PRICE ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

Wm. C. HAMMER, Editor

Published at the first office at Asheboro, N. C.

The legislature has changed the powers, as well as the duties of, the corporation commission.

The President has decided to appoint C. W. Anderson, a negro, as internal revenue collector for New York, the appointment will be made later.

No body questions the fact that the legislature which has recently adjourned is worse than war, pestilence and small pox combined for gamblers in the future. The Woodard bill will practically put an end to that kind of gambling in this state.

There should be vigorous prosecution of the new vagrant law throughout the state. Most criminals begin as vagrants. To use the language of an editor of the paper published in a state where similar vagrant laws exist. All confirmed loafers should get the limit of the law and we might add that the whole state where loafers float should be kept as hot as the center of Hell for every member of this class.

The Russia and Japanese war is again actively engaging the attention of the reading public. There has been a winter of comparative inactivity, but the armies of both countries have come out from their winter quarters and have arrayed themselves against each other in Manchuria in battle lines which extend for more than a hundred miles. There is no telling what will be the outcome finally of the hostilities between these two countries. It has become the greatest war in all history. There are more than a million men actively engaged in the fray. As we have expressed our views before our opinion is if the war continues long enough it is only a question of time when the brave little Japs will have to succumb to the superior numbers of the Great Russ. Russian despatches have greatly complicated conditions in Russia, and may finally result in the defeat of Russian arms.

CONGRESSIONAL APPROPRIATIONS.

Representative Henshaw, late chairman of the House Appropriation Committee, and Mr. Livingston, the ranking Democratic member, recently submitted their respective conclusions as to the excess of expenditures of the national government from the receipts. Livingston declares that the army and navy under Roosevelt have cost more than $700,000,000 against nearly $200,000,000 under Cleveland's last administration. Both Mr. Henshaw and Livingston agree that the additional appropriations for the present Congress is considerably more than eight hundred million for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1906, as against seven hundred and eighty million for the previous year ending next June.

Mr. Henshaw admits that there is a deficiency in the revenues of the Government of eighteen million dollars less than the expenditures. Mr. Livingston makes a comparison of the four years of the last Cleveland administration and the four years of administration just closed, showing that in 1893-94, the appropriations were $2,000,103,445, and during the years 1903-1904 they were $3,134,334,292. He says that the difference between the appropriations for 1906 and the predicted revenues is $24,888,309, a "brutal enough expense between the backs of taxpayers and the tongue of the common people, who bear the burden of taxation."

Mr. Livingston says that under four years of Roosevelt the grand total of expenditures for the army and navy and for fortifications was $703,120,493, against a total under the last Cleveland administration of only $200,046,314.

Mr. Livingston concludes: "Comparing Mr. Cleveland's administration as to appropriations with that of Mr. Roosevelt, we find that a strenuous government, dominated by the policy of a 'big stick,' costs under Mr. Roosevelt $220,412,329 more for the army, $256,184,157 more for the navy, $19,477,563 more for fortifications, and for the three combined military purposes, $498,674,049 more than did the same objects under Mr. Cleveland's last four years of office—a sum large enough to erect a public building in every city and town in the country, with enough to spare to improve every harbor and waterway, so necessary for the promotion of our commerce; or it would have been sufficient to construct 200,000 miles of perfect roadways throughout the whole land."

"The Democratic party does not endorse these excessive expenditures for military grandeur and display. And it is confessed that their indulgence has brought about a condition in the public treasury that means either increased taxation or the issue of bonds in order to meet the fixed current needs of the country."

Mr. Livingston predicts a deficit of $100,000,000.

NEW DIVORCE LAWS.

The new divorce law provides that all laws since the Civil War be repealed, and that the harshness distinction between husband and wife be removed, giving the wife the right of divorce if the husband neglects her, or if he is guilty of adultery and not as formerly requiring her to file suit and after the husband had abandoned his family and lived in adultery.

The four causes now existing in North Carolina are based upon Scriptural reason and religious conviction, and it probably as was a divorce law as every other State in the Union.

The four causes for divorce as the law now stands are: First, if the husband separates from the wife and live in adultery, second, if the wife commits adultery, third, if either party be naturally impotent, fourth, if the husband be guilty of adultery, and the wife be ignorant of the same.

Mr. Roosevelt has probably learned something from the experience of the State of Massachusetts. He is taking advantage of his reconstruction process and his contempt for honest principles. We do not know who first put the President up on the first method of admitting the law, but it is a very good one. The country now has some very good legislation, for the death law that has been in this country since the time of the President can work a very good precedent. It is a very good one, and it is a very good one. The same thing is true of the law which is now in force. It is a very good one, and it is a very good one.
