SCHOOL BOARD IN SESSION.

Meeting Called to Order Last Night Near 9 O'Clock—Commencement Night Date Moved Up by One to the 18th of May.

Had not Commissioner T. T. Smith opened the door of the first floor council chamber of the city hall last night close to 9 o'clock and walked in, there would have been no record of an official school board meeting written in the books of the city clerk. Mindful of the fact that the first Tuesday in the month is the designated time for the monthly meeting a number of the members at 8 o'clock gathered themselves together (which does not mean that they were in fragments) and held council about the fireless grate. Eighty-three and no quorum. Eighty-three and the predicament was unrelieved. It was the history of the last meeting over again.

Meantime the city charter was being one moment torn to shreds and the next patched together again. The selection of a mayor and the improving of the streets and other things all handled in fashion fast and loose.

Over in the adjoining room where a red fire blazed, Prof. Alexander Graham held converse with a newspaper man, delivering a lecture on "United States History," a favorite theme of his. He had begun with George Washington and had come on down through the Presidents, illustrating the fight for the balance of power in the United States Senate and the introduction of Northern and Southern States into the Union and had reached the point where the North had secured a safe majority which gave it control of both houses and announced that it would pass any tariff law it wanted. Then came war. "So the tariff and no slavery," the educator was remarking sentimentally, "was the real cause of the war."

Just as he came the stentorian tones of Mr. R. K. Blair from the opposite room and announced that it would pass any tariff law it wanted. Then came war. "So the tariff and no slavery," the educator was remarking sentimentally, "was the real cause of the war."

There was a time when housekeepers felt it necessary to keep half a dozen different kinds of soap on hand.

But that was before Ivory Soap was made.

Such a thing is no longer necessary; or desirable.

For the bath, for the toilet, for fine laundry purposes, Ivory Soap answers every requirement.

AN ANTE-DAWN SHOOTING.

Hill Street Alley Furnishes Episode That Endangers the Life of a Negro Woman and the Liberty of a Negro Man.

A three-cornered row resulted yesterday morning at 1:30 o'clock in the serious shooting of Rebecca Duren, a negro woman, the sending of a load into the right arm of John Ludwick and the incarceration of the puller of the shotgun's trigger, Bob Reed, in the county jail.

The scene was an extension of South Graham street, known as Hill street alley and the shooting was done at the home of the Duren woman. Reed said he shot because they "guyed" him and he brought his single-barreled gun into play. Aiming at the woman he put into her body a load which, entering the left side, came out of the lower part of the stomach and entered the thigh. The injury is serious and may possibly prove fatal. She is at the Good Samaritan hospital, under the treatment of the county physician.

Ludwick went home but yesterday morning entered the hospital to have his wound treated also. Reed, as stated, is in jail.

The fact being mentioned that the Auditorium had been rented to the Radcliffe festival people for the nights of May 19th and 20th, whereas the white school commencement is to be held there on the 19th, it was voted to change the date to the 18th. The colored commencement is not changed.

Mr. Graham delivered a message from Miss Roberta Lord, who has been ill for about two months. In the effect that she will not be able to teach any more this year and she did not wish her half-salary to continue unless the board, in possession of the facts, wished it. The board expressed appreciation of her consideration and gave her leave of absence until next year, salary not to continue.

Mr. Dooley wanted to know if there wasn't some complaint about pupils wanting certificates on completion of the tenth grade. Nobody had heard of any and the superintendent thought that everybody knew now they couldn't get them.

A motion to adjourn had an easy time getting through. Following is the honor roll of those who came out: Commissioners W. H. Belk, M. M. Wallace, T. T. Smith, J. G. Baird, Jay Hirshinger, R. K. Blair, B. L. Kissiah, G. L. Dooley and D. L. Kistler.
