THAT DOCTORED PLATFORM.

The Editor of the Raleigh Post Throws the Watts law which forbids the Light upon the Subject.

In regard to that doctored plank of their anti-temperance plans in ly conduct by intoxicated plank, published for the some certain sections, began to hedge there is yet some controversy, as will be seen from the following letter by cutting out all that portion of convention adjourned, and the received by the editor of The Morn-the plank referring to the Watts law, genuine plank had been published.

of Democratic hand book, and advise me at oarliest moment if the Republican platform which appeared in your paper following the Republican by the convention.

I have printed the article from the Democratic hand book and comment-ed upon it. Republican Chairman Rollins denies that the Republicans have had but one temperance plank in their platform and that was the one which failed to appear in yours and other papers. He brands the charge as a Democratic lie. Says the copy furnished The Post was a rough draught given Mr Pence.

I would like for you to arm me with facts in the matter. Fraternally yours, J. D. Bivins.

To that letter the following reply w been sent:

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 6. Mr. J. D. Bivins, Editor Stanly Enterprise,

Albemarle, N. C. My Dear Sir:—Replying to your etter of yesterday will say that the Republican state platform as printed in The Morning Post of May 19th was exactly as adopted by the Republienn state convention held in Greens boro the day before. The "rough draught" of the ptatform, referred to by Chairman Rollins as having en given to Mr Pence, was sent by Mr Pence to The Post by mail before its adoption by the convention, and was held subject to release by wire. That "rough draught" contained a denunciation of the anti-jug law, or at least a hostile reference thereto. I was acting telegraph and news editor of The Post that night (May 18,) and at 7:52 I received the fol lowing from Greensboro:

"Hold platform, as there are hanges in it. (Signed) "PENCE." At 10:20 the same night Mr Pence wired the following:

"Kill paragraph in platform re-lating to Watte lew and anti-jug law and substitute the following:

"We favor, as we have ever favored, just and equal laws for the promotion of temperance, but we denoue the Democratic Legislature for the enactment of the Watts law, for the reason that it was conceived and enacted for political advantage, under the guiss of temperance reform, and for its unfair discrimination in conferring rights and privileges upon the inhabitants of incorporated towns and cities which it denies to the leges upon the inhabitants of incorporated towns and cities which it denies to the citizens of the country. But in pursuance of our time honored policy of local self-government, we favor a law which submits to the qualified voters of 'he several counties and incorporated towns of the state, at their request, the 'question of whether they shall or shall not be permitted to make and sell intoxio at ing liquora, and the faithful execution of their will as expressed at the ballot I made the change as directed, outting out the original from the "rough draught" and substituting the above, which, it will be seen, makes no reference to the anti-jug appeared: law. From my own recollection of what transpired that night, and from the positive evidence on file in the office of the Postal Telegraph the office of the Postal Telegraph Company in this city in the shape of copies of press matter received May 18, 1 am prepared to make sfir-davit to the correctness of the report published in The Post the morning following the convention.

The changes as indicated above are all the changes that were made by the convention on the temperance question. The Post was the first paper in the state to publish the platform, and has never been called upon by Chalrana Rollins to correct any alleged errors. And The Post report was exactly the same as used in the Democratic hand book. The truth is many Republicans who were in the convention afterwards commented upon the very accurate uport made by Mr Fonce, and it was several days afterward, when the inchest becoming afrant of the effect. The Morning Post does not hesitate to declare that original draught of the platform so far as it relates to temperance legislation was not printed at all. It contained some strictures on the anti-jug law, which the reading public has not seen. If anything further is needed to prove that the platform adopted was and is just like it appeared in the Post the 19th of May, and later copied in the Post the 19th of May, and later copied in the hand book, that evidence is supplied by the report of the proceedings of the con vention. The platform was adopted as presented, unanimously and without debate, although at least one delegate made an effort to be heard. Here is the report of the proceedings at this point, as telegraped from Greensboro by The Morning Poet's special representative, and published in its issue May 19th.

"The committee on plat-form, through Chairman J J Britt, submitted its re-port. The residing of the platform, which was unan-imously adopted, was inter-rupted at times by applause. While ex-Judge Eobinson was attempting to gain re-cognition the vot was taken and immediately he got the floor to protest against reand immediately he got the floor to protest against re-ference in the platform to the temperance clause. The frank remarks of the judge created the only genuinely interesting situation dur-ing the convention."

The platform as read before vas adopted was word for word as printed in this paper. Nothing was aid at the time about the plank atrevised, and no request was made to the representative of The Morning week at Greensboro Federal Court.
