LARVAL FORM OF EELS.

Science is Indebted to Strait of Messina.

London Daily Telegraph.

The Straits of Messina are channels of immense depth, through which a wild tide surges, and owing probably to irregularities at the bottom there whirling eddies which have the effect of bringing up from the depths below many marine creatures which are rarely seen except in the deep sea It was here that the larval form of a fresh water eel was first discovered, an incident which threw a blaze of light on the life history of a very mysterious fish.

All kinds of theories have been given forth with regard to the propa-gation of the cel. Some naturalists eclared they bred in fresh water, others that they visited the estuary for spawning purposes, but thanks to the discovery off Messina and later cuptures of the eel in its larval form it is now practically certain that after mature eels drop down our rivers in autumn they hie them to exceedingly deep water in the sea and there deposit their eggs. From the egg comes a little ribbon shaped creature, the larval form. In due course this changes into an eel of still smaller size, strange to say and these small cels or elvers afterward ascend our rivers and there remain until they reach maturity when they in their turn descend to the sea and history is repeated.

WAS PIONEER PREACHER. Rev. J. R. Wild, Who Died Recently in Madison County, Minister For Fifty-Four Years.

Special to The Observer Asheville, Feb. 5 .- Mrs. B. L. Eller, of this place, has returned from Madison county, where she went to attend the funeral of her father, Rev. J. R. Wild, whose death occurred in that He was 83 years of age at the time of his death, and had been a minister minister of the Baptist denomination and half a century ago presided over the Ivy Bend Sunday School Association. He was a member of the New-found Baptist Association for 50 years and had never missed one of meetings until a year or so ago. Mr. Wild's ministerial labors extended over several counties in this section, and while preaching the Gospel he was also a colorel in a local militia during the sixties. He was a man of great endurance and the only illness of his life was that which carried him off. The funeral services, con-ducted at Big Pine Creek church, were attended by more than 800 per-

PROGRESS OF EDUCATION IN STATE.

At a joint public meeting of the ommittees on education and appropriations to-night the progress needs of the various State educational institutions were set forth to a large audience in addition to the committees of the General Assembly. Ex-Governor Jarvis traced the history of education in the State for thirty years and was followed by President D. H. Hill, of the A. & M. College. Then President Foust, of the State Normal at Greensboro, set out the work and the wants of the young women. The State University was represented by Fourth race, 7 furlongs: Malediction, 8 President Venable, and the new Stonewall Jackson Manual Training and Industrial School at Concord, by Senator Cook.

A number of amendments exempting the bill of the Gospel for 54 years. He was a from application to a number of counties were all voted down, as was also a proposed amendment by Senator ughton that nothing in the act should be construed to make it mandatory upon a county to participate in the affairs of the association.

NEW BILLS OUT OF ORDER. New bills introduced out of order: Wray: Establish a recorder's cour Barringer: Allow cleaning establish ments a lien on articles cleaned until the bill for the work is paid. Dawes: Returnate the State peni-tentiary $68,356.70 from the State Treasury, this being desired for use in maintenance of the prison. The bill had been prepared by the joint committee on penal institutions and Senator Dawes asked its immediate passage. This was done and the bill was sent to the House for action Elliott: Incorporate the Denver & Lincolnton Railroad Company, Fry: Amend 2836, Revisal, relative work on the Sabbath.

Barringer: Provide for the maintenance and support of the A. & M. College for the colored race.

Senator Klutts offered a resolution to authorize the president of the Senate to appoint a clerk for the committee on countles, cities and towns, and the committee on justices of the peace. This was adopted.

DISCUSSION OF HOUSE BILL.
There was a lengthy discussion of the House bill to provide service for the Supreme Court, including servant to carry books to and from the homes of the justices and fixing the compen-sation of the other employes. The bill passed its second reading, but objection was raised to the final read- of Morganton to issue refunding ing and the bill took its place on the calendar for another day. Mr. Dockery presented a petition from citisens of Rockingham county for the privilege of electing their

The substitute for the Barham and the Starbuck bills allowing the State and the defendant 18 peremptory challenges in capital cases, the State to stand no jurors at the end of the panel, passed its second reading and on objection to the final reading went over for final passage. The House bill regulating the sale of concentrated feed stuffs passed its second reading, but Senstor Pharr raised objection to the final reading and at his suggestion there was a rereference of the bill to the committee on agriculture.

