ecdings of the House of Representatives a Secret Session on the Military Bill. terday the injunction of secrecy on the milioill in the House of Representatives was disd, and the bill, as amended, returned to the proceedings in secret session: first section of the bill was amended by reg the maximum of the military age from fifty-"forty-five;" requiring that such persons be in the military service for the war, " in the e following substitute for section two, offered

r. Chilton, of Alabama, was adopted: all duties as provost and hospital guards, and or as clerks, guards, assistants, employees ourers, in the commissary and quartermaster rtments, in the ordnance and medical bureaus, n the execution of the enrollment acts, and all ar duties, shall hereafter be performed by perwho have been disabled from active service in eld, and who, by a board of surgeons, shall been reported fit for these duties; and when shall have been exhausted the President shall apon the Governors of the several States for quotas of persons required to make up the per needed for the performance of the above ioned duties, which quotas shall be taken from ons not liable to military service in the army of onfederate States."

the fourth section, among the list of exempts, ncluded, by amendment offered by Mr. Simpof South-Carolina, officers "Executive and cial of the Confederate and State governments, pt such State officers as the several States may declared, or may hereafter declare, by law, to able to military duty."

amendment with reference to the exemption e press, offered by a Mr. Funsten of Virginia, adopted. It extends the exemption of one r, formerly limited to newspapers published on 0th of April, 1862, to those published "prior at date and since the beginning of the war"; editor "to be a practical printer.

motion of Mr. Smith, of North-Carolina, the wing was added to the list of exempts: "the ic printer and those employed to perform the ic printing for the Confederate and State gocontrast with its illiberality to the press we the following amendment, engineered by Mr. ombe, of Virginia, and a professor in the Unity of Virginia, extending exemption to a new viz: "all presidents and teachers of colleges emies, and theological seminaries, who have regularly engaged as such for two years pres to the passage of this act : Provided that the fit of this exemption shall extend to those hers only whose schools are composed of twenty hysicians over the age of thirty-five years are npted, "not including dentists." n motion of Mr. Smith, of North-Carolina, the wing was inserted: And for necessary subsistence there shall be also apt one white man, the head of a family of t or more white persons who are dependent on abour for support. he following was inserted in the exemption se on metion of Mr. Miles, of South-Carolina: The President, treasurer, auditor and superin-ent of any railroad company, over whose railmilitary transportation is performed, and such ers and employees of such company as the ident or superintendent of such railroad comy shall certify, on oath to be necessary to the ient operation of such railroad: Provided that number of persons so exempt by this act on railroad shall not exceed one for each mile of railroad in actual use for military transportaand shall be reported by name and descripwith the names of any who may leave the emment of the said company or may cease to be ssary to the efficient operation of the railroad, ast once a month, to the Secretary of War, or officers as he may designate for that purpose; stendent shall, in each such monthly report fy, on oath, that no person liable to military ce has been employed by this company since passage of this act, in any position in which it practicable to employ one not liable to militarvice, and capable of performing efficiently the es of such position." motion of Mr. Hartridge, of Georgia, the

And be it further enacted. That there shall be opted from military service, under the proviof this act, the white officers of any fire com-, organized and in existence in any city of the ederate States on the 1st day of January, 1864, composed of free persons of colour and slaves: ided, that not more than three officers shall be apted for each company: and Provided furthat the persons claiming this exemption were ers of such companies on the said 1st day of ary, 1864."

ne following was stricken out from the original That the President be, and he is hereby author-to grant details, under general rules and reguns to be issued from the War Deparment, ei from persons between forty-five and fifty-five s of sge, or from the army in the field, in all s where, in his judgement, justice, equity and ssity require that he should make such details, he may revoke such order of details whenever pay think proper." nd, in lieu of the above, the following, offered

Mr. Pugh, of Alabama, was adopted: In addition to the foregoing exemptions, the etary of War, under the direction of the Presishall exempt or detail such other persons as may be satisfied ought to be, exempted on acat of public necessity; and to insure the produc of grain and provisions for the army and nonlucers, he shall grant exemptions or details, on n terms as he may prescribe, to such overseers, ners or planters as he may be satisfied will be e useful to the country in the pursuits of agriare than in the military service: Provided exemptions shall cease whenever the farmer, ter or overseer shall fail diligently to employ, ood faith, his own skill, capital and labour, exively, in the production of grain and provisions, e sold to the Government and non-producers at es not exceeding those fixed at the time for like cles by appraiser of the vicinage under the aurity of the law imposing the tax in kind, or the

o dearer legacy could be left to a son of the North State, than the proud title of being a North-Carolinian. Modest and unassuming does not force herself upon the notice of the ld at large-conscious of doing her duty, she ands no extravagant adulation for its performe; unassuming and retiring, she parades not heroic deeds of her brave sons upon the many dy fields, made famous by the daring of her ted dead, or her honored living. Before the e of an envious sisterhood, she stands to-day corner stone of the fabric, the keystone of the Well may North Carolinians be proud to n her as their mother. .

very acre of Virginia soil, upon which has been ht a battle, has been consecrated by the blood North-Carolina's gallant sons. She has conuted her treasure and her blood unsparingly his cause, not so much to shield herself, as to ect her sister States from foreign hordes; for th Carolina moved not, until forced to take up sword against or for her Southern sisters. Yet th Carolina has had the finger of suspicion ted at her; she has been treated as unworthy the trust of sister Status; she has been denced as disloyal and unsound, and that, too, by es a portion of whose sons have proved recreto the trust reposed in them by her.

his treatment has caused disaffection in the e; jealous of her reputation, her sons have felt red at the treatment she has received-and bese of this jealousy, she is suspected of disloyal-This suspicion is false; and unworthy of our d old State. She is loy al to the core—true as to the cause, but sensitively jealous of her ts, which it is her intention to guard against and every authority that may be usurped for r destruction.—Fayette ville North Carolinian.

