Everything connected with the Coming Fair wears an auspicious look. Every body and his wife are making something to bring to it.

The Cemetery Company will, to-day, conclude their negotiations for a Cemetery ground, and work will soon be begun in preparing the same for use.

The Petersburg Index-Appeal of "Monday, August 31st," reached the CITIZEN office Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Quick transit.

There is a reported danger of a split in a Methodist church in Pennsylvania on the question of roller-skating. Those members who tried it are violently opposed to it we presume.

The additions to the subscription list of the Daily and Weekly CITIZEN are of the most encouraging character. We are glad to know that our efforts to advance the interests of Western North Carolina, continue to be appreciated by the public.

Dr. H. N. Wells, of Haywood, is in the city. He reports the interest in the coming Fair as very great, all the people—ladies and children—talking about and getting ready for it.

We learn from a gentleman from East Tennessee that the tobacco crops in that section are very fine in all respects, and that the cures so far made are excellent. There has this year been a very large increase in acreage.

September the 1st, the first day of the Fall months, comes in bright, beautiful and exhilarating, the very beau ideal of a Southern autumn day. Who can think of leaving the mountains now to go back to the low country?

Merchants should bear in mind that the business season begins on September 1st, and in order to catch the opening trade advertisements should be inserted at once. The trade will begin fully two weeks earlier this year than it did last.

Treasurer Donald Bain returned to Raleigh by this morning's train, after what we believe to have been a very pleasant sojourn in the mountains. Mr. Bain certainly looks improved by his rest, which he needed and deserved more than any public man we know of, for he has been "chained to the oar" of public service for more than half his life. It must have been gratifying to him to find how many and how warm his friends were in this remote section of the State.

The Goldsboro Messenger says our old friend Mr. Noah Rouse sold three bales of cotton of the new crop in Kinston on the 28th. Mr. Rouse is one of those farmers who have approved of the no-fence law, stood by it through thick and thin, and is now reaping the profits of his wisdom.

The Messenger says that Dr. E. M. Robinson has a ten acre field of rice near Goldsboro, from which he expects to make 400 bushels. Rice is no longer a tide water product, and does as well in Wayne as in New Hanover or Brunswick.

THE FOLLOWING ARE NEW:

"MONEY MADE BY SAVING FRUIT UNBRUISED"

See the advertisement elsewhere of Mr. B. E. Atkins, who has the control of the "Wimpee's Fruit Gatherer." It is undoubtedly one of the best things in use in connection with fruit.

FINE CONCERT AHEAD.

We take great pleasure in announcing that a concert will be given for the benefit of the Asheville Cornet Band on Monday evening in the Opera Hall. The entertainment will be under the management of Miss Lessie Southgate, of Durham, and Prof. Hymes, of the Asheville Female College. The reputation of both is well fixed. They will be assisted by much of amateur skill, domestic as well as that of our visiting friends. We hope the occasion will not be neglected.

NOTABLE ENTERPRISE.

The approach of our Fair is drawing to it the warmest interest of our most enterprising men. Nothing has been more pleasing to us than the activity of Mr. Natt T. Chambers, of the Asheville Warehouse. He sees, as we have seen, the important relations this market may be made to hold to the tobacco interests of the world; and he has seen, as we have seen, the necessity of exertion to make that importance known. In the existence of established markets and strong existing competition he knows that we cannot sit still and wait for fortune to flow in upon us. It is only to be attained or conquered by work. He has gone to work, and to give inducement to farmers to make the best exhibits here at the Fair, he has collected $900, to be offered in premiums, the conditions of which will be stated at the proper time. All honor to the energy and sagacity of one who can so fully appreciate the situation and proves himself so able to provide for it, and to those who so readily responded to the object of his effort.

THE CIRCUS IS COMING.

The show boards are being erected on the north side of the Public Square, on the front of the vacant lot, and will be immediately spread with the showy pictures. How wondering eyes will stare at the impossible feats of gymnastics, and learn strange stories of improbable zoology, and wonder if all those things can be true, and straightway the gazers will resolve upon rigid practice of self-denial and hoard up stray nickles until the coveted sum is heaped up, and then they will judge for themselves. The show car is on the way, and Paint Rock has a new coat of paint, and Warm Springs has taken on a warmer tint, and Marshall and Alexanders are in a blaze of splendid coloring, and our turn comes next; and wont we be happy.

Cole will be here the 23rd inst.

FIRMIN-JACK CONCERT TO-NIGHT AT OPERA HALL.

A reference to the programme offered by Manager John Jack discourses an excellent selection both musically and poetically. Those who have heard Miss Firmin will no doubt avail themselves of listening to the sweet utterings of her melodious voice. Mr. Geo. C. Denton will fill a want in giving us some good instrumentation while his singing will add to the programme some curiosity is manifested to hear the tall sycamore Harcourt in song. Katie Firmin has had some experience as a reader and Mr. John Jack, has been noted for his rendition of Poes Raven and the selection from the Merchant of Venice will be heard with pleasure. Annie Firmin is celebrated for her rendering of "Old Folks at Home."

