

SENATOR SIMMONS' SPEECH.

Senator Simmons was the first of the democratic senators to associate the ratification of the canal treaty.

The Washington Post of January 29th, says: "Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, delivered the first of Democratic speeches yesterday in support of the Panama Canal and the pending treaty."

There is a wide difference of opinion in regard to the treaty. Mr. Simmons' speech, which was given in the afternoon, will meet the approval of many, while on the other hand there are many who take an entirely different point of view from that of the senator.

Dr. A. B. Bevan, a prominent physician of Chicago, has rendered considerable comment by the medical profession by publicly declaring "Drug treatment is useless in cases of pneumonia. The prognosis, as far as medicines are concerned, can be of no assistance. The saving of the profession will acknowledge this to the public and set to work to discover some specific to save pneumonia patients the better for all concerned."

We have never heard of a remedy for pneumonia. It is true that many people are dying from this fatal consumption. In many cases it is doubtful the aid of medical skill furnishes some temporary relief, and in some stages of the disease the administration of drugs as a stimulant is necessary to save the life of the patient.

A white man has been appointed postmaster at Indianapolis, and it is said will give satisfaction. It will be remembered that months ago Mr. Roosevelt refused to accept the resignation of Minnie Cox, the white postmaster, whereas the white people clubbed together, hiring a man to carry their mail a distance of twenty-five miles. These few months Minnie Cox has been doing a salary, which time she has done nothing. At the expiration of her term a white man has been appointed. No doubt Mr. Roosevelt feels that it is impossible to restrain the nomination for the presidency by his attitude towards the negro in the past and at this late hour he has reformed.

By a vote of five to four the Supreme Court of the United States says that North Carolina shall pay the bonds held by South Dakota. This decision is of far-reaching importance, and the result is not yet known.

Says the News & Observer: "North Carolina will soon begin to pay for educating South Dakota boys and girls—thanks to Chief Justice Russell and Marion Butler." Russell will get a slice large enough to pay that hundred dollars he borrowed from the lady post master before going to Washington in his interests.

Attempt at Train-Wrecking. A bold attempt was made to wreck the Florida special, No. 29, at the north end of the yards in this city last Wednesday night. Some party or parties, unknown, placed two large iron crosses directly across the track, and by a colored fireman of one of the industrial plants of the city who was going home after finishing his day's work. It was evidently quite an exertion for him to lift the heavy ties, for he was of small stature, but he got them off and came breathless with perspiration streaming down his face and his voice quivering with excitement to the trainmaster's office and made a report of what he had found and done. Had this obstruction been allowed to remain on the track an hour longer the Florida special would doubtless have run into it with a dreadful crash and many lives had been lost.

It will be remembered that No. 62, a local freight, was derailed at River station, about two miles north of the city, almost entirely destroying the entire train of equipment and contents except the engine, only a few weeks ago, and it may be that some malicious person placed an obstruction on the track and caused this wreck, and that this same party was making another effort against the Southern Railway and the general public Wednesday night.

It is understood that the police authorities are investigating this matter vigorously, and it may be that the Southern will see fit to bring one of its special agents to this territory to act in this investigation. —Greenwood Editor.

Ramoth's Train-Service.

Corporation Commissioner S. L. Rogers returned Sunday from a tour of inspection over the Southern Railway between Greensboro and Ramoth. He made the trip to investigate the conditions there, as the people of the Ramoth section have petitioned the Commission to require the Southern to pass a passenger train in addition to the mixed freight that now runs from Ramoth to Greensboro.

The road follows Deep River from Cedar Falls to Ramoth, and Mr. Rogers said yesterday that there are some eight or ten factories along the river near there. It is a very attractive section of country, he says. The hum of spindles, the electric lights, and all that, would make one think he was in a New England town. The people are wide-awake to their interests, they are to be found out and about early and late.

Ramoth itself has a population of some ten or twelve hundred. Franklinville and Cedar Falls are places of less population, but just as busy and interesting.

Mr. Rogers took up the matter of the additional service yesterday with Mr. Henry Miller, assistant to Vice-President Andrews of the Southern Railway, and will take it up with the Commission as soon as possible. —News & Observer.

Gray's Chapel Items.

We guess most people were surprised when they were up and saw the ground covered with snow on last Thursday evening.

This snow has a close observer say: "That shower of snow last Friday about twelve was the tenth for this winter." The first snow was in the fall Oct. 24.

Weather prophets say, there will be fourteen snows this winter; as there were fourteen foggy mornings in August.

