Robert Lansing Succeeds Bryan

Counsellor Who Has Advised the President in Many .Crises Is Offered Portfolio of Secretary of State and Accepts Position.

Washington Dispatch, 23rd.

Robert Lansing, who, as counsellor of the state department, has advised President Wilson in law and precedent in the policy pursued by the United States toward belligerent goernments since the outbreak of the European war, was named to-day secretary of state to succeed William Jennings Bryan.

Few appointments in recent years third week and with an attendance have given such widespread satisfaction in the national capital. Mr. Lansing is a life-long democrat, but he has devoted his time to internatonal law and dplomacy and is as popular with former republican officials as with his colleagues. Members of the cabinet and close personal friends of the president advised the selection, and Mr. Bryan himself, although not consulted, is understood to have hoped for the promotion of Mr. Lansing.

Official announcement of the selection of Mr. Lansing, who has been serving as secretary ad interim since he resignation of Mr. Bryan on June 8, was made in the following state-

One of the peculiar circumstances in connection with Mr. Lansing's appointment is the fact that he personally has no political backing or influence. Succeeding William Jennings Bryan, foremost among leaders of the democratic party, a comparatively unknown quantity in the political world has been ushered into the premiership of the cabinet.

This very fact commended itself to the president's advisers as a reason for the appointment of a man of Mr. Lansing's experience and ability, the argument being advanced that at so critical a time in the nation's history, the people of the United States wished all political consideration subordinated.
