The Musicians are playing on a higher key.

We take no part in the advocacy of a player-manager.

Nothing can exceed Redfern's liberality in the fourth.

The cellar is a mighty good place for the other fellows.

The Musicians will go over to entertain the Twins to-day.

Dingle was one of the most musical of the troupe yesterday.

The team is not going at its best gait, neither is it playing up to its possibilities.

Charlotte not only took a southerly course, geographically, this week, but percentagically as well.

Bobbles in the infield: bobbles in the outfield: bobbles all around us, is the cause of the downfall.

Everything around us is subject to the mutations of time. The percentage column is not immune.

Charlotte missed getting Springs by a hair'sbreadth and it missed a good deal of life and rejuvenation.

One of the weaknesses of the week is traceable to the pitching staff which has been decidedly off color.

The account of the thing reads something like Dante's "Inferno" at places and "Paradise Lost" in others.

The kindness of Redfern in the fifth inning is deserving of universal appreclation at the hands of local fandom.

There is some justifiable knocking, but in most instances, knockers are the most inconsistent people on earth.

THE WOMAN IN BLACK.

Who Should and Who Should Not Aspire to That Role.

New York Sun,

There are many women who swear by black as smart wear of a class apart, who are never without a black day gown or evening gown in their wardrobes, who always possess a black hat, who know the charm of floating black feathers, vells, and scarfs, touches of black velvet or tulle, the allure of black fox and Persian lamb, the quaintness of black enamel, jet and black pearls. Black can be the smartest of the smart, the dowdlest of the dowdy; black can be startlingly unexpected and the most obvious wear in the world, (Umbrelias and galoahes are black!) Black can be wickedness incarnate, elusively and obviously; black can be good unendurably good; but, above all things and beyond all virtues, black can be ladylike.

There are women who look their best in black for that reason; they look gentlewomen when they wear it. and not otherwise. I am always a little bit mistrustful of the type that looks its best when in sable array." says a writer in The Queen. "It suggests an uncomfortable reason for its not looking so nice in anything else. "Mind, I am not for one moment denying that black is enormously becoming-to those it becomes. I do not think black suits women who are character of appearance, women whom you are apt to overlook in black, whose coloring errs on the side often may be read curves-to whom in the time limit set. nature has been a triffe parsimonious perhaps women who are fading or who have never been anything but faded, boiled in soda women, women with weak tea in their veins, women rose, carnation sisters 'dairymaids' Mr. Hewlett frankly calls 'disastrous to mankind."

The most serious feature to the whole thing lies in the fact that the last chopping time is approaching with swift pace.

When the dopester on The Greenvills News gets though punning the team this week, the boys will not be recognized.

This may be pertinent: Are you all in the salary limits? Speak up in order that we may get through with the business.

There is always a thing or two to be thankful for. For instance, this, players had three men on bases in the that the percentage column is not a bottomless affair.

R.H.E Redfern's greatest reputation came through his woole-hearted hospitality in handing over games to his op-

> The new instrument which Man ager Beusse placed in the left border appears to have awakened the entire aggregation lown the line.

The team which the management had in mind before the season opened is not the team that is now playing under the name of Hornets.

Entirely too many errors were made in the Spartanburg series and entirely too few earned runs. The team is a million miles from its original gait.

An inadvertent mistake in the percentage column in this paper has furnished the only material which has come to the mind of The Winston Journal dopester for several days.

If the management of the local club wants a manager that can attend to his duties from the bench, it's strictly up to it and not to the fans. There are plenty of successful bench managers.

The Spartanburg Herald is good enough to say this about some membera of the team:

"For Charlotte, Brazelle, Shumaker and Brennen were the constellation. Their work was classy. Shumaker, at first, played a great game and so did Brennen. Shortstop. Linneborn and Baird at third made costly errors, which lost the game for their team. Catcher Warner, of the Hornets, is a wonder. He is a left-hander and if you don't think he can peg swift and sure just essay to steal seconds. He throws them like a shot out of a cannon's mouth. He threw Rickard out at first like a flash of lightning. Moreland in left and Sharp in centre were fast on their feet.

During the season of 1900 he played with the South Bend (Ind.) Greens, an independent team. In 1901 he was a member of the Fort Wayne Western Association team, and he participated in forty-four championship games as a pitcher, winning twenty-two. That fail he signed with both the Detroit and Brookiyn clubs of the rival major leagues, but finally, after much pulling and hauling, landed with Detroit. No pitcher in the business has a wider curve than Mullin, and few have better judgment and control. He has vne speed, fields his position well and is the heaviest hitting pitcher in the country. Detroit regularly uses him for a pinch