GET A HOME OF YOUR OWN.

The Elizabeth City Carolinian well suggests:

"It is every man's duty to build a home in which to rear his family and spend his declining years. Have you fond memories of a roof-tree, of a happy boyhood, of one spot dearer than all others? Don't blot out those memories for they make you kinder and better. By all means hand down the tender memories to those who come after you. Do this by selecting and building a home for them now."

We heartily endorse every word, and commend the suggestion to those of our people who have not yet accompanied such end. A man need not put off the duty because he cannot get a lot, and a house, and all modern improvements at once. Get a lot, if necessary, on the instalment plan, and when the lot is paid for, make a similar arrangement for the house. Get your own home, and keep it.

C. H. Miller and Adolphus Smith, salesmen for assignees, are offering a large and well assorted stock of goods at first cost prices in Room No. 3 of old Central Hotel, Asheville, N. C. They will take great pleasure in waiting upon the public. Call and examine the goods whether you buy or not.

THE BLUE RIDGE BAPTIST.

Brother Carter, whose experience is a large one, and who can boast of a wide circulation, has resolved after several years experiment in low rates to advance his subscription price from $1 to $1.50 per annum. He is wise in doing so. No paper in the South can live on the former without suffering to the proprietors, and hardship to employees. It is a common reply to a Southern editor soliciting subscription, "Why, I take a northern paper bigger than yours and I only pay a dollar for it," which is true, but for two good reasons. The Northern man exacts his pay in advance—no pay, no paper. He gets every cent of his subscription money; and he stops his paper the very day the time is out. The Southern editor, on the other hand, puts his paper out on credit and awaits the convenience of his subscriber to pay, and a very large percentage of subscribers never find it convenient to pay. Again, it is an axiom of production that the ratio of cost diminishes in proprortion to the abundance of the product. A manufacturer grows rich on a profit of half a cent a yard on calico. He does so because he makes many millions of yards. The same rule applies to newspapers.

We therefore commend the wisdom of Brother Carter in making the change. And we also commend his paper to general patronage. We will publish in our next his new Prospectus.

The Murphy Bulletin of the 26th mentions the sudden death of LaFayette Taylor in Murphy. The deceased was a mail rider between Turtletown and Murphy and had brought in the mail. Feeling unwell, he had obtained some medicine, and was on his way to his boarding house, but overcome by sickness he stopped, leaning against a fence for support. Unfortunately he was supposed by those who passed by to be intoxicated, and received no aid. In a little while, others passing by, found that he was dead.

The same paper says:

"A great many Indians have passed through Murphy for the last month from Graham county, en route to the canebrakes on Notla and Hiawassee river for the purpose of making baskets. Ten were in town one day last week. Nearly all of them speak or understand English, but they are hard to engage in conversation.

And also gives us the following snake story:

Sheriff Sudderth informs us that while the thresher was at his place about two weeks since they found a chicken snake measuring five feet six inches in length under a wheat stack. It was evident that his snakeship had swallowed something most too large for the calibre of his stomach, and in order to find out what it was he was killed and cut open. To the surprise of those present a corn cob measuring nine inches in length and one and a half inches in diameter was taken out. The question naturally arises, did the snake swallow an ear of corn or the cob only? Do any of our readers know of a similar case or how many ears of corn a snake can eat?

[For the ASHEVILLE CITIZEN.

MR. E. E. MATTHEWS AS A SWINDLER.

Editors Citizen,—In your estimable paper of a recent date, I saw an article on the above named gentleman, pronouncing him a swindler and also saying that he had swindled a number of citizens in Jackson county, and was wanted there for the crimes.

Mr. Matthews came to Webster several weeks ago, his trade being that of a painter. The first job of work given him, was by Mr. J. C. Watkins, it amounting to about one hundred dollars. He succeeded in collecting all of the amount but about sixty dollars and being unable to procure that took out a laborer's lien on the work, and whether or not he or Mr. J. C. Watkins was the swindler in this case, I leave it for the reader to decide.

The next work done, I think was for Rev. G. W. Spake, that of painting his store house, which gave entire satisfaction, and when your informant said he swindled Mr. Spake he knew he was telling a malicious falsehood—without any foundation for the truth. He has also done work for Capt. W. A. Enloe, and others, and in all instances, I believe, giving entire satisfaction.

Mr. Matthews has proved since his arrival here to be an honest, industrious workman, and those claiming, so your informant says, to have "taken" by him, and would like to know of his whereabouts, can find him at the Mountain View Hotel, Webster, N. C.

Very respectfully,
N. D. MAY.

An ingenious American, inspired by a desire to make bookkeepers as comfortable as their arduous duties admit of, has invented for them a "chair running on a kind of miniature railway, in such a manner that a push upon the foot-board will move the chair to the right or left as may be desired." By this means they can get at their books without leaving their seats.

