BRIEFS.

A Few Minor Happenings in and About the City. -The Stonewall Hotel, in addition to its European service, is now serv ing meals on the American plan, charging 50 cents each for breakfast and lunch and 75 cents for dinner.

-Mrs. Charles Henderson, of No. 228 North College street, underwent New York, of the a very serious operation at noon yes terday at the Presbyterian Hospital. Tidings from her bedside are awaited with concern by many friends.

-The many friends of 'Squire D. A. Barkley, who is night watchman at The Observer office, will regret to hal where she has know that he is quite sick at his home on North Brevard street extension and it is feared he has typhoid fever.

> -The appearance of the front of the new home of the American Trust Company is fast assuming elegant proportions. The six grantte columns are in place. The building when finished will be one of the handsomest in the South.

-The meeting of the executive board of the city of Charlotte will be or returned yes- held at the city hall to-night. The Poughkeepsle, prime purpose of the meeting is to consider the charges of ill treatment office Miss Oli-ent at Vassar for Chief of Police T. M. Christenbury by the attorneys of Jess Thompson. -Within the next 10 days County Superintendent of Education R. J. Cochran, expects to have the entire faculty of all of, the leading high schools o fthe county filled. These to-day are the schools are at Huntersville, Davidson, he given this Mint Hill, Matthews, Pineville, Steels Creek and Providence.

> To Again Practice Denistry. Dr. J. M. Ayer, formerly of Releigh, but who has been making his home for the past seven years in New York, is spending a week or two in the city with Dr. C. L. Alexander. Dr. Ayer was for a number of years one of Raleigh's leading dentists. After going to New York he engaged in the cotton business and during his years there was successful on the cotton exchange. However, he has decided to return to the practice of denistry, and will locate in New York. Under Dr. Alexander he is taking a post-gradu-ate course in his life work and within a short tme will return to his adopted
