CHURCH CELEBRATES HUNDRETH BIRTHDAY

The First Presbyterian church of Salisbury on last Thursday celebrated its one hundredth anniversary. A dispatch dated August 4th, says:

Pausing for a while today the members of First Presbyterian church looked back over a century of existence as a local congregation and talked about the changes that had taken place and the future that the church faces.

Beginning one hundred years ago today with 13 members the Salisbury congregation has kept pace with the community and has always been a power for righteousness. In celebration of their centennial the Presbyterians were joined in an all-day program by former members of the church and by friends from the city and county. Not all of the talking was by speakers in set speeches. There was time for social chats, and the picnic dinner on the lawn furnished time and occasion for pleasant social discourse.

The principal speaker was Dr. Walter Lingle, of the Union Theological seminary, Richmond, Va., and he spoke on "Presbyterianism," covering the origin, history and meaning of the name, and the history of the people in a general way from the time of Calvin and Knox to the present.

The day's services were ushered in with devotional exercises, presided over by J. E. Ramsey, chairman of the centennial celebration. Besides Dr. Lingle a number of others made short talks appropriate to the occasion.

Fordson TRACTOR

Henry Ford Was Right When He Said:
'The Tractor will enable the farmer to work fewer hours in the day, giving him more time to enjoy life. I believe the tractor will make farming what it ought to be—the most pleasant, the most healthful, the most profitable business on earth.'

This tractor has done much—very much—in bringing true Mr. Ford's prophecy; for in it is a machine which has harnessed one of the most dependable, efficient, adaptable, economical sources of power in the world—a machine that saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time — a machine which many farmers claim plows, harrows or drills as much ground in the same time as four, six or even eight horses. And more—a machine that takes care of every power job on the farm.

Call and let's talk it over, or telephone or drop us a card and we will bring the facts to you.
