Glen Alpine Springs Property Converted Into a Church School.

The Glen Alpine Springs Hotel a 50-room 3 story building and 300 acres of land adjoning on the South Mountain section of this county, has been purchased as a Presbyterian mission school. The property belonged to Col. John S Armstrong, president of the Atlantic National Bank, of Wilmington, and the purchase price was $3,000. The hotel building alone cost over $20,000 when built. The property is deeded to a corporation called the "Glen Alpine Springs School,"and Rev. Dalzell Schoonmaker, of Plainfield, N. J., is the superintendent. A successful mission school is already in operation there. The work was begun by Mrs. Margaret G. Grant, of Sum mit, N. J., who has resigned on account of ill health, leaving the
