OLSEN BORN AT HIGH POINT.

The Great Wrestler Who Tackles Prof Ono, The Jap Tonight Was, Born Here.

(Asheville Citizen)

The wrestling match between Prof. Ono the Jap, and Charlie Olson, the American wrestler, to be pulled off tonight at the Grand Opera House is being looked forward to with keen interest by Ashevilleans. The event will be the biggest thing of the kind which has ever been held in this section and a packed house will in all probability witness the meeting between the expert in Jiu-Jitsu and the "Terrible Swede."

Both men rank high in the sporting and athletic world and both are determined to win. Ono is the champion Jiu Jitsu wrestler of Japan, and Olsen is looked upon as the coming champion of America. The style of fighting tonight will be entirely different from that used in the Ono-Frisbee match several weeks ago. Olsen will mix it up from the start and the fight will be fast and furious. The American is keen witted and a head worker and very active and energetic.

OLSEN BORN IN NORTH CAROLINA

As was recently announced in The Citizen, Olsen is a North Carolinian, having been born at High Point twenty-four years ago. He moved from there with his parents when he was three years old. The fact that he first saw the light of day in the Old North State has made many friends for him here.

ENFORCE IT

People will persist in throwing and sweeping paper on the streets contrary to the ordinance. The mayor should "pull" a few of them. This is the only way it will be stopped. Our streets are too nice to remain filthy.

CHIEF GRAY MAKES CAPTURE

Chief Police Gray was in Greensboro Tuesday and learned that Bob Sims was there, wanted here for retailing. The Chief borrowed citizens apparel in the way of a coat and hat and walked up on Bob. This was rather amusing because Bob had sent word to the Chief that he could smell a policeman a block away.

MR. KEARNS BUYS.

Mr. G. H. Kearns has bought the A. J. Fraley house and lot and the Chandler house and lot on Main street. This gives Mr. Kearns a frontage of 175 feet on Main street and 250 feet on Clay street. Mr. Kearns will in all probability improve this property which is very desirable.

347 CARS.

Since August 12th, or 30 days after relief was given, the manufacturers here have had 347 cars, that number exactly has been used for solid cars alone. This does not include the cars used for goods loaded at the depot.

DIFFICULTY AT WHITE OAK MILLS

There was a serious difficulty at White Oak Mills, Greensboro, yesterday afternoon at the shutting down hour, which resulted in James McDaniel running up stairs and from a third story window hurling a steel roller at Charles Conklin on the ground. The end of the roller struck the top of Conklin's head indenting the skull and producing alarming symptoms for awhile. Last night the young man gained consciousness and is reported much better this morning. McDaniel escaped and has not yet been captured. The officers are diligently searching for him.—Telegram of Saturday.

THE DOGS.

The town authorities should enforce the ordinance on dogs or repeal it altogether. There are scores of worthless canines in town that should be kept off the streets, to say the least. Every man of course thinks that his dog is alright but the public that is annoyed don't think so.

NEW EQUIPMENT

Capt. L. M. Dodamead has just received from the Quartermaster General of the State, 50 shelter tents and 1000 rounds of ammunition for Company M. He will in the near future establish a rifle range a few miles from the city and give the men some target practice.

SWEPT AS BY FIRE

The Greatest Religious Awakening in History of the Town.

The greatest religious meetings in the history of the town were held Sunday at the Anchor warehouse under the preaching of Rev. George Stuart. People gathered from far and near and it was the opinion of all who expressed themselves that they had never seen so much of the good work crowded into one day.

Notwithstanding the rain yesterday morning the warehouse was almost filled. Mr. Stuart took for the basis of his remarks "Home Authority." God chose Abraham because he would do what God wanted him to do. The home question, Mr. Stuart said settled all things. Isaac got his training at home. The preacher made a strong appeal to the parents to begin and carry on the work in the homes. With a force of conviction that almost carried the audience as by fire. Mr. Stuart brought out the results of the home for good and evil.

THE CHRISTIAN'S INFLUENCE.

