ANDERSON-McCAMPBELL

Mr. J. L. Anderson Weds Miss Anna McCampbell of Baltimore

A wedding of much interest in Morganton took place November 1st in Charlottesville, Va., when Miss Anna McCampbell became the bride of Mr. J. L. Anderson, of Morganton. Rev. W. W. Carter, of the Christian church, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left immediately after the ceremony for Lexington, N. C., where they visited Mr. Anderson's daughter, Mrs. E. C. Denton, coming to Morganton Wednesday.

Before her marriage Mrs. Anderson was matron of the Samuel Ready Institution in Baltimore and is a bright and capable young woman.

Mr. Anderson is one of Morganton's most progressive business men. He is owner and proprietor of the Burkemont Hotel, where they will make their home.

GRACE HOSPITAL

Grace Hospital has been, since its establishment a blessing and a benediction to Burke county. The need for such an institution has long been urgent; but it remained for Mr. and Mrs. Hughson to answer the call of suffering humanity, to plan the work, to raise the money and, with unfaltering zeal and energy, make their beneficent dreams come true. The good that this hospital has done in its ministrations to the sick is known of all; but what is not known to the public is the fact that hundreds of the poor and helpless have been ministered to there "without money and without price"—receiving from the medical staff and the superintendent and nurses the same loving care that is bestowed on those who are able to pay for the services rendered.

Grace Hospital, in dispensing charity, "lets not its left hand know what its right hand doeth," and the poorest and humblest who enter its portals are not made to feel that they are receiving alms, but that they are welcome and honored guests.

For such an institution the people of Morganton and Burke county should show their appreciation in a substantial way, with the knowledge that they are assisting the Christian women and the kind physicians who are devoting so much of their time and strength and energies to the work of alleviating suffering and distress.

The silver tea which will be given in the ladies' parlor of the Methodist church on the night of November 15 and notice of which is given in another column of this issue of The News-Herald affords an excellent opportunity for the citizens of the town and county to show the management of the hospital their friendly interest in its success.

THE HOME PAPER.

Arch Honeycutt, Stanly News-Herald.

Feelin' sorter lonely, An' my spirits down— Jest a weary-like, you know: Hand me out the paper From the ol' home town— It will put me on the go, 'Cause it sooths the blues Like the Summer dew.

Do the grass what's seared an' brown. It's a cherry star When alone and far I wander from the ol' home town.

Modest in appearance, An' it ain't no show. But it's worth a regal crown. Reads just like a letter From the friends you know— The paper from the ol' home town.

When you got the blues, It's the dope to use, An' it beats the circus clown, For a weary brain. It's a home refrain, The paper from the ol' home town.
