A fine line of Hats, Caps and Fur Trimmings will soon be opened opposite Eagle Hotel.

To-day a number of gentlemen interested in the No-Fence question were over to Waynesville to hear the case argued before Judge Gudgeon on the motion to grant an injunction on the prayer of Black Mountain township.

We are informed of a mistake we made in reference to the purchase of the Pigeon River Hotel. It was Mr. William Hallyburton of Durham, not Mr. Robert Hallyburton. The former named gentleman will come up next week to make preparations for opening the house.

The crowd in town yesterday was a very large one, several thousands. A few arrests were made of men who did not know how to behave.

The Sheriff of Madison last night accidentally dropped his hat under the high seat he occupied in the circus tent. Some provoler promptly possessed himself of it, and the Sheriff was left bareheaded. The proprietor of the circus, hearing of the incident, immediately sent money to meet the purchase of a new hat.

The circus train went safely across the mountains on its way to Marion, this dispelling the error that such, with its load of elephants, camels, &c., could not pass through the tunnels. Such a belief kept Sell's circus away last year or was made a protest. The train which left at an early hour this morning, seemed to have moved slowly, as it delayed the mail train coming west.

Dr. Wardlaw McGill and Dr. S. Westray Battle have associated themselves in the practice of medicine in this place, as will be seen by their card in this issue. Both of these gentlemen have every qualification to command respect. Dr. McGill was for some time assistant to Dr. J. J. Chisholm of Baltimore, and one of the Surgeons of the Presbyterian Eye and Ear Hospital of that city. Dr. Battle had the advantage of having been in that most practical of all schools—the U. S. Navy, and outside of that has taken a special course in diseases of the throat and chest under the celebrated Dr. Cohen.

The Knoxville Journal of the 23rd has the following to say of a Madison county man:

Mr. Jas. Nichols, of Marshall, N. C., who is in the city taking in the trade display and other attractions of the week, called at the Journal office yesterday, where he is always a welcome visitor. He showed us some beautiful specimens of the leaf tobacco, for which this section of North Carolina has become so famous. It is of the Orinoco variety, of a beautiful golden color, excellent body and faultlessly cured. This tobacco, so well adapted for wraps, always commands the highest market price. Mr. Nichols informs us that the tobacco crop of his section is a remarkably good one this year, the quantity being larger and the quality finer than usual. He has given this crop a great deal of attention, and we are glad to know that he has made money out of it. He knows how to produce, how to cure it and how and where to sell it. He is one of Western North Carolina's wide-awake and progressive men.

ASHEVILLE, N. C. THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 24, 1885. PRICE: 5 CENTS

A Railroad Accident, But No One Seriously Hurt.

A telegraph report says that the passenger train bound West, which left Asheville this morning was wrecked two miles east of Warm Springs to-day. Some passengers were hurt, but none seriously.

LATE—THE WOUNDED.

Mrs. M. Langbeek, Louisville, died last night and was buried at 10 o'clock yesterday. She was 72 years of age and had been ill for some time.

ESCAPE.

The calaboose here is no better than the jail here. Last night it was filled with prisoners, five were informed, arrested during the day and night for disorderly conduct. This morning it was empty. The cage had been torn to pieces, the windows thrown open, and strips of blanket hanging to the ground.

NEW TOBACCO SALES.

The new crop is coming in apace. At the Buncombe Warehouse the following sales were made Wednesday: Messrs. Studor and Lindsay—3 lots, at $11.75, $12.23 per hundred.

THE SPARTANBURG AND ASHEVILLE RAILROAD—THE FIRST CAR TO GO OUT OF TOWN.

N. C. R. R. car number 13,200 is the first to run out from Spartanburg Junction on the A. & S. Road. It was laden with crosses and went out as far as Walton Station, the present terminus of the road. Work is progressing finely now, the big hill two miles out from the junction is at last completed. To-day several car loads of new steel rails and four hundred kegs of spikes arrived and track laying has commenced in earnest, with all doubling Thomases.

LAST NIGHT OF THE FRIM-JACK COMEDY COMPANY.

The Miss Magdalen will be the play. Miss Frim's great effort. Give the Company a bumper at parting. The play will be the great feature of the season at Knoxville and elsewhere.

WELL SAID.

We would call attention to the attention of our readers. Dr. M. Lytle's Elixir we find recommended very highly for bowel complaints, and we most earnestly urge our people to provide themselves with either it or some equally good remedy for Diarrhoea and like complaints, for the peculiar value of this season is well calculated to produce such troubles, and they should be attended to at once, or they may become unmanageable.—Health Monitor.

OUR BREVARD LETTER.