JUDICIAL DISTRICTS MATTER THRESHED OUT. Senator Barringer's bill to create new judicial district out of Guilford and Alamance counties came up for consideration with an amendment from the committe that the Governor may assign the judge of the district to hold special and regular terms of court in other districts when the judges of these districts are ill or relief is required from other The new districts would be the tenth and all other districts beyond that number would move up one number. The bill would limit the work of the tenth district judge to thirty-eight regular and special terms before he is entitled to any extra compensation.

Senator Barringer spoke for the bill. He said that there are now over eight hundred cases on the civil docket of the Guilford court and that a new case could not now, with the present conditions, be tried within two years after institution. He pressed the opinion that no State in the Union has so inadequate a judicial system as North Carolina and that to refuse the relief asked for would impose a great injustice upon the people besides of his county. Senator Manning spoke in opposition to the bill, characterizing it as a "mere patch" upon the judicial syrtem. It would have no effect in way of relieving equally bad condi-tions in other districts of the State. Durham, he said, has a large docket, but it was handled so as to avoid con gestion. Guilford may be a larger county in the way of territory, but education in North Carolina and the Durham has more taxable values and pays more into the State Treasury. He insisted that if the judicial system needs re-districting the Legislature ought to be bold enough to do it, but there should be no "patch work."

Senator Fry opposed the bill. He thought that with the passage of the to allow extra compensation to judges to hold special terms there would be no difficulty in procuring special terms of court so that Guilford and other counties with congested dockets could get relief in way. Besides, if this -little district were created so that the judge could hold extra terms, then it would deprive the other judges of compensation they would otherwise have for holding special terms.

Senstor Starbuck offered the suggestion that action on the bill be deferred until the House takes action on the Senate bill providing special compensation for the judges in holding special terms. The committee amendment was adopted and the bill went over for final reading. The Senate adjourned to 10 o'clock

Saturday morning. THE HOUSE. Speaker Graham called the House to order at 10:30 o'clock. There was prayer by Representative Latham, of Beaufort. On request of Mr. Koonce the bill to charter the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners was re-referred to the committee on counties, cities and towns in order that sMr. C. E. Poy, of Newbern, might have an opportunity to be heard on the merits of the bill, he being president of the association. The bill had been reported this morning unfavorably by the committee.

Mr. Hooker, for the committee on fish, reported the committee bill carrying amendments to the Vann act regulating fisheries. As usuai, a number of the counties actively engaged in commercial fishing are omitted from the operation of the bill, The bill by Representative Gavin to amend the delayed freight penalty law so that any person damaged by the delay may sue instead of this right being limited to the consignee, as at present, was reported favorably by judiciary committee No. 1, but Representative Hayes, of Chatham. lodged a motion that it be re-referred to the same committee for further investigation. Chairman Gavin, of the committee, opposed this on the ground that the bill has already had ample consideration, having been up Blow: Amend, alter and consolidate twice. Representative Bowie also spoke in opposition to re-reference. contending that the merits of the bill could now be aired on the floor. However, Mr. Hayes' motion to recommit the bill prevailed by a vote of 47 to 39.

At last, on motion of Mr. Doughton, further consideration of the bill went over until to-morrow. BUSINESS NAMES. Reading of Mr. Weaver's bill to regulate the use of business names brought Mr. Morton to his feet to ask an explanation. Mr. Weaver stated that the bill merely required that persons interested in a partnership, but who desired for some reason to conceal their identity from the public, must file their real names with the clerk of the court, at a cost of cents apiece. In order that any one wishing to sue such concern might know whom to sue, and also that persons desiring to enter into business relations might know with whom they were dealing. Mr. Koonce asked if it would apply to people doing business as "agent for somebody. In his county there was a man who had failed six times, always as agent for some man somewhere else, and they had both got something out of it each time. He favored the bill.

Mr. Weaver was not very sure on this point, but thought it would reach that class, as did Mr. Kitchin also. Mr. Morton declared we had the people mad already over this overregulation of their affairs. There were two or three thousand small hucksters in his county who had their firm names over their places of business, and this meant that whenever there was any change in their partnerships they would be guilty of misdemeanor if they failed to file the new names as soon as the change He sent forward an was made.
