the recent exposures of London vice in the Pall Mall Gazette many horrible cases are daily brought to the attention of the authorities. In many of these cases the victims and their friends have been afraid to prosecute until now, when the tak-ing up of the crusade by the most powerful dignitaries of the church leads them to hope that justice may at last be done, even against rich and titled libertines. Such a case was brought before Sir James Taylor Ingham, sitting as a police magistrate in the Bow street court yes-terday. The complainant is Mrs. Wilkinson, a widow of good social position and undoubted respectabilposition and undoubted respectability. She came, attended by her solicitor, Mr. Smyth, to demand a warrant for the arrest of a well-known baronet, whom she charged with having abducted and ruined her daughter four years ago, when the girl was only 12 years old. She swore that the baronet tracked the child daily as she was going to and child daily as she was going to and from school, and finally entrapped her in to a carriage, took her to a secluded house in the surburbs which he kept for such occasions, effected to ruin her by force, and kept a close prisoner for months. The Baronet's name was withheld by the Justice but he issued the warrant, gave it to a policeman, and directed that the prisoner be brought to court to morrow.