"I met Talmage soon after he returned from a trip to the old country. I told him how I should like to have been with him, and added that I shouldn't have cared to see the old ruins of castles or such, but some of the living things, the great statesman Gladstone, for instance. Mr. Talmage remarked that his stay with this kingly old man was the greatest thing of his trip. The beautiful Christian surroundings of this noble old warrior. Gladstone said that, after all, there is only one question that will settle international strifes, and that is Christianity. I have sat at the table of Christian characters occupying the highest place of trust in their city and State, men like William J. Bryan and others and it is a great thing to see what Christian influence does.

Christian influence must be followed by Christian example. The way to decrease drunkards is to quit raising them. The way to stop liars is to quit raising them. At this point Mr. Stuart with emphasis and power demonstrated to the parents that they must set a good example to their children.

He said he had never known a child lost where all the conditions at home were fulfilled. He said that he made this assertion once in presence of Dr. Atkins who insinuated that he was talking too soon, that he might have to take it back. Mr. Stuart said that he meant it—that if any of his flock got wrong he would go home, get them right and begin again.

AFTERNOON

The afternoon services were specially for the ladies but all were invited. The sermon was an appeal to the women to be strong that they might fulfill the great duties God had set before them.

NIGHT SERVICE

The meeting last night was the most wonderful in the experience of those present. The ladies had been asked to remain at home in order that the men might have the room. By 7 o'clock the warehouse was nearly filled. By the time the service began there were at least 3500 men present. Most of them had their coats off, it was hot, and Mr. Stuart finding that the men were thus making themselves comfortable, decided he would do the same. He started in close to the hearts of his hearers and got closer as he proceeded. He took Daniels' decision to do the right thing under trying and fattering circumstances for the ground work of his structure and it was a great effort. No man could have made a greater one. We will not go into the details. At the close 1500 Christians, men Christians, pledged for a more consecrated life. After that an invitation was given to the unconverted and 500 responded. Never was such a scene in High Point and every one present felt the power and influence of it.

Mr. Stuart should remain in High Point a week longer if possible.

STUART MEETINGS

Notwithstanding the fact that the first part of meeting Tuesday night was given over to the concert, starting later than usual, it proved to be the best meeting that has been held.

The song service led by Mr. Hunter was soul stirring and put the congregation in a good frame of heart when Mr. Stuart began preaching. The sermon was said by many to have been the strongest the Evangelist has yet preached. He chose for his text "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." The presentation of this truth in all of his phases was strong and the effect of the preacher's words was felt throughout the entire congregation. Mr. Stuart is able in illustration and on this occasion he reached the hearts of the people with what Mr. Jones terms a "straight shot." When an invitation was given to the unconverted there was a spontaneous movement and many asked for prayers of the Christian people.

During the service as many as 40 or 50 it seemed made professions. Interest in the meeting is increasing every day, and so large is the attendance especially at night that many people go out before dark in order to secure seats. Mr. Stuart is leading a good movement for our town and we hope that he will remain as long as possible.

MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT

The Anchor warehouse was filled Thursday night to hear Mr. Stuart, the attendance estimated at 2000. As usual the singing was good although there should be twice as many singers on the rostrum. Mr. Stuart preaching on "Hiding Sin" taking his text from Genesis where it is recorded how our first parents hid their fall. Mr. Stuart drew some very striking pictures from life illustrating the gradual down fall of a man. How we begin with a little thing and after the Devil gets a hold on us leads us out into deep waters to perish. His whole discourse was based on a simple little story of a boy edging in on a cherry pie while his mother was away. First there was a small lump of sugar on a cherry that stuck out of the top of the pie. After eating that, he took the cherry. Then another cherry disappeared. After a while he got his conscience seared enough to cut a slice out of the pie and on he went until he had devoured the whole pie. A simple story, plain to all and served the preacher's purpose in pointing out a great truth. No man ever intends to fall when he starts out. The lesson was a most impressive one and at the close the results were seen by at least 60 people going up and asking the prayers of the Christian people.

A GREAT MEETING

The meeting at the warehouse Friday night was the greatest of week. There were perhaps 1000 more people present than on the night previous and Mr. Stuart was at his best if we can make any distinction at all—because all of his discourses are good. The main point in the sermon was a strong presentation of a man's life influence. Every one has an influence great or small for good or evil. Mr. Stuart emphasized the fact that the young people did not follow in the foot steps of the fallen. No boy would follow a drunkard. It was the man who drank a little but did not get drunk; the man that attended the theatre, but not the worst—the man who played cards but did not gamble. These kind of people were the ones who as a rule were dangerous examples to young people. The preacher seemed to feel every word that he uttered and with force and eloquence tried to burn this truth into the hearts of the people. He preached for over an hour but it did not seem half so long, throughout the vast audience there was wrapt attention. As far as we could judge there were perhaps 75 people who responded to Mr. Stuart's invitation.