Brevard, N. C., Sept. 22, 1885. Messrs. Editors—We have not had even a shower to disturb the usual quiet of our county since court-week, until the Equinoctial. It brought a gentle rain that lasted for two days. It was just such a rain as we needed, to cause the rye sown to come up and take root well before the severe frozes of winter come. The rye crop is an important one in this county, furnishing fine winter pasturage if sown early. It leaves heavy stubble on the land which, when properly under and limed, improves the soil to a great extent. It is very generally believed that Mr. Hill will receive the nomination for Governor. On the first ballot, the county democracy had not concentrated forces upon any candidate. The morning opens with everything apparently tending in Hill's favor. During most of the night Mr. Kelly's Lieut., Mr. James Mooney, together with Ed Hill and other Tammany leaders, were actively working among their followers in Hills favor. The Governor's headquarters in one of the Grand Union Hotel cottages has been thronged all the morning, and the Jacksons Club of Albany and other organizations have been parading the streets in front of the hotels carrying the Hill banners, and with bands playing. The Tammany men claim that there is no longer any doubt that Hill will be nominated on the first ballot, and they do not admit this, confess that Hill's position is much stronger to-day than it appeared to be last evening. The State is understood so far as yet marked out to be Hill for Governor, and Senator Jacobs of Brooklyn for Lieutenant-Governor. The sight of the Hill picture worn conspicuously along side Tammany ribbons which was not common last night, are almost a regular thing this morning. In fact it is as if Hill has captured the town. Cooper's claims seem to be rapidly lessening the county. The democracy at their meeting this morning, failed to agree upon any candidate, and this would seem another point in favor of Hill. The Hon. Nichols Miller, who is here, as a looker on, but as usual keeps well posted, says that the indications point very strongly to Hill's nomination on the 1st ballot. This is generally conceded, and on another hand, it does not appear that any combination of circumstances is likely to prevent. Abram S. Hewitt does not appear to be passing as a candidate this morning, and it is not likely that his name will be presented.

THE LATEST.

Raines, on taking the chair, addressed the convention at some length. All references to President Cleveland were greeted with cheers. Representatives of Anti-Monopoly League, State Trades assembly then addressed the convention briefly. Burke Cochran then offered strong resolutions against Civil Service Laws which were greeted with tremendous applause. These resolutions are similar to those adopted by Tammany some weeks ago.

Roman Catholic Ceremonies.

Baltimore, September 24. The Rev. Edward McColgan, Vicar General of the archdiocese of Baltimore, and Pastor of St. Peter's Church, was today invested with the purple Ruchet and Mantilla of a Monsignor in the Catholic Church. Arch Bishop Gibbons blessed the vestments and made an address appropriate to the occasion. The Pontifical mass was celebrated by Bishop O'Becker, of Wilmington, Del., Bishop O'Sullivan, of Mobile, and Northrop, of North Carolina, Monsignor Quinn, of New York, and a large number of clergy participated. The ceremony was at St. Peter's Church.

Manifesto by Jerome Napoleon.

Paris, September 24. Prince Jerome Napoleon has issued a manifesto to the people in which he says that he neither desires the restoration of monarchy, nor the adoption of the Utopian plans of reform. He accuses the Imperialists of pandering to the wishes of Bourbons, and of fomenting revolt, and concludes by saying that he and all members of his family will withdraw from participation in elections until France summons a constituent assembly, or assigns to the people the task of nomination of a head for the Government.

New York Stock Market.

New York, September 24. There has been noticed a tone to trading at the stock exchange this morning, which, after a moderately active opening, subsided into weakness. Active prices were somewhat irregular as compared with evening closing quotation, but declines in no case exceeded 1/8, except for Erie common which the advances were equally limited.

HARVESTING TOBACCO.

Out close to the ground so that no leaves remain on the stem, and lay carefully on the ground, keeping the leaves straight. They will be just enough to handle without breaking, put four rows of plants in a row of piles, and from 20 to 30 plants in a pile. The stacking horse is made of a piece of dry seven feet long, with two legs at one end, and of fencing. Make a mortise at upper end of two by four three inches deep, to insert the end of flat. A spud with iron points, slipped on either end of this, and you are now ready for stacking. In large tobacco cut fire or six plants evenly distributed on each lat. In small tobacco put on more, but do not crowd. To haul to the shed use a rack fitted to the wagon, six or eight feet long, and three feet and eight inches wide at the top, and four feet high. Commence loading at one end and press the lat close together till the rack is full. A man standing on this rack can pass the tobacco to the man hanging on the front of the wagon or boy in the shed. Hang the lat about seven inches apart. Small tobacco cannot hang closer, and very large not so close. When cutting, if the day be hot and clear, no tobacco should be left in the field during the middle of the day, as it would sun burn.

At such time in the morning, after the dew is off, only what can be taken to the shed before dinner. In the afternoon it may not do to commence cutting before three or even four o'clock. A part of this may be left over night in piles to be got in the next morning, if there is no danger of rain. Tobacco in snug piles is not damaged, much, by a slight shower. Never leave tobacco longer in piles if it was piled when hot, as it will heat, or coddle, as it is called.

Mr. J. B. Smith has been appointed Postmaster at Fayetteville, vice R. M. Orrell, suspended. This is as it should be. Mr. Orrell has no doubt been a good postmaster. He may not have been an offensive partisan. He was a party man for all that, and was in the position to take the consequences. No man can hold the position of postmaster in a large town without lending himself to his party; it may be unconscious, but most certainly efficiently. They all ought to go, and they ought to go cheerfully. They deserve nothing else, and they can expect nothing else.
