THE STOCK LAW.
We give in this issue the Stock Law as applicable to Buncombe county. We hope our people will read it carefully, and give it that consideration which any important strictly business matter would receive at their hands. The fence question is strictly a matter of dollars and cents to every citizen, and should be considered just as a bill of expenses for the building a house, or any other matter which involves an outlay of money and labor.

The law is absolute, so far as Reems Creek, Flat Creek, Leicester, Lower Hominy, Limestone and Asheville townships are concerned. If a majority of the voters in any one or all of the townships of Ivy, Sandy Mush, Upper Hominy, Avery's Creek, Fair View, Swannanoa and Black Mountain desire the law shall not apply to them, they can, by petition to the boards of Justices and County Commissioners, at the meeting on the first Monday in June next, at which time the law authorizes the boards to consider the matter, be relieved of the law. If a majority of the voters of any one of the townships mentioned should fail to petition the boards at the time mentioned, to be relieved of the law, said township or townships will be included in the law.

The expense of erecting the fence will fall on the townships, as a general tax, included within the law. Should a township refuse to come in now, while it would be relieved of the tax for the building of the fence now, should the people of such township afterward desire to come in, all the expense of removing and building the fence around their township would fall upon that particular township. It is, therefore, much cheaper for the townships all to work together at once, under one tax; especially so for the country townships. We believe it is better for the whole county to unite in the matter and reap all together the benefits of the law. Before two years roll around, those townships which may refuse to go in at first will be petitioning for the privilege. As soon as the workings of the system can be seen and realized, all the people, whether land owners or not, will become strong friends of the measure. This has been the case elsewhere, and in no instance have complaints been urged against the system, where tried, save by demagogues who strive to elevate themselves into notoriety by appealing to the prejudices and ignorance of people. Before its introduction into a community there has been strong difference of opinion among the best citizens, just as there is now in some townships in Buncombe county. The Citizens believe that a system which saves money to one position, and thereby adds to the improvement of that section, will do the same if properly tried, in another station; and fences and fencing involves as much in Buncombe as elsewhere, and if a new system of fence fences and better stock will help Macklenburg, Cabarrus or Rowan help Buncombe. And when we believe anything will help our people we say so. We hope the whole county will take the law. We believe it will be cheaper and better for all. It will save labor, expense, timber, cause land to be improved, and better stock to be kept. We again hope our people will look at this matter strictly as a matter which involves their best business interests.

INDIA RUBBER.

A NEW METHOD OF SUPPLY DISCOVERED IN SOUTH AMERICA.
A New Method of Consulting the "Rubber Industry in Brazil"—The Transatlantic Demand Constantly on the Increase.
(Chicago Times.)
During the past twenty-five years the demand for India rubber has been constantly increasing. The amount required for car springs has been enormous. India rubbers are being worn by people of all classes. Most men exposed to the snow and rain wear rubber boots. A kind of rubber shoe has been made expressly for protecting the boots made of boiled wood, that are now so popular with lumbermen and others who work in the cold. Rubber is now an ingredient in various kinds of paints. Every woman has a waterproof cloak, and many men have waterproof coats. A complete suit of waterproof garments from cap to shoes can be obtained from any dealer in rubber clothing. The number and variety of articles now kept in rubber stores surprises a person who visits one for the first time. They embrace almost everything that is manufactured for ornament or use. The number of rubber toys is almost endless. Every article that was once manufactured from bone, horn, wood or metal is now made from rubber. From infancy to old age, during sickness and health, we constantly use rubber in some form. Good-year endowed it with new properties, and made it subservient purposes for which it could not be used in its natural state. The material rendered it suitable, so that it could be incorporated in the fiber of cloth and other substances.

The many uses to which rubber has been applied during the past forty years has caused its price to advance in all parts of the world where it is obtained. The natives of Brazil, from which most of the rubber is obtained, once wanted more of the product of the rubber forest. Of late years they have relied on the money they obtained from it for their support. Our country has paid $30 per cent of the exports from the valley of the Amazon consists of rubber. The inhabitants neglect all other industries for selling rubber. With the finest pastures in the world, they raise no beef from the Argentine Republic and canned meats from the United States. What was supposed to be excellent fish, which are raised in great quantities, are obtained from northern countries. With dense forests of the most valuable kinds of wood, they produce no furniture and most of their building materials. Not many months ago the price of crude rubber was 80 cents per pound at the place of production. It is now only 35 cents per pound. Recently the price has declined, and the price now paid for a few months ago, being only 25 cents per pound. In consequence of this decline many are seeking new means of obtaining a living.

A few years ago there was considerable alarm over the report that the sources of the supply of rubber were failing. The governments of several European countries were endeavoring to restrict the supply of rubber, and to restrict the supply of rubber, which had become so valuable in the market. It now seems likely that rubber is to become more plentiful, and that the price will be lower than it has been at any time since the article came into general use. A new method of consulting the industry of the employment of mangrove is reported from Brazil. It is the invention of Antonio Fontes, of that country. A new source of supply has also been discovered in a mangrove forest which has not been obtained. A knowledge of it was obtained by our consul at Rio Janeiro from S. S. Schindler, resident at Campinas, and the province of San Paulo. This communication, which has been transmitted to Washington, is as follows:

The mangrove or mangabeira, as it is called in Brazil, is a tree of medium size belonging to the apocynaceae. It presents a graceful appearance, something like the peach tree, with drooping branches and small oblong-shaped leaves of a glossy dark green, finely marked, and having a sharp rounded point at the apex. This tree yields an excellent rubber, but it is only fit to be eaten when it falls from the tree, as it is then perfectly ripe. The mangabeira has therefore the double advantage of bearing fruit which can be eaten, and of yielding a valuable rubber. The inhabitants of this province of San Paulo are just beginning to realize the vast stores of undeveloped wealth existing in their vast inland, and the quality of rubber will be exported which will soon rival that of Para in quality, if not in quantity.

