Mr. James F. Jordan, who last week closed an option he held on the Benbow Hotel real estate and other valuable property owned by Mr. Charles D. Benbow on the west side of South Elm street, this afternoon made the last trade that marks the passing of the ownership of $135,800 of the best property in the heart of the business district of the city. This is the biggest real estate deal ever made in Greensboro at one time and has given a decided impetus to realty transactions here. The North Caroina Public Service Company takes West Sycamore and South Elm. street corner of the five-story section of the Benbow Hotel, with a frontage of 25 feet on South Elm street. remaining 45 feet of the five-story section of the building goes to ex-Judge Spencer B. Adams and Mr. W. R. Land. Mrs. Virginia L. Harrison buys the property occupied by Wills' book store and Mr. J. B. Harrison gets the store occupied by A. D. Jones & Co. The adjoining property on the south, occupied by Kendall & Pisher and Wharton Bros., with a frontage of 48 feet, is purchased by Mr. J. T. Pruden. The store of Ellis. feet, is purchased by Mr. D. C. Waddell. Jr., of Asheville.

The total purchase price is about $135,000, or over $700 per front foot. Ex-Sheriff Jordan announced this atternoon that the remainder of the Benbow property on that side of the street, with a frontage of 80 feet, had been withdrawn from the market for lavior and remainthe present.

In compliance with the terms the sale, the Benbow Hotel was closed to-night and the property formally transferred to the new owners. It is inderstood that the North Carolina Public Service Company will utilize its portion of the property for offices and display rooms. The closing of the Benbow is an event of more than ordinary interest in Greensboro. The original hotel of hat name was opened by the late Dr. D. W. C. Benbow, father of Charles D. Benbow, nearly forty years ago, the first guest to register being late Senator Zebulon B. Vance. Mr. Charles D. Benbow grew up in hotel business, and upon the death of his father became proprietor of the new Benbow Hotel.
