CARRIE M'NEELY JAILED

HAD SHE PART IN MURDER?

Charging Carrie McNeely With As-sisting in the Killing of Lena Tay-lor, Colored, at the Home of the Former Where She Lived on North College Street Late Sunday Night— Falls to Account For Two Hours of That Night to the Satisfaction of the Jury-No Clue to the Where-abouts of the Man.

Where was Carrie McNeely, or Mc-Neis, from 11:40 Sunday night until 1:46 Menday morning, a period of two hours—the period between her inferential arrival at her home on North College street and the first alarm she gave to the pélice, notify-ing them of the murdar of Lang Taying them of the murder of Lena Tay-lor, colored?

This is the burning question which she failed to answer to the satisfaction of an experienced coroner's jury whose verdict she was committed to jail by Coroner W. A. Gresham on the charge of being an accessor.

"The jury finds from such evidence as has been submitted to it that Lena Taylor came to her death as the result of a pistol shot wound inflicted by Gilbert Taylor, assisted by Carrie McNeely." This is the verdict returned after a hearing at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at No. 7 South Church street by the jury composed of Measts. C. B. Flournoy, W. I. Friday, J. S. Harkey, B. F. Powell, J. H. Orr and T. F. Gribble.

. There is a mystery about the mur-der of Lena Taylor which has not yet been cleared. The most damaging evidence tending to show that the McNeely woman at least knows much about the killing was that given by Eveline Moore, colored, who lives near by. The McNeely wo nan lives in the last house on the west on North College just where the connecting street swings north to the Seaboard station.

"I heard a pistol shot and a wom-an scream twice about haif-past eleven o'clock," said Eveline Moore. I walked to my window and pulled down the shade. Carrie McNeely's house was lighted in both rooms. Somebody was running about. Some seemed to run out the front door and seme behind. Then I saw Carrie Mc-Neely walking up and down with a lamp in her hand." She seemed to be scrubbing up the floor. Ten or fifteen minutes later the house was

About 1:30 Carrie McNeely gave the alarm. She went to her own door and called to Lena Taylor to open. Getting no response she got Laura Bennett from next door. They had to enter at the rear, the front door being Then the body was found in the closet. THE AFTERNOON FIGHT.

The McNeely female had been lockd up Sunday afternoon for a furious fight near her home with a woman whom she named at the hearing as Ida Knox. Policemen who went back that night to get the name of this person reported it as Ida Cowan. At any rate she escaped. When the officers went in the afternoon the woman now dead was in the house. So was a man, presumably Gilbert Taylor. His wife had not figured in the fight. Carrie's torn clothes and bloody waist were replaced with others and she was locked up, under the influence of whiskey and breathing out threatenings and slaughter against her an-tagonist who had said something derogatory to her personal honor, she said. She was released at a little after 7 o'clock

Here is the prisoner's tale: FOR SALE—A large store building within a few hundred feet of square. Address street, riding on a street car. She ped awhile at the home of a brother. As she was between Seventh and Eighth streets she heard the Seaboard train come in. This, it was established, arrived about 11:30. Hence she reached home in a few minutes.

The prisener says she left Gilbert Taylor at the house when she went to church. He and his wife were not quarreling. She told of a quarrel at the front gate they had three weeks ago yesterday, wherein jealousy figured, as it generally does in negroes' quarrels. She had accused him of unfaithfulness and threatened to "go back to Monree" He had said, "If you do, I'll kill you." This is the substance of her love tele

If Carrie McNeely heard the Sea-board train come in at 11:30, how was It that she was trying to enter her own home at 1:40? She said she fooled about. There is no clue to Taylor's whereabouts.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, God in His all-wise Providence has seen fit to remove from our midst by death our esteem-ed and beloved brother, J. B. Buford, be it resolved

First: That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him that doeth all things well, we feel that we have lost a worthy brother, and a useful and loyal member of our order.

Second: That we extend our most sincere and heartfelt sympathy to the family in this their sad bereavement. Third: That a copy of these resolu-tions be sent to the bereaved family. a copy distributed for publication and a copy entered on our minutes. pecial to The Observer. Clinton, March 29 .- The remains of Mrs. Anne Murphy, who died at the home of her son, James T. Murphy, in Washington, D. C., on Saturday night, arrived here this morning and were interred in Clinton Cemetery beside the remains of her husband, the late Dr. Cornelius Tate Murphy, in his time a leading citizen and popular physician of Sampson county. The funeral services were con-ducted at the Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was for years faithful member. An only son. James T. Murphy, in the government service at Washington, survives. He accompanied the remains to Clinton which was Mrs. Murphy's home during the active years of her life.

Mrs. Murphy built and for many rears conducted the Murphy House. Perhaps the most marked trait of her character was her faith and enduring friendship for those whom she chose as her friends. At the age of 74 years she entered into rest.

TIM MURPHY.

"Old Innocence," the charming comedy to be presented by Tim Mur-phy at the Academy of Music Thursiay night, is a humorous -but conlusive argument that our happiness lies within us. The world ds rosecolored or gray according to the way we look at it. Some of us spend our bly in a restless, seeiing, searching striving for aning that lies within us, that is always within our reach. but a thing that must be grasped tothe-wisp" ever on ahead, bright, alluring, unattainable. "Old Inno-cence," with a smile and a jest shows us how to be happy in spite of our troubles, teaches us to love and give while our dear ones are still with us and to close our eyes to doubt and uspicion, for the serpent, "jealousy," lestroys the most perfect Eden. Seats will be placed on sale at Hawy's this morning.

Fine Show at the Alamo.

The show at the Alamo is particularly strong this week and con-vulsed four packed houses last night. The feature bill, Cliff Dean & Co. is the cleanest and most laughable comedy that has graced the Alamosince its opening. "Marriage Life" is the subject of the farce, and is the subject of the farce, and though slightly overdrawn to the ertent that the gervant in the act his almost too much to do with the family affairs it portrays a picture that doubtless takes place in many a home. Herbert Swift, the ministell completes the bill, his cornet work. especialy an imitation of Lew Dockstader's band coming down the street being his best effort.
