Alfred Moore DAR Chapter Meeting

Fifty members and guests were present at the Saturday afternoon meeting of the Alfred Moore chapter of the DAR at the home of Mrs. L. A. DePland on Arbutus road. Mrs. Norman Wright was co-hostess.

A program of American music was arranged by Mrs. M. J. McPhail of Carthage, music chairman. She presented Mrs. Herbert G. Poole, president of the Carthage Music club, who gave a paper on the life of Edward MacDowell. Mrs. Poole played two of his compositions, "To A Wild Rose" and "To A Water-Lily." A piano solo, "A Little Rhapsody," by the American composer, John Thompson, was played by Miss Mary Jo Davis of West End, pupil of Mrs. McPhail.

Mrs. Robert K. Footman of Lillington, chapter regent, presided at the meeting. A report of the 49th annual state DAR conference at New Bern last week was read by Mrs. J. R. Ingram of Sanford, who attended as a delegate with Mrs. Joel Layton of Lillington. The principal speakers at the conference were Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, national president general, Miss Gertrude Carraway, state regent, and Robert McNeill of Wilkesboro and Washington, general counsel of the national DAR and past president of SAR. During the three-day meet, markers were dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Mary Daves Nash, first state regent, and at Cherry Point and Camp Lejeune to the Marine war dead. Extensive plans were made for restoration of Tryon Palace, seat of Colonial government in the Carolinas.

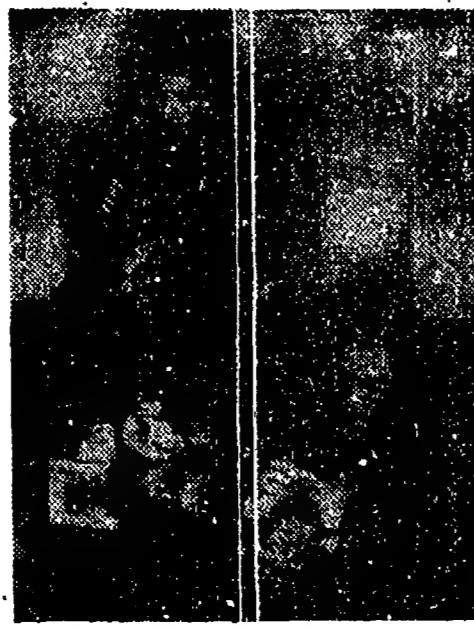

R. E. Wicker of Pinehurst, the guest speaker at the Saturday meeting, was introduced by Mrs. Footman. His subject was "Early Days in Moore County."

Following the program, a delightful tea was served by the hostesses with Mrs. H. F. Seawell of Carthage and Mrs. Footman pouring.

Visitors included Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Colin G. Spencer of Carthage; Mrs. Charles Loving, Lillington; Mrs. E. J. Redditt, Mrs. C. J. Kelly and Mrs. John P. Monroe, Sanford; Mrs. Davis and Miss Mary Jo Davis, West End; Mrs. Phillip Gibbons, Pensacola, Fla.; Mrs. Vincent Giles, Buffalo, N. Y.; and Mrs. David Mallon, Southern Pines.

Lillington members of Alfred Moore Chapter are: Mrs. R. K. Footman, Mrs. J. G. Layton, Mrs. W. B. Hunter and Mrs. Henderson Steele. Mrs. Footman, Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Charles Loving attended the meeting in Southern Pines.

Raleigh, March 19.—The Annual Religious Emphasis Week on the Meredith College campus has just been completed. Students holding named positions on the program included Miss Ruth Hall of Lillington and Miss Eunice Andrews of Fuquay Springs R-2.

Red Cross Night at Local Rotary Club

It was a sort of Red Cross night at last week's meeting of Lillington Rotary Club. Mrs. Flora Moore of the local Red Cross chapter had charge of the program and brought along a couple of the Red Cross lassies stationed at Ft. Bragg to explain just what the organization is doing at that point. At this point one of them, Miss Georgia Bell—and a belle she was—took over and further opened the admiring eyes of the Rotarians as she told in detail the activities of the various branches of the Red Cross and how they operate. To some of them who had a hazy notion that this order goes into action when fire, flood or famine overwhelm a community it was quite a revelation. Miss Bell, who, incidentally, is a native of Linden community, sort of took the Red Cross apart and revealed its human side as she told of how it works in the rehabilitation of soldiers suffering from wounds and nervous disorders brought on by battle strain. All in all, it was a very informative evening for the Rotarians. Prior to the program the club welcomed back an old member, John Womble, to the fold. Several other additions of both old and new members are anticipated in the near future.

Dr. Hunter will have charge of tonight's (Thursday) program.

Miss Sue Lanier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Lanier, is spending spring holidays here. Sue is a student at E. C. T. C. in Greenville.