This reminds us of what an old man of this section was reported as saying a few years ago. He remarked there will be forty snows this winter; when asked what his reasons were for so many snows, he said "because there were forty foggy mornings in August."

Deed of kidney affection and a complication disease, on last Wednesday morning the 27th Mr. Milton Cox. He was a most estimable citizen of the Ramoth community. The deceased was sixty-four years old. He leaves a wife and six children, four boys and two girls to mourn their loss. All are married except the youngest, a girl. His remains were brought to the Chapel cemetery for interment. We refrain from saying more, presuming that some of his nearer neighbors will write a fitting obituary.

By Protecting the Birds We Protect Our Crops.

It is a fact, known by all close observers, that our wild birds become scarcer every year. In a few years many species of birds in our State will be exterminated if the present rate of slaughter is allowed to continue.

Forty years ago, when the writer was a boy, our fields and forest were literally alive with birds. When the ice and snow of winter had melted away, the birds came like a mighty host against the insect tribes of earth. The battle continued through the whole year and the birds were the victors routing and destroying the insect pests.

Today the birds are few and the insect tribes are taking the day. Crops are damaged millions of dollars every year by insects. In some sections of our country, crops are almost a total failure every year on account of these pests.

The cotton boll weevil and numbers of other insects unknown in this country fifty years ago are alarming to the farmers of today.

It is becoming a serious problem as to how we are to grow many of the crops now raised on the farm. The cause is apparent. We have killed the birds and there is nothing to destroy the insects. The birds were created to destroy and hold in check these enemies of the farm. We have violated or in other words, checked the laws of nature by killing our friends, and must pay the penalty. Every shot that kills an insect-eating bird turns loose a shower of pests upon our crops and farms. To kill the birds is to allow our enemies to increase, except crows and English sparrows, there were at least fifty birds a half century ago to every one now.

If we could see the number of insects a bird will destroy in a day when it has a brood of young birds to feed, we would be surprised. It has been ascertained by expert who have studied their habits, that some species of our birds destroy more than their weight in insects each day.

Mr. Monroe Julian, of Cedar Falls, Randolph county, North Carolina, says that something had been pulling up his corn a few years ago and that he went to the field one morning about daylight to try to find out what was doing the mischief. He says he saw two partridges very busy going up and down the rows of corn and believing they were pulling it up, he fired killing one of them. He says its cry, which was about the size of a small hickory nut, was full of flea bugs.

As we were passing through Cedar Falls, Randolph county, a few weeks ago, we saw seven non-game insect-eating birds flying in a pile in the public road. They had evidently been killed for sport.

There is a law protecting our non-game birds and every good citizen should see that the law is enforced. A few indictments in a neighborhood would have a wonderful effect in checking the evil.

Let us have an act by the next Legislature making it a misdemeanor to hunt on the lands of another without a written permission from the owner and to prohibit the killing of all birds now protected by law for a period of six years. What say ye farmers of Randolph. Will you protect the birds and save your crops? A. FARMER.

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it's easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear. The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't. Don't wait until you can't receive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought, take Scott's Emulsion. If you don't really consumption so much the better; you will soon get it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, eat all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free. Be sure that the picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., N. Y. (See ad on page 1 of this issue.)

CLIMATIC CORNER.

The influence climatic conditions in the cure of consumption is very much overrated. The poor patient, and the rich patient, too, can do much better at home by regular attention to food and exercise, and a regular use of German Syrup. Fresh air is important in the morning, but it is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night sweats, which nights and the exhaustion due to coughing, the greatest danger and of the consumptive, can be prevented or stopped by taking German Syrup. Regularly and regularly. Remember you are to go to a warmer climate, you will find that of the thousands of consumptives there, the few who are benefited and cured, are those who use German Syrup. Tell bottles, 50c; regular size, 75c. At Standard Drug Co., Asheville.

One Minute Cough Cure gives relief in one minute, because it kills the microbes which make the mucous membrane, causing the cough, and at the same time cures the inflammation of the throat and the lungs. It is a powerful and reliable cough cure. One Minute Cough Cure is the strongest and most reliable of all cough cures. It is a powerful and reliable cough cure. One Minute Cough Cure is the strongest and most reliable of all cough cures.

A Letter From Laurinburg.

Editor Courier:—Thinking perhaps that a few lines from this section of the State would be of some interest to your many readers, and in compliance with a request by some of my friends when I left Randolph for a short stay in this and other counties along the border line, I will try to fulfill my promise.