D. H. Baker is building a nice residence for himself at his farm two miles from town on the Archdale road.

Mr. Lea who has been laid up for six weeks with rheumatism left yesterday for Hot Springs, Ark.

SICELOFF ENLARGING

Messrs. Pickett and Welch have given contract for the enlargement of the store occupied by Siceloff Hardware & Grocery Co. Another story will be added running back 107 feet which will double the capacity of the store. The Siceloff Hardware Co. is doing a splendid business and the enlargement of house is necessitated by their increased trade.

THE TRUTH ABOUT WAR

Truth about war cannot be told. It must be seen. The living history of Port Arthur is no longer veiled in the mist of words, but the sublime panorama itself, sublime because it is the actual scene of sublime daring, heroic sacrifice and diabolical ingenuity, will be unveiled at the exhibition of Lyman H. Howe's new Lifeorama in Auditorium on Sept. 25th. It is a spectacle that attracts because here clashed the resources of two empires; here the hearts throbs of great people raged like the wind from two seas swept into a typhoon of gore and grief. Here in brief, is the truth of war as it is.

DANVILLE'S WHISKEY PROBLEM

A prominent citizen of Danville, Va., who was a Charlotte visitor Saturday, gave the Charlotte News man some interesting news concerning the wet and dry election held in that city last week.

The gentleman referred to above is too modest to allow his name to appear in this article. He is also a prohibitionist and belongs to the crowd that was defeated. But, he is positive that no contest will be made and that the "wets" will be allowed to open saloons provided they live up to the requirements of the city council.

And, right here is where the gentleman from the city by the Dan, smiled a broad and knowing smile. The council of Danville is as dry as a powder horn and the members of that body will see to it that the men who secure liquor license will have to open wide their pocketbooks. While it is not expected that the tax rate will be placed so high as to shut out all would-be-dealers in liquors but there will not be near as many rum mills in Danville as there were before the city voted to rid itself of the bar rooms.

The Board of Aldermen will make a mistake to continue the fight after the polls are closed.

WHAT SULLY SAYS

E. J. Sully has issued the following circular and sent throughout the South. Hear his argument:

Conditions unparalleled, but absolutely legitimate, have forced upon me the conviction that the time is opportune for an extensive Bull campaign in cotton.

Having received many requests to organize a Bull Campaign, I have, after mature, deliberate, and careful consideration of the conditions that surround cotton this year, decided to accept subscriptions for that purpose, believing that advantage should at once be taken, at present prices, to secure a large portion of the inevitable advance in cotton, which is sure to occur between now and March 1st, 1906.

In 1903, unknown, unaided and alone, I proved to the world that my convictions were sincere, and that courage was not lacking to freely and fearlessly expound the knowledge I had derived from careful study of the situation.

What I accomplished two years ago, I believe I can and will do again, aided by experience of the past, the conditions as they exist, the knowledge at my command, and the necessary capital.

Being convinced that no better opportunity has ever been offered, where the possibilities were so great, and that a profitable outcome will be the result.

Being convinced that there never was a time, when the demands of the world for cotton were so great, as they are at present, and being convinced that every bale of American cotton now in sight, and every pou d produced this year, will not meet the requirements of the world's spindles for the coming season. Cotton must advance. If the people over there honestly voted in whiskey give it to them. Make the license high enough but prohibitive. It would hurt the prohibition cause in the end.

MRS. DR. BURTON CRITICALLY ILL

Mrs. Dr. Burton who has been confined to her room for several days with kidney affection has been growing worse since early this morning and the report from the house at 2 o'clock is that she is critically ill and her physicians fear the worst. Much anxiety is felt by our citizens generally on account of the condition of this good woman and hope yet that they may be a change for the better.

GO AFTER THEM

Notwithstanding the ordinance about sweeping paper and other rubbish on the streets it is done every day. Is there not a way to stop it?
