

Social and Personal

The beautiful home of Mrs. Eugene Kelley presented a patriotic scene yesterday afternoon at the organization of the Liberty Hall Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The colonial scheme of decoration in the most minute detail was very artistically carried out. Immediately in the center of the broad stairway was the insignia of the Daughters of the American Revolution, made of blue cardboard, bordered with gilt stars. Crowning the center was the portrait of Nehemiah Wyman, the ancestor of the charming hostess. The centuries were joined by a picture of President Taft. The dining room was draped in blue. On the table was a mound of similar ornaments with thirteen small flags representing the thirteen original States. Over the mound hung a liberty bell, whose clapper was an electric light, typifying light which America's independence gave to the world. Delicious refreshments were served from colonial hats, and each guest was given a souvenir, the picture of George Washington tied with the society colors.

Mrs. Kelley was ably assisted by her daughter, E. C. Shriver, and Misses Ruth and Laura Kelley. After the meeting was called to order the regent gave interesting facts in connection with the chapter. She said: It seems fitting that we should gather on this, the 13th day of March, to organize the Liberty Hall Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. In March, because of the constitution of the American Union, we were organized on March 13, 1789, so March is the time of the inception of the constitutional government of the American Union. It seems to portend good luck—our meeting on the 13th if we will recall how 13 is figured so largely in the history of our country. Thirteen States there are 13 letters in the name North Carolina. Liberty Hall Chapter is the thirteenth chapter organized in the State. The list of charter members was mailed to the 13th of December and was recognized by the board on the 13th of January. The appointment of your regent was confirmed on the 13th and on the 13th of February she received her certificate. Since the original list went to Washington two of our number have withdrawn—one on account of illness in the family and one because of her removal from the city. The first was the 13th on the list, so the first substitute, supplied on the 13th in number 12 and one member assures me that 13 is her lucky number, and we trust she will prove our mascot.

It would appear that there is really more history clinging about our Liberty Hall than we at first realized, for not only was it one of the first educational institutions in the South, but it was here that Major McClure drew his last breath in the same room where Ephraim Deane retired to draw up the Declaration of Independence. If there is anything in a name I am sure we have chosen wisely.

In order that each one may have a little token of the occasion I shall present each one with a leaf from one of the original shrubs grown by Washington at his home at Mount Vernon. It was presented to me in 1905 on a visit to that place during continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The plate is not only one hundred years old, being used at a dinner in Boston celebrating the two hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims and made in England for the occasion. A very historic gavel was presented by Mrs. C. C. Hook. The knocker was made from a piece of dogwood from Roanoke Island, given by Mrs. Rufus Harringer. The handle was cut from an oak tree growing on the ground where Liberty Hall stood. In presenting it to the chapter she told its history in a most charming manner. Mrs. C. B. Bryant received the gavel and responded in a few graceful and well chosen words. The first work of the chapter will be to put a marker on the historic spot where the Liberty Hall stood.

The following officers were elected: Regent, Mrs. Eugene Kelley; first vice regent, Mrs. C. W. Tillett; second vice regent, Mrs. Edwin Howard; registrar, Mrs. E. P. Tingley; historian, Mrs. C. C. Hook; recording secretary, Mrs. F. C. Abbott; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. B. Bryant; treasurer, Mrs. E. M. Bell. Directors—Mrs. C. G. McManaway, Mrs. Hugh Montgomery, Mrs. Annie Smith Ross.

Programme Committee—Mrs. B. P. Rucker, Mrs. W. W. Johnson, Mrs. Frank Garrett. Entertainment Committee—Mrs. R. J. Walker, Mrs. Frank McIninch, Mrs. T. T. Allison.

ALREADY SECURED $15,000. Rev. J. A. Baldwin Meeting With Marked Success in Raising Funds For the Southern Industrial Institute—$15,000 Already Pledged.

Rev. J. A. Baldwin, principal of the Southern Industrial Institute, has great plans in view for the institution of which he is the father and head, and is now engaged in raising $50,000 with which to more vigorously prosecute the work. He has already been assured of $15,000, of which $2,500 was subscribed by Mr. Thomas F. Parker, of Greenville, S. C., $2,500 by Mrs. Arthur A. Burt, of Philadelphia, Mar. Parker's aunt, and the remainder of the amount assured by other parties. This amount already secured, will go toward the erection of a commodious and suitable building. Work will commence just as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

The Southern Industrial Institute, formerly the Piedmont Industrial School, was begun by Mr. Baldwin in 1881, although a school building was not erected and school commenced until January 1894. Four years later, in January, 1903, the institution became the property of the industrial committee of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Baldwin being named as secretary in charge. With the transfer of the property the scope of the school was enlarged. Hence Mr. Baldwin's desire for additional funds. Mr. Baldwin anticipated no difficulty in securing the $50,000 which he has in mind.

The purposes of the school are: 1. Elementary and high school literary instruction. 2. Elementary instruction in the textile branches, agriculture and domestic science and economy. 3. Courses in the Bible, and the training of religious and social workers. 4. Music and aesthetic culture. 5. Social laboratory work, especially the working out of practical methods for helping industrial workers, more particularly those in cotton mill communities. 6. Furnishing work by which students may pay in whole or in part their expenses and thus doing work of school, making provisions for school and market, etc.

Mr. Caldwell's Condition. The Condition of Mr. Joseph P. Caldwell, who is at the Charlotte Sanatorium, was thought to be somewhat improved yesterday. He was resting easily at an early hour this morning.

Will Turn Pool Room Into Living Room. The Stonewall Hotel will to-morrow begin the work of increasing the number of its available rooms by discontinuing the pool room entirely. This space will be utilized for four more bed rooms. At an early date, to be decided on very soon, the building of another addition is expected to begin, utilizing part of the recently purchased property on the east of the present site.
