

POETRY.
THE CARRIER'S
Christmas Address
For 1837
To the Patrons of the
"SOUTHERN CITIZEN."

Here's the "Citizen" coming again, To tell you that Christmas is here, Let your sparkling good cheer entertain The joyous day of the year.
Let this day in its annual return, Bring peace and good will to you all, Let all envy and strife be foregone,
And nothing unpleasant recall.
I am constantly printing the NEWS,
But I seldom write much of my own, Every Christmas I offer my views,
To tell you what ought to be done.
It is clear then, you ought to abstain From the mirth of intemperate glee; Social love and good order maintain,
To the poor let your bounty go free.
You may take and return a good joke,
And laugh over innocent fun; Don't let good humor be broke By seeing that your neighbor has done.
If to visit your friends you incline, I make no objection to that,
And even a glass of good wine May help to lighten your Chat.
But it's Christmas! I tell you beware!
My warnings come seldom, you know,
In your moment, always take care, Beyond Temperance never to go.
Something farther I ask you to do—Quite essential, and not to be waived; Your Christian Experience review;
That is, if you hope to be saved.
I've now laid off your work for this day,
If you do it with promptness and skill,
You have bought but the Printer to pay, Tensure universal good will.

CARRIER.
P. S. There's something forgot, And I scarcely know what,
Important to me than to you.
Ah!—a little small change
You cannot think strange If you have nothing larger, a shilling— Will do.

NOTICE.
THE SUBSCRIBER having resolved on closing his business for the present, respectfully invites those indebted to him to come forward as soon as convenient and settle their accounts. He is aware of the scarcity of money, and desirous of extending the most ample indulgence, those who have not the money can close their accounts by note.

PROSPECTUS FOR THE
CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE
AND APPENDIX.

There are now more subscribers in the United States certainly than there are for any other published paper. This large and increasing circulation is a conclusive evidence of its value. It is indispensable to all who are interested in the proceedings of Congress. Its publication gives them so full, so complete, so cheap, it is indeed the cheapest publication in the U. States—perhaps in the world. Our position at the seat of Government enables us to print them at so low a rate. We are compelled to publish the proceedings of Congress in actual for our daily paper. This done, it requires, comparatively, but a small additional expense to change them to the form of the Congressional Globe and Appendix. If it were not for these circumstances, we could not publish them for times the sum charged.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two houses of Congress, and the speeches of the members consented. The year and days on all important subjects are given. It is published weekly, with an Analyze, on sixteen royal quarto pages.
The Appendix contains the speeches of the members at full length, written out by themselves, and is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe. It is published weekly as the Appendix can be published. Usually there are more numbers of the Appendix in a session than there are of the Globe.
Each of these works is complete in itself—but it is desirable for every subscriber to have both, because there should be any ambiguity in the synopsis of a speech in the Congressional Globe, or any denial of its correctness, it can be removed at once, by referring to the Appendix in the Appendix.

The publication of Congress being a very important one, we printed about five thousand extra copies of the Congressional Globe and Appendix calculating upon being able to dispose of them to persons who are not regular subscribers. The former makes 150, and the latter upwards of 200, royal quarto pages.
As the main subject proposed at that session —the separation of Bank and State—has been a posterior to the next session, they will be useful, we may say, necessary, for those who subscribe for the next session, and we shall therefore reserve them for those subscribers who desire them, and shall first subscribe for them. Though not so voluminous as the proceedings of ordinary sessions, the important subjects given will render these volumes no less valuable than any which have been, or may hereafter be printed. Every subscriber for the next session, who intends to file the papers, should procure copies of the last.

TERMS.
For the CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE for the session which commenced on the 4th September 1837. $1 00
For the APPENDIX for the same session, 1 00 For the CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE for the session which is to commence on the 4th of December next, 1 00
For the APPENDIX for the same session, 1 00 Any paper sent by us the money for five copies of either of our publications will be sent to a copy.
Payments may be transmitted by mail, postpaid, or by express. The notes of any incorporated bank in the United States current in the section of country where a subscriber resides, will be received. But with subscribers in the Northern and Middle States, they will please send them.
To insure all the numbers, the subscriptions should be sent by the 11th of December next.
Our attention will be paid to any order received, if accompanied by, or unless some responsible person, known to us to be so, and agree to pay it before the session expires.
BLAIR & RIVES,
Washington City, Nov. 5, 1837.

PROSPECTUS
OF
THE CAROLINA PATRIOT, A WEEKLY PAPER,
Published in the Town of Greensboro', N. C.
On a large Imperial sheet, DEVOTED TO Agriculture, Politics, Miscellany, Foreign and Domestic News.

THE late "Telescope" office having undergone a partial change of hands, the present proprietors deem it expedient to present to the reading public a short synopsis of the principles upon which they intend to act, and which they expect to be guided, in the attempt (at least) to discharge the responsible duties which they, in common with all other conductors of newspapers, owe to the community; duties rendered doubly arduous by the swift suspect which seems to pervade the moral and political aspect of (we much fear) "the in-boding times" upon which we are fallen.

