THE LESSON TAUGHT BY OUR LATE FAIR—VALUE OF
THE NIAGARA GRAPE.

Messrs Editors:—The general display of field, orchard and vineyard products at the Western N. C. Agricultural Fair, held at Asheville, was very creditable to our mountain section. It could not be expected that the society which is scarcely yet organized should manage a display of this character with the skill common to those long accustomed to make such displays. The uniform excellence, however, of the material shown was quite suggestive of the capacity of our transmontane plateau to excel in several products, notably, corn, Irish potatoes, cabbage, wheat, oats, rye, onion, beets, radishes, carrots, turnips, pumpkins, squashes, &c., &c. The display of apples, late peaches, pears and grapes, contained a significant lesson in regard to some industries which, I have no doubt, will be of great future value to this mountain section. Wherever our people can be brought to a proper appreciation of orchard culture and fertilization our orchard fruit will be without a rival. And as to grapes, I have long entertained the belief that our mountain valleys and gorges contain soils and localities peculiarly adapted to grape culture, and wine making. There are many abrupt mountain slopes, which by skilful excavation could be made into wine cellars which would insure a uniform temperature rarely, if ever, found in ordinary localities in a leveler country. I was especially impressed with a new grape on exhibition at the Fair Grounds, the Niagara. The size of this grape is above the medium. The clusters are large and somewhat compact, and a more delicious fruit it has not been my fortune to meet with. In the few berries which I had the pleasure of testing, I did not perceive that acid matter about the heart and seeds which I have sometimes met with in some other varieties. This grape brings fifteen cents per pound in New York, and such a grape promises the best results in our section for either the market or the wine cellar, and I am glad to know that Mr. S. C. Satterwater, Aiken, S.
C., is the Southern agent for the sale of this grape in our section, and is prepared to make liberal terms with parties desiring to plant vineyards. It is to be hoped, Mr. Editor, that our transmontane people will wake up to new methods, to more active industry and to more painstaking enterprise, and utilize the wonderful advantages with which nature has blessed them in climate and the capabilities of soil. Then will our field and garden products reach that superiority which is their due, and our orchards and vineyards stand with our rival.

The Georgia Cotton Case.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.
The U. S. Supreme Court to-day rendered its decision in the cotton case of E. Lamar, of Georgia, against Hugh Mc-Cullough, ex-Secretary of the Treasury.
The suit was brought in 1873 in the Circuit Court of the United States for the southern district of New York, to recover monies paid into the Treasury, as proceeds of the sale of several hundred bales of captured or abandoned cotton.
It was decided for the defendant on the ground that the law gives to the court claims exclusive jurisdiction in this class of cases, to which this one belongs.
The Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the circuit court.

THE TRIAL OF THE MORALISTS.

LONDON, Oct. 26.
The trial of Mr. St. Paul, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, and other prisoners in the Armstrong abduction case, was resumed to-day before Justice Lopes, at Central Criminal Court. Mrs. Ann Armstrong, neighbor of Mrs. Jarrett, who introduced a letter to Mrs. Jarrett, was examined for the prosecution. She repeatedly contradicted herself and denied that Mrs. Armstrong had asked her about the character of Mrs. Jarrett, or that Mrs. Jarrett had asked whether the girl was pure as was asserted by Mrs Armstrong in her testimony.

Accident in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, October 26.
About 8 o'clock this morning a gang of twenty trackmen on the Massachusetts Central road were being conveyed to their work by an engine and flat car.
The men were sitting on the sides of the car, ten on a side, when near Oakdale, without a second's warning, all the men on one side, were swept off, how, at present, is unknown, but probably, by a falling tree or telegraph pole. Nine of the men on the flat were either killed or injured. Ambulances were ordered at Massachusetts' general hospital to be in readiness for the injured men, who, it is expected, will arrive here this afternoon.

the Western (the old Bank) Hotel, as it light, tells that summer has gone, that Autumn is touching its most delicate tints, and at the top winter has laid its death color upon what for a few months it suffered to live in the verdure of Spring.

THE CLINGMAN TOBACCO CURE.
The following communication to the Washington City Health and Home is important:
Washington, D. C., Sept. 15, '85.
Gen'l T. L. Klingman:— My Dear Sir:—Last month I scalded my hand with hot coffee, causing the cuticle to peel off. I promptly made a liberal application to the wound of your "tobacco remedy," carefully wrapping my hand in a handkerchief to exclude the air.
The effect was magical. In less than fifteen minutes the pain completely subsided, and my hand became well in a week. Nothing surpasses your great remedy for curing scalds and burns, and my neighbors tell me that it is equally efficacious in rheumatism and other ills. I know many public men who swear by the "tobacco remedy," as the devout Mussulman does "by the sword of the prophet."
Your great discovery will cause generations yet unborn to thank you. You have given the oft-de-pounced "tobacco" an enviable fame-making it the chief stone of the corner, so to speak. Your achievements in arms and in statesmanship, brilliant as they are, dwindle into insignificance when compared with the discovery of your incomparable "tobacco remedy."
Very respectfully,
ROLLIN H. KIRK,
Counselor-at-law.

GRAHAM AFFAIRS.

A correspondent from Graham under the date of 23rd, gives the following items:
"We have had the first frost this morning to do any damage. The tobacco is all in the barns and producers well pleased with the growth and cure. This is the first year in the tobacco business in this county.
I believe the growth of tobacco here will prove more successful than in the counties where frost has prevailed this fall, the altitude here being sooner than in any county west of the Ridge, which makes our spring earlier and fall season later."
"We solicit tobacco growers to come and see for themselves. Our lands are cheap, and desirable situation can be obtained."

INFERIOR COURT

Is in session, Judge Shuford presiding, and all the officers promptly at their posts. The grand and petty juries are composed of excellent material. There are about 45 cases on the docket, and there are about 50 bills to send to the grand jury, so the court will have a full week's work. Judge S. is prompt, however, in his dispatch of business and in his decisions, and Solicitor Carter waste no time, so there will be but little left if anything, it matters not how much a docket there may be.