I have met quite a number of my old friends and acquaintances since reaching this place, and among them is Judge W. H. Neal, who is at home for a short rest.

The weather has been very disagreeable for several days, snow, hail and sleet covering the ground, making it unpleasant to travel, notwithstanding the good roads in this section.

Cotton sold on the streets here last Friday at 16 cents, and some of the farmers are being offered 12 cents for their next year's crop.

The cotton mills at this place (Dixon and Scotland mills) have cotton already brought enough to run both day and night until the new crop comes in, so there seems to be no uneasiness about expanding work on account of the price of cotton.

There are extensive preparations being made for the next crop. It will pay the farmers of Randolph to raise all the corn and wheat they can, as prices are sure to be good during this year, and better if the south plants all cotton.

Politics are beginning to show up just a little in the way of favoring the future candidates before the next primaries. Down here the hold primaries where every man can cast his vote according to his own opinion and seem to be glad that the conventions are done away with.

For fear I am intruding I will close with best wishes for The Courier and its many readers.

J. F. HAMILTON, Laurinburg, N. C.

Fork Creek Items.

Too late for last week. We were favored with a nice rain Friday, just what we needed to bring up late wheat.

Mr. Ernest Bean and Miss Edna Christie, visited relatives in Star, last week.

Miss Lillie Bean, who is teaching school near New Hope spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mrs. H. H. Yow is very ill, this week.

The other day a school Mistress, in this community, started home and got as far as Fork Creek decided she couldn't get across without help. But as she was just thinking what to do a handsome young man walked up and by his kind assistance she got across safe.

Minnie, the 12-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hancock died, almost suddenly, January 14th. She was a good and affectionate daughter, kind and affectionate sister. And was loved by all who knew her and will be sadly missed in the home. May the Lord bless and comfort the bereaved and stricken home.

A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is still. A place is vacant in the home, Which never can be filled.

God in his wisdom has recalled the loan his love had given and though the body slumbers here the soul is safe in Heaven. A. COLTS.

The Fork Creek correspondent asked the Ramoth correspondent if that man that carried the rabbits to the store on Sunday morning was he out of coffee or did he want to raise missionary money to pay the preacher.

Trinity News Notes.

Too late for last week. Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Harris, of Asheville, returned home Monday, after a short visit here to relatives.

It is rumored that Trinity is soon to have two new enterprises. Messrs. Kennedy Bros. of High Point, have leased the old Trinity Mangle Works, and will manufacture tables. A company has also been formed which will erect a new building and will manufacture wheelbarrows.

Miss Daisy Elgin is here having resigned as station agent at Sophia.

Dr. F. H. Wood filled the pulpit in the church here Sunday morning before a large congregation.

Mrs. Dred Peacock is spending a while here with her parents.

Dr. Peacock, who is now secretary and treasurer of the Globe-House Furniture Co., of High Point, is thinking of building here and making his home for the future.

Mr. Clay Thomas, of Winston-Salem, delivered a lecture in college chapel Sunday evening. Mr. Thomas, who was a student in Trinity college, while here has traveled extensively in the West, made a very interesting lecture.

Mr. Cicero Lowe, of Ramoth, has moved his family to Trinity.

Mr. Ben Dunlap, a young traveling man, spent a day or two here, last week with his sister, Miss Bessie Dunlap.

Mr. Herbert Ballance was in town a few days this week.

Mr. I. H. Blake representing Howell & Dunn Co., Charlotte, was in town Tuesday calling our merchants.

The Dixie Chair Co., of this place is doing a large business these days, which bids to increase before the year is out. A deal of timber is brought to Trinity, which cannot be all used by this one company, who turn a great deal away.

CHEAP FLOUR IS BAD FLOUR!

It's low price is the maker's excuse for the inferiority of his product. Bad flour is bad flour no matter how it is manipulated and juggled in packing. It all comes back to the same thing. Good flour mixed with poor will improve the quality of the bread, but like mixing white paint with black, it takes an awful lot of white to produce a shade of effect. Bad or cheap flour is lacking in gluten, the nutritious portion of the wheat. It also contains a large percentage of the pulverized husk or shell of the grain. All of which you don't want. Therefore, we caution you to ask for the "Purified Randolph" brand. This brand is sold at the lowest price for which really first-class flour can be sold, and its price is the highest you need to pay in order to get the best. While Eagle is also a popular brand and gives satisfaction wherever used.
