buford yesterday.

"Are you comfortable among sinners? If so, you would be uncomfortable in heaven. Is the place of prayer and praise the sweetest to you in the world? Then heaven is the place for you. I never think of people going to hell under some arbitrary decree, as a prisoner is selzed and carried off to prison. Every man goes to his own piace and, for aught we know to the contrary, of his own choice. God would be a cruel God to keep a wicked man in heaven for five minutes. Can you imagine worse pain than that which impunity would suffer in the presence of infinite purity? Heaven is a prepared place for prepared people. It is almost a di-vine mercy that there is a place called hell, where the finally and utterly incorrigible can be by themselves. But, oh, what a place it must be! Judas was tormented with remerse and went out and hanged himself. That is the difference between repentence and remorse. I can't imagine any greater suffering than remorse.

"Salvation, after all, is nothing but a similarity of feeling toward God. We are all born with our backs to-ward God. Conversion is simply turning around. Salvation is walking with God. How can we walk over the hills of eternity with God unless we begin the walking on earth in time? ### Good Printing

Most printers prefer the usual grade of work. They claim there is as much money in it and less worry, which is right. We happen to have a taste for doing "stunts" in printing and we like to fuss with nice printed things. Perhaps the glory in it may be an inducement, at any rate the class of work done in our shop brings business. It is an easy brings business. It is an easy way of drumming which fits our size and disposition.
