They are still hanging negroes in Norman conquest.

This is from the New York World, State and it illustrates the difficulty of doing justice to the South even by those who claim to be our best friends. The first intimation conveyed is that of partial justice; we hang negroes, but let the white man go free. This is an infamous construction and assertion. The laws of North Carolina hang with equal weight upon whit- and black; unfortunately not heavily enough upon either. Executions for burglary are not common. The punishment of death is commonly commuted to imprisonment in the penitentiary. The first execution under the new constitution we remember, and of which we were a witness, was the celebrated Chapel Hill burglary case in which two white men and one negro paid the penalty of their crime. In this case, as in most other cases of burglary, attempted murder was complicated with the crime of burglary. We will hang negroes, and we will hang white men, so long as the punishment of hanging is attached to the offense. It happens that the negroes furnish by far the greater to Cornelius Vanderbilt. The four tion, or as containing a vegetable poison, the class Bar. We have obtained reports from the engineers who have used your coal which are of the most satisfactory character. They speak well of the coal in every respect. They all say that it is the best coal they have ever used to ming from the line of your roap.

FRANK HUGER.

We burned the Jellico Mountain Coal on the steamer Water Lily during last winter and think it preferable to other coal. It burns up without leaving so many clinkers as other coal. We are well satisfied with the Jellico Mountain Coal, after thoroughly testing it at our mill. We consider it the cheapest coal we try owing to the fact that there is less waste.

T P McDANIEL & CO. There is less dust and ashes from Jel ico Mountain Coal than any we have heretofore used.

C. B. WOODWARD.

I find there is less waste in the Jellico Coul than any I have used. It burns free and leaves buttle ashes.

J H BEAN, We find that there is less dust and ashes in our houses when we burn Jellico Mountain Coal than when using other coal.

We are very well satisfied with Jellico Mountain Coal. Cousider it the best on the market:
