Death of Miss Annie Belle Hallyburton.

Miss Annie Belle Hallyburton, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hallyburton, died at the home of her parents, in Morganton, Monday night at 9 o'clock, after an illness of several months. Although the end had been expected for some time, her death was a great shock to the family and friends of the deceased.

Miss Annie Belle, just blooming into young womanhood, was a favorite with all who knew her, and her death is a peculiarly sad one.

The fond parents and brothers and sisters have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their bereavement.

The funeral was held from the residence at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the body of the young lady was tenderly laid to rest in Forest Hill Cemetery, deceased's pastor, Rev. R. D. Sherrill, of the Morganton Methodist church, conducting the services.

Tate-Moore.

On October the 12th, inst. at 8 p. m., the large hall and spacious parlors of Thomas P. Moore, of Yorkville, S. C., presented a rich and beautiful scene.

The color scheme was white and gold, with white chrysanthemums and golden red everywhere in artistic profusion. The occasion was the marriage of two popular young Morganton people, Bessie Neely Moore and H. Wilson Tate. Little Corinne Moore, May Speck, Margaret Moore and Frederica Lindsey improvised an aisle of white ribbons through the hall and to the bridal altar in the front parlor. The altar was surrounded by a bower of green palms, while in front of it was an arch of exquisite white roses, from which was suspended a large bell of white chrysanthemums.

The bridal party marched to the altar in the following order: Clergyman, groom and best man, Frank P. Tate, his brother, the bride leaning on the arm of her father, Thomas P. Moore, Miss Jessamine Grant, of Burlington, N. C., with Paul Moore, of Yorkville, Miss Ira Withers, of Yorkville, and J. E. Erwin, of Morganton.

Miss Joan Coleman with Louis McKesson, Mrs. Albert Hobbie, of Augusta, Me., was dame of honor and Miss Adelle Moore, sister of the bride, maid of honor. The Rev. Walter Hughson, dean of the Missionary District of Asheville, performed the ceremony according to the beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church, and the wedding march by Mendelssohn was never more richly rendered than by Mrs. Marie Moore. During the ceremony "Hearts and Flowers" in special sweetness proclaimed that an artist was touching the keys.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chene with pearl trimmings, veil, wreath of orange blossoms and carried bride's roses, and from her shapely throat shone a beautiful brooch of pearls, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids carried white carnations and wore exquisite gowns of white silk.

Punch, and such a punch, a decoration of the gods, was served in the parlors by Mrs. Lindsey and Mrs. Moffett. After the ceremony a delicious three course luncheon was served in the richly decorated parlors.

An unusually large and beautiful collection of presents attested the popularity of the couple, who left on the 10 a. m. train for their home in Florida, where Mr. Tate is engaged in business.

The bride and groom are very dear to many people in Burke, where they were born and raised. Both came from a line of prominent men and cultured women and both hold in pride the memory of a most worthy ancestry. Bessie Moore was one of the handsomest and loveliest of a race of glorious women for which Morganton has long been noted, and Wilson Tate, in push and character, gives promise of a worthy scion of his distinguished father, Col. S. McD. Tate.

May that beautiful, happy bridal scene be a prophecy of the coming year.

Death of Mr. Mack Giles.

Mr. Mack Giles, after a lingering illness from consumption, died at his home at Glen Alpine last Friday afternoon, and was buried in the Methodist churchyard at that place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock with the honors of the Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias, of which orders deceased was a valued member. Rev. W. G. Mallonee conducted the services in the church.

Mr. Giles was one of the most popular young men of Burke, of high character and sterling worth, and the announcement of his death caused deep sorrow in the hearts of all who knew him. And his passing away is made doubly sad from the fact that his young wife is extremely ill with fever. Besides the wife, who is a daughter of Mr. James Simpson, four small children survive.

The sincere sympathy of the people go out to the family in their sorrow and affliction.