The process of extracting milk from the mangabeira tree is very simple, and possesses great advantage over the seringueiros of Para, as it is met with in large quantities in the most healthy localities. It flourishes only in sandy soil, and is therefore only encountered in unproductive land unfit for the ordinary purposes of agriculture. When the milk is about to be collected, each person must be supplied with about twenty large round tins as well as a large knife (faca). He should make oblique incisions in the bark, sloping downwards at a little distance from each other, all around the trunk, cutting only the outer bark, and placing immediately on the ground below the cuts a basin or large tin which will collect the milk as it exudes. When full these tins can be emptied into a larger vessel. The same process is continued during the whole day, each person treating from ten to fifteen trees or more in this manner, and thus from five to eight kilos of milk can be collected. The incisions should not be made on the same tree, as they may weaken or kill it, as has so frequently occurred with the seringueiros, the rubber of Para.

It has been calculated that France publishes the largest number of books in proportion to population, issuing one book to every 1,000 inhabitants, Germany ranking next with one book to every 2,500 inhabitants. It is said that a buzzard will not eat a dead Mexican because his body is so thoroughly saturated with red pepper. Melrose's pictures are insured at the rate of $100 a square inch.

MAHONE'S EXPECTATIONS.
How the Supreme Court Decision Will Affect Virginia Politics.
WASHINGTON, April 24.—A Virginia republican says: "Senator Mahone got the bad in Virginia politics by the agitation of the debt question. There was no other issue upon which he could have succeeded in securing the strength he did. The people of Virginia, like those of other states, don't like to pay debts if they can avoid it. They feel that West Virginia should pay none of the debt of the original state of Virginia. As it is they find themselves loaded down with a debt of over thirty millions, with accrued interest of over fourteen years. The decision of the United States supreme court in favor of the bondholders will give Mr. Mahone a great political strength among the people of that state regardless of political questions. Mr. Mahone expects to be elected the next governor of Virginia, and he thinks that this decision will help him immensely. The so-called bondholders, though they fought the adjustment of the debt proposed by Mr. Mahone and Mr. Hildebrand, are now anxious to pay the debt than the rest of the population."

Things to Do and to Know.
The hardest raspberry is the Ohio black-top.
Give stock plenty of light in their pens and stables.
Cotton seed is an excellent fertilizer for fields.
Unimpregnated eggs will keep cool for a great length of time.
All hardy vegetables that have not yet been sown, such as cabbage, beets, radishes, turnips, lettuce, endive, celery, asparagus and potatoes, should be planted at once.
The greatest improvement in corn cultivation in half a century has been the invention of fenders, an attachment to keep the young ears from being covered when it is plowed.
To distinguish clean margarine from butter put a lump of the suspected substance into a vessel and melt it. Then put a wick into the resulting oil and set it on fire. If it is butter it will burn with a fine pleasant odor. If clean margarine it will burn like tallow, rancid grease. So it is said.

For the improvement on heavy soils Holden, Veigt, Ginta, and Wetka recommend lime for the first dressing. They say also that the crop for the first season should be potatoes; for the second, oats; for the third, sars of peas, and for the fourth, potatoe again.
A belt of timber should be planted or let along the north side of every farm as a wind break. If you have a river or stream running past your place, set willow all along it to keep the ground from crumbling. During freshets sediments and earth will catch in the trees, and in time really make the bank higher.
A Frenchman has invented a way of making butter by electricity. Into a vessel of cream are placed a raft of electrodes, a current of electricity passed through the fluid. The better gathers in little balls on the electrodes. After they are thus formed the balls detach themselves and float about upon the surface of the milk, just as they do when butter is churned. Then they must be gathered and the butter worked in the ordinary way. A dynamo-electric machine of 40 Daniell cells will bring the butter in three to five minutes. The discoverer of the method, M. Tichenor, has patented his invention in France.

Mt. Mitchell Hotel Black Mountain, N. C.
THIS NEW AND COMMODIOUS HOTEL, situated on the Western North Carolina Railroad, three miles west of the Swannanoa tunnel, and sixteen miles east of Asheville, and within eight miles of the famous and historic Mount Mitchell, the highest peak in the State, and which has attracted the attention of the world since June 1, 1853, for the reception of guests and visitors for the season.
It is the aim of the manager to furnish superior accommodations at moderate rates, and his well known experience, together with the facilities of one of the finest hotel structures in the mountains of North Carolina, is sufficient guarantee that he will be pleased to receive all the details to promote the comfort of guests.
The location of this hotel is far superior to any in the western part of the State, being at the foot of the famous Mt. Mitchell, that overlooks far in the distance hundreds of miles, without an obstruction, and from its elevated position makes it an object of curiosity. Families can be accommodated in comfortable and convenient rooms.

The table will be always supplied with the best of the country produce, and the comfort of the guests will be constantly attended to by a corps of thoroughly trained servants.
The hotel is owned and managed by the proprietor of the Furman House, Wilmington, N. C., and more recently proprietor of the Davis House, Yelton, N. C. It is a pleasure in saying that he has taken charge as manager of this hotel, where he will be pleased to see his many old friends and acquaintances, and the public generally.