Australians have discarded the horse-bit and substituted for it a steel band placed over the front bone of the horse's nose, to which appliance reins are attached. It is said to give complete control over the animal without inflicting the least discomfort.

DID THE HONORS WELL.

We learn from the August Evening News that "Messrs. Crayton and Dave McMaster have returned from a trip to Asheville, where they paid gallant and graceful attention to the Augusta colony."

Our good new friend of the Murphy Bulletin says:

"We failed to notice at the time the sale of the Asheville CITIZEN, but going on the principle "better late than never," we do so now. It must be gratifying to the proprietors of that splendid journal to know that they have friends who so fully appreciate its efforts in building up Western North Carolina as to come to its aid in the hour of need and prevent its being sacrificed to gratify the selfish desire of a grasping individual. We hope it may live long to help the Bulletin make Western North Carolina to bloom and blossom as the rose."

Mr. Rufus Johnson, formerly a prominent citizen of Asheville, died Sunday evening at the Morganton Asylum. Mr. Johnson was about 45 years of age. He leaves a large circle of friends and relatives in this section who are deeply pained at his death.

Wimpee's Fruit Gatherer.

A spherical wire basket, with blade that clips the stem of the fruit. Opens and shuts by a spiral spring worked by a thumb lever near the end of the handle. Merchants and consumers cannot pay the value of fruit, because, in consequence of the manner of gathering, the fruit is so bruised that it soon rots. Any farmer can save the cost of the "Fruit Picker," in the advanced price of a single load of good fruit.

This invention is a long felt necessity among those having fruit to sell. Price $2 50 without handle or $3 with handle.

The article can be obtained at Van Gilder and Brown's Hardware Store, Main street, Asheville, or "Farm Rights" with model can be obtained from my authorized travelling agent.

at 9 o'clock. Those who purpose patronizing the college are earnestly requested to have their children present at the organization on the 9th in as far as is possible.

The prospects for the next session are unusually good at home and abroad.

I take this opportunity of making on behalf of the Faculty of the College public acknowledgment of the assistance rendered us by the citizens of Asheville and Western North Carolina and by the press of the city in building up in our midst an Institution of learning which has already commended patronage from twelve States and which has the prospect of still more enlarged usefulness.

Very respectfully,
JAMES ATKINS, JR.,
sep 1-d1t & w2t President.

An Architect in a Quandary.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.

An interesting question has arisen in the Treasury Department in regard to the Custom House at Richmond, Va. An act of Congress, approved February 26th, 1885, appropriates 100,000 dollars for the enlargement of the building. The sundry civil bill, which act was approved march 3rd, 1885, appropriates 50,000 dollars for the same purpose. The supervising architect has asked for instructions in the matter before preparing plans and specifications for the building. He is undecided as to whether he shall prepare designs for a building to cost 100,000 dollars or for a building to cost 50,000 dollars. The question has been referred to the legal officers of the department for their opinion.

New York Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1st.

Trading at the stock exchange this morning has been quiet without developing any feature of special interest. Opening prices were somewhat irregular, St. Paul showing gain of ½, Union Pacific ½, and New York Central ⅛ as compared with last evening's closing prices, while the rest of the active list was generally ⅛ to ¼ lower, although Northwestern and Northern Pacific preferred were unchanged. In the early dealings there was a decline of small fractions, followed by an advance in which the most of the early losses were recovered; while coal stocks and Louisville and Nashville rose small fractions above the opening quotations. At 11 o'clock the market is quiet, but strong at changes noted, Lackawanna shows gain of ¾ per cent. Total sales during the first hour were 82,000 shares.

sept 3 d 21 JAMES BUTTRICK.

A paragraph from the Savannah Times in this issue dwells upon the increased demand for Southern lands by Northern or foreign capital, and the consequent inception of new enterprises. This reminds us of one great concentration of capital and enterprise in this mountain section, of which much is heard, but of which little, in detail, is known. The Scottish Carolina Timber and Land Company was chartered by the last General Assembly, to secure to it certain rights and privileges in this State. But its headquarters is in Tennessee. The capital of the company is a very large one, said to amount to several millions. Its objects are very much diversified. It gets out heavy timber from the mountains, and ships direct to Europe, or it saws the timber into lumber at its mills at Newport, in Tennessee, and ships it, or converts it into furniture. It has engaged largely in the culture of tobacco, and also in its purchase and sale. It proposes to erect sales warehouses at Newport and elsewhere, and provide a home market for the increasing tobacco crop of East Tennessee. In a word, it proposes to perform all the functions of capital wisely and energetically directed and applied. Its operations will not be confined to Tennessee; for we believe the company has control of large bodies of land and immense water power in Madison county in this State. If John Sherman will keep his mouth shut the South will continue to prosper and the North to reap its share of the profits. But Southern prosperity is what grieves Sherman to see.