Each prime object, then shall be, (so far as in them lies) to present their annuous readers with such expositions of the nature and theory of the National Government as they may deem most conformal with the letter and spirit of our glorious Constitution, best calculated to raise the public mind with the highest all its objections on the side of those institutions under which we so long enjoyed the sweetest personal liberty—to direct all its energy to some certain point, and thereby impart to it some fixedness of course which shall effectually prevent further tendency towards that torpid indifference or that political scenary in which seems to sit like an inert upon its hitherto dormant, but now suddenly excited powers, and which, if persisted in, may at no distant period, become an instrument in the hands of designing and ambitious men, wherewith to fetter those immen-tal faculties which the author of our being hath made susceptible of the highest possible cultivation, and whose progressive expansion constitutes the only safe guaranty against the delusive promptings of natural or contri-vated prejudice,—the well-laid schemes of ambition—the blinded zeal of superstition—the recklessness of infuriate party spirit;—and, of course, the only sure foundation upon which a government like ours can long withstand the rude shocks of political adversity.— Indeed, there is but one step between scepticism and a total abandonment of all principle, whether in morals or in politics—may, at a crisis in the affairs of a nation, which seems to threaten its very existence, how easy is the transition from a State of General Indifference and torpid security, to a submission to the dictates of any man however contemptible, provided he have the firmness of nerve to assume the office of Despot.

While, therefore, we shall expose to public censure the faithless representatives who, practising upon the honest prejudices of an unsuspecting people, shall aim solely at his own aggrandizement or the promotion of some ambitious aspirant to office, mistaking and abusing for this unhallowed purpose, the public mind—it shall be our supreme pleasure to award the merit of praise to that public Hero who, exalted by the people, to the throne of Government, established on the base of justice, liberty, and equal rights, shall in his brave express a Nation's majesty, "and who in his walk reflects a meekness and humility, which "bespeak the fear of God," and which by a certain innate force, must forever command obedience to the Law which in him reigns supreme," prompting him to dispense rewards where most deserved, and "to smite, with edge vic-tictive, now light, now heavily, according to the stature of the crime."

Nor shall we pass unnoticed the Statesman who dares be honest, and who in the hall of legislation, "watchful, unbiassed and incorrupt, and partly only to the common weal, in virtue's awful rage, shall plead for right, with truth so clear, with argument so strong, with action so sincere and tone so loud and deep" as makes the clinging demagogue blush for shame, and the despot to retreat in confusion behind "his adamantine gates."

In regard to the principles of the past and present Administration, can not and patriotism alike admonish us to interpose our humble efforts to arrest the progress of executive usurpation, and to check this progress by man-worship which has been not too prevalent for the last eight years, and which (we believe) is about to be succeeded by a spirit of independent inquiry among the people, who alone can apply the only corrective remedy against the abuses that have crept into the practice of the government.

We shall avail ourselves of the best publications in Literature, Morality, Agriculture, the Mechanic Arts and Miscellany,---to procure which we shall spare no pains—being determined to render the PATRIOT a welcome weekly visitant to all its readers. We also invite men of letters and talents to contribute to our columns.
TERMS.
The PATRIOT is printed on a large Extra Imperial Sheet, of purest white paper, with new materials, and will be forwarded to the low rate of $2 50, in advance, or $5 if not paid within three months after the receipt of the first number.

GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE
NOW PUBLISHING, in Monthly Numbers, the largest and cheapest Periodical in the United States—The Gentleman's Magazine, edited by WILLIAM B. BENTON, Philadelphia.
The proprietor has much pleasure in announcing to his reading Public the complete renewal of this Magazine—its success far beyond their highest expectations, and considerably exceeding the possibility. In any other publication in this country, the daily increasing sale, and the large and constant circulation, is evident. The price, at this time, is the price of the Gentleman's Magazine, each number of which contains more original matter than any other monthly publication.
The contents embrace a fertile range of amusing and instructive subjects, by authors of celebrity.
Original Tales of Powerful Interest Humorous and Graphic Description of Men and Manners
Novel Sketches of Foreign Lands; Poetry Characteristic Studies Essays on Popular Subjects, and Biographical Notices of Celebrated or Eccentric Persons, with many original Anecdotes.
The Lives of Paganini, with likeness Puckler Muskau, the German Prince Dickens, [BOZ.] the author of the Pickwick Papers, with a likeness
Dr. John Faust, the Sorcerer The Dutchess of St. Alban, and Zingha, the Negro Queen, have already been given.

The new publications are reviewed in fully liberal extracts are made from rare and valuable works, presenting a complete account of the Popular Literature of the Day.
An original copy right Song, not otherwise to be obtained, will be given, with the Music, in every number.
The Gentleman's Magazine contains seventy-two extra-sized octavo pages, of two colors, each number, at the close of the year, two large volumes of one thousand seven hundred and twenty-eight columns—each volume contains more than an octavo page of average proportion, and each monthly number also more reading matter than a volume of a Novel.
The work is neatly printed on good paper, and situated in a neat covered cover. Several Engravings will be given in the course of the year, and the proprietors pledge themselves to present an agreeable book—an epitome of Literary acquisitions—a Literary Melange, possessed of variety to stimulate, and sufficient interest to command a price upon the part table of every gentleman in the United States.
An Engraved Title Page, of superior production, embracing every possible variety of personal display, and executed in the best style, by J. A. Adams, of New York, accompanied the October number.

Terms.—Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance.
To induce subscribers to send their names home by the post, the publisher begs leave to offer the following extra inducements for choosing the advantages of which proposition can only remain in force till Christmas next.
The subscription to the Gentleman's Magazine will, for a single copy, be invariably Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance —that a five Dollar bill will produce Two Congresses to the same direction, or a club of Ten Dollars will procure Five Dollars.
All letters, postage paid, addressed to Charles Alexander, a Thomas Buildings, Fountain Place, Philadelphia, will meet with the most prompt attention.