THE MEETING AT GREENSBOROUGH.

MR. EDITOR:-From what source does the Fayetteville Observer derive its information? And does it not misrepresent facts? I see in its issue of the 8th inst, it professes to be informed that the Con-servative meeting held in Greensboro on the 30th of January last, amounted to nothing, because the crowd cheered, hissed, screamed and applauded in such a manner that every effort to be heard or to organize was utterly in vain. The resolutions could not be read, and the attempt lasted but half an hour. Does not the Observer know better than this? If it really has been so imformed, we would advise it to change its reporters. But we really believe the Observer knows better. It cannot fail to have seen the statement made by the Chairman, J. A. Long, Esq., a man noted for his honesty and hatred of anything like deception or misrepresentation. I was present at the meeting which was composed of the most wealthy and respectable citizens of the county, to the number of twelve or fifteen hundred. The meeting was called to order, organized, a committee appointed to draft resolutions which were produced and read to the meeting by Robt. P. Dick, Esq. The meeting, all this while, maintaining the best order, not the least noise or confusion in all this large assembly. After Mr. Dick commenced commenting on the resolutions a few boys took a position in the gallery and made quite a noise, very much to the annoyance of the meeting, and to the shame and disgrace of the boys, and the great sorrow of their parents.

Can it be possible, some of the leading men in Greensboro' who were opposed to the meeting, seeing the large and respectable portion of the citizens of the county assembling themselves there and knowing their sentiments to be in favor of the meeting, suddenly became alarmed for their own popularity, and encouraged the boys in this disgraceful conduct, that the Conservative speakers should not be heard? We hope not-but fear it is so.

The time consumed in transacting the business including speaking, was at least two hours instead of half an hour, as reported by the Observer's informant. If the Observer does not change its reporters or they give him more correct information of events, I fear he will not, much longer, have room to boast of his subscription list. In fact, we fear it is largely on the decline already. We speak from our own knowledge of the subscription; at one post office in this county where the Observer, before it turned Destructive, used to lead the subscription list, now it has five subscribers while the Standard has fifty-six, and we suppose this is in proportion to the other offices throughout the

before the public, but when I see things misrepresented to answer political purposes, I cannot refrain from correcting them as far as is in my power.-When the Observer went with the people, I was its strongest advocate, and never turned my back upon it till it deserted its best friends in the hour of danger; but I hope the Observer will yet, before it be too late, see the error of its way and return to the people, when the fatted calf shall be killed and there shall be great rejoicing throughout the land.

DUDLEY DEPOT, N. C., Feb. 8, 1864. MR. EDITOR:-It has been understood that Giles Kornegay, of Bentonsville, Johnston county, was killed in a skirmish with the enemy on the 23d of July last, but it turns out not to be true. I have this day had the pleasure of reading a letter from him. He is a prisoner of war, and he heads his letter: Confederate Prison, Camp Mead. He writes that he is well and has been ever since he has been

MR. HOLDEN:-Please do me the favor to acknowledge through your paper the receipt of $20 from the Progress office, and $500 from Mr. P. F. Pescud, which was contributed from citizens of Raleigh, to relieve the distress which was occasioned by the loss of my house by fire. No language I can command can adequately express my gratitude for this kindness. I can only hope that I may continue to conduct myself in such a manner as shall secure me the friendship and confidence of our citizens generally. Raleigh, Feb. 12, 1864.

To the Clergy and Laity Of the Diocese of Charleston :-The trying circumstances in which our county is still placed require this year a continuance of the modifications of the Discipline of the Church, as to the observance of Lent, which were published last In her power of weighing well such ever varying circumstances, and of prudently adapting her discipline in this, and in other matters where change is allowable, to the varying strength of her childrenin her wonderful power of freely and fully doing this without changing any of the principles, or in-fringing any of the truths which she received from her Divine Founder, and which it is her mission to preach to every creature, the Church gives evidence alike of her Oneness and immutability, as the "pillar and ground of truth," which is ever one and the same, and of that Catholicity by which, having been established for every age and nation, she is, in the words of the Apostle, "all things to all men;" and there can arise no condition of society in which the necessities of her children are unknown to her, or beyond her maternal solicitude.

was entirely forbidden, and every day Sundays excepted, was a fast day on one meal, generally to be taken only after sunset. The Church, acting on the principle already stated, has variously modified these regulations of her Discipline; and in this Diocese we feel that the necessities and the difficulty or obtaining such articles of food as are ordinarily desired in Lent, call for a special mitigation.

THE LITTLE ONES.—Do you think how much a child does in a day? How from sunrise to sunset, the dear little feet patter around, to us, so nimbly. Climbing here, kneeling down there, running to another place, but never still. Twisting and turning, rolling and searching and doubling, as if testing every bone and muscle for future uses. It is very ourious to watch it. One who does so may well anderstand the deep breathing of the rosy little sleeper, as with one arm tossed over its curly head, it prepares for the next day's gymnastics. Tireless through the day till that time comes, as the maternal love that so patiently accommodates itself. hour after hour, to its thousand wants and caprices, January 25, 1864.
