GASTONIA.

Correspondence of The Observer. Gastonia, March 11 .- One of the nost unique as well as beautiful entersinments of the social festivities took place Thursday at the home of Mrs. James H. Separk, at which the engagement and wedding dates of four of Gastonia's most prominent young cople were announced. The marriage f Miss Ethel Gray to Mr. Frederick D. Barkley, to take place on the 21st of April and that of Miss Maud Se park and Mr. William B. Morris on he 12th of May. The dining room, where the announcement was made was lavishly decorated with hearts. liere cupid, who had gotten in such good work and scored a double vic ory, had a prominent place in the fecorations. Festoons of red hearts draped the curtains and were used n profusion upon the lace table cover, ver which the light from red shaded andles cast their soft glow. After an elaborate salad course, followed by coffee, toasts, original, were drunk to the brides. As the friends linked arm r. arm, thus forming a magic chain, the loving cups was raised by Mrs. W. - Batthis, quoting that beautiful toast of Thomas Moore's. As the cup passed from hand to hand each with appropriate words responded.

As a souvenir of the occasion the hostess presented each bride-to-be with a beautiful gold heart studded with forget-me-hots, while to each guest was given two miniature picture frames in heart shapes, each containing a picture of the happy couples and each decorated with the flower chosen for the wedding-sweet peas for Miss Gray and pink roses for Miss Separk. The favored guests at this party were the members of the U. C. and Sans Souci Club, of which the brides-to-be are members, and those to take part

In her usual charming manner Mrs. 102 Frost Torrence entertained the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club

On Saturday evening Miss Mary Page most charmingly entertained the Sans Souci Club from 4 to 6 o'clock at her home on Marietta street. Quite a unique and original idea, suggestive of the approaching marriage of one of the club members, Miss Maud Separk, was carried out in the contest. The cards were bell shaped and on the fly leaves of these were a number of questions, all of which were relative to "our bride," and which were to be answered with the names of different members of the club. At intervals during the evening the guests were entertained with vocal selections by Miss Martha Moore and Miss Kathleen Boyce and with readings by Miss Eleanor Reid. Most delicious refresh-ments in three courses were served and the color scheme, green and white was beautifully carried out in these as in the decorations.

THOMASVILLE.

Correspondence of The Observer Thomasville, March 12.-The M." Club held its regular meeting Wednesday night with Miss Marjorie Snell, at her home on South street. The afternoon was delightfully spent with Tennyson. In an interesting manner Miss Dixle Hester told of the life of the great English poet, from early childhood to the grave. Miss Mayfield Cole, the club's favorite reader, gave real pleasure to each one present in her reading of "Enoch Arden." Sketches of shorter poems were given and discussed. The climax of the programme came in a most beautiful paper entitled. Tennyson as a Poet," by Miss Meta Liles, which, in her absence, was read by Miss Sadie Parham. At the close of the literary part of the afternoon, Miss Snell served a dainty course uncheon, after which the club adourned, having voted her a charming hostess.

One of the most charming and interesting meetings of the Ladies Tues-day Afternoon Book Club was held with Mrs. Archibald Johnson at her lovely home on "Skiles Heights" March 9th, 1909. Mrs. Jesse Armfield read a well-written paper on the Life and Criticisms of Robert Louis Stephenson," and Mrs. C. A. Pamplin read two choice selections from his

Miss Mary Johnson rendered one of her exquisite piano solos in her usual graceful style. The view of the little town from the front porch is indeed worth a walk up there, winter or summer.
