

Winton Wavelets
 Busy People From a Busy Town
 Compiled and Arranged by the Herald Correspondent

If strangers passing through the good old town of Winton should see unusual sights or hear unearthly sounds, they need not be alarmed, for it simply means His Majesty, The Hog, who for the past century has been "monarch of all he surveyed", can no longer walk the streets of Winton, by day or by night, or be enclosed in pens within the incorporate limits, so the town commissioners have decreed. The owners of said hogs are hastening to get them out of town by the 15th. of June, when this law goes into effect. This is a step in the right direction. It is hoped that other improvements will follow. Winton is one of the best little towns in the State. May it soon be one of the cleanest!

Postmaster Mitchell moved into the new Post-Office last week. It is a neat brick building, erected by Mr. W. P. Taylor. It is a decided improvement over the old building, and is more adequate in every way for carrying on the work connected with the office.

On Thursday afternoon the Hertford County Chapter U. D. C. held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Miss Ruth Davenport. The Chapter contributed five dollars to the Arlington monument. Buying an iron fence to inclose the monument erected two years ago was discussed. After the business meeting a short but instructive program was given. The program had been arranged as a contrast between Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln. The singing of "Ben Bolt" by Mrs. C. M. Mitchell added much to the program.

A large congregation was present at the Methodist Church Sunday morning to enjoy Children's Day, and the children did not disappoint them but rendered a splendid program, consisting of songs recitations, and missionary exercises. A short but good and practical talk was made by the pastor, Rev. Slaughter. Miss Evelyn Matthews deserves much credit for training the children so well for this special service.

Mrs. W. E. Franklin, of Port Norfolk, Va., and Misses Lena Cobb, of Conetoe, N. C., and Venetia Cox, of Winterville, N. C., were guests of Mrs. R. C. Bridger last week. Miss Cox is in training school in New York, and will be sent out as a missionary to China or Japan. She made a most interesting talk in the Episcopal Church during her visit here. She told about her work, classroom and the Church of St. John, The Divine, with its seven chapels where each nation bears the creed in its own language. Her work is among the poorer classes of the city. The workers are sent out by two's, Bishop Grier and Deaconess Knapp remain at the school. Miss Cox has open to her a most wonderful opportunity of doing good in this world.

Mrs. Cornelia Ann Best Modlin.

Mrs. Cornelia Ann Best Modlin step mother of Mrs. Henry Miller and mother of Messrs. J. B. and Euphrates Modlin, died at the home of her son Wilmer, in Lewiston, June 7, after a lingering illness. Born near Frazier's Cross Roads Jan. 30th, 1838, she united with Ahooskie Baptist Church when a girl, was married to Mr. Henry Modlin 1859.

She was a step mother to five children of her husband, and had ten children of her own. There was no difference made between them, and nearly all of them are still living.

Sister Modlin was a true wife and help-mate to her husband, a thoughtful, industrious, self-sacrificing mother, seeking in all proper ways to promote the comfort and happiness of her loved ones. She was constant in her attendance at the Lord's house, and led her children to love it's worship and work. They are useful and independent citizens. She left the community to live in Rocky Mount in 1906 to make her home with her son, Ramond, joining the church there and she was a member there at her death.

The funeral service were conducted by Pastor C. L. Duwell in the Baptist Church Ahooskie Wednesday June 9th.

A large number of friends and relatives followed her to the Henry Miller home when she lies buried by her late husband. Sister Modlin leaves her children the legacy of a good name and honored christian life. May the Lord bless and comfort all her loved ones.—D.
