

COX'S OWN NEWSPAPER ON HIS NOMINATION

Tribute of the Editor of The Dayton News to Its Owner and Editor.

Dayton Daily News.
It is hardly necessary to say that the news of the nomination of Governor James M. Cox for President of the United States, by the Democratic party in national convention at San Francisco, furnishes the theme for unalloyed happiness at The News office. Those of us who have been his associates in the conduct of this paper have been talking about this thing for a long time. We rather expected it, in fact. It is most gratifying to think that the great victory has come. Life is ever so much sweeter to every one, from press-room to the roof.

The employees of The News are conscious of a great distinction coming not only to the newspaper itself and its publisher, but to the city of Dayton, the State of Ohio and the nation as well. It becomes rather difficult to collect one's thoughts under the circumstances of the moment. We want to congratulate the "Chief" because we believe he deserved to win. It was written in the stars that this greatest honor should come to him. His record as Governor of Ohio, as representative from the historic Third Ohio district, and as private citizen in Dayton is brilliant. No man who endeavors first to be of service to his fellows can be denied a place in the world. The universe admires a man who sticks everlastingly at it until the principles he favors are triumphant.

Governor Cox is a man of principle. He always has been. Whether it is in the newspaper office, or in the governor's chair, the "Chief" always has been the same. When he decides that a thing must be done for the good of every one, he makes up his mind that he will fight it out on that line if it takes all summer and winter.

It is not necessary to review his official life. This record is illuminated by achievements quite beyond the limits of the space at our command at this instant. He is progressive in every meaning of this world. He is intensely human. He loves his fellow-men and he takes pride in helping them. We like to think of him at this moment as the man who started in life as a farmer's boy. The opportunities of primitive farm life were too limited to hold a man of his striking abilities and ambitions. He worked as a reporter, then went to Washington as Congressman Sorg's secretary, then bought the Dayton News and later The Springfield News. Then he went to Congress and was re-elected. A jump to the governor's office followed and then two more terms, a record of no mean consequence in Ohio. What he did in the way of initiating and pressing high-minded legislation for the citizenship of his home State now is history; eternally written in the hearts and minds of his fellow-citizens.

We'd like to say to him today, "Congratulations, Jim," but he's the Chief around here, and we don't call him "Jim" to his face. But we cannot help, one and all, from the news-boy on the streets to the men who are associated with him in the conduct of the paper, saying, "Congratulations, Governor, God bless you. You'll make a great President and we're for you from now on just as we have been in the other years when the game sometimes went hard against us."

And we extend to Mrs. Cox and the members of the Governor's family the same hearty felicitations. Dayton, we know, is proud of this new distinction. We know Ohio is. When everybody in the United States knows as much about Governor James M. Cox as those who know him best, and appreciate his thorough honesty and his purpose in public life, we seem to catch a vision of the White House, with the "Chief" there. There has come to all of us a vision of universal affection for the man of the same variety as that which his newspaper associates in Dayton always have held.

GOOD ROADS MASS MEETING

Governor Bickett designates Tuesday, August 10th, for convening extra session of the legislature. Will you kindly announce through your paper that the good roads advocates of the State, backed by various business, commercial, social and professional organizations and citizens interested in this great cause will assemble in mass meeting Tuesday evening in auditorium, Raleigh, N. C., for convention. Will have speakers, both State and national reputation. gubernatorial nominees of both parties, and former presidential Democratic nominee. This is to be a citizens' convention in the interest of good roads for the entire State. Will send you official program later. Every voter of the State invited and urged to attend.
T. L. KIRKPATRICK,
Chmn. Commit. Arrangements.

COULTER-POWELL

A wedding of much interest to many friends in this county and elsewhere was that of Miss Annie Powell and Mr. A. A. Coulter, which took place at the home of Rev. W. H. Barrs, of Drexel, on July 7th, at 3:30 o'clock. Only a few friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. H. Barrs. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. S. J. Powell of Valdese. She is a woman of noble character and loved by all who know her. The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Coulter, of Connelly Springs, and for several years has been in Peru and other southern countries. They will be with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Coulter for a few days, after which they will leave for Florida. Their many friends wish for them a life of happiness and prosperity.

MINE OWNER WAS FORCED TO QUIT

Moves to Coast Seeking Health—Takes Tanlac and Will Return Home a Well Man.

"I was forced to give up my mining business and move to Los Angeles seeking health, but thanks to Tanlac I am going back a well man," said William H. Hart, who owns the Vindicator-Divido mine in Tonopah, Nevada.

"For nine years," he continued, "I suffered terribly from indigestion, my appetite was poor and everything I ate would cause so much gas in my stomach that I would be drawn almost double with pain. I got so nervous I couldn't write a letter and even the wind blowing around the house at night would upset me so I couldn't sleep. I lost forty pounds in weight and finally had such bad attacks that I couldn't stay on the job another day. I just gave up and came out here, but the change, like all the treatments I had taken, seemed to do me no good at all."

"One day a friend recommended Tanlac to me and I will never be able to thank him enough, for now after taking four bottles I feel like a new man. I eat three hearty meals a day, my nerves are as steady as a rock, I sleep like a child at night and I am going back to my mines feeling fit and fine in every way. I am glad to have a chance to tell other people what a great medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac is sold in Morganton by Davis Drug Co., and in Drexel Store Co.

ROAD NEGLECT

To the Editor of The News-Herald:
For one, I am grateful to you for calling attention to the dangerous hill at Dale's store. Just why that short link of road has never been topped and made reasonably passable, is one of the seven wonders of the world. After an ordinary shower it becomes very dangerous even for carriages and impossible for automobiles.

I hope you will publish in an early issue the names of the township commission so that we may appeal to them directly in cases of such character. Surely the taxpayers have a right to better roads than now obtain. Let the gentlemen of this commission speak up and tell us why this sorry condition of our roads exists. We are not anxious to criticize our public servants. What we are anxious for is better roads, where and when it is reasonable to expect them. We must put an end somehow to this criminal neglect in our highway system.
