

A Creaking Hinge

Dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pain. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, in cases which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals whose troubles have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of Rheumatism, after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy so good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. - R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system. - J. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health. - J. Frank, Independence, Va.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

PLYMOUTH AND THE PILGRIMS.

A Silent Village Disturbed by Tourists and a Base Ball Nine.

The Pilgrims have made so much noise in the world, and so powerfully affected the continent, that our tourists were surprised to find they had landed in such a quiet place, and that the spirit they have left behind them is one of such tranquillity. The village has a charm all its own. The houses are old-fashioned and square, with colonial doors and porches, irregularly aligned on the main street, which is arched by ancient and stately elms. In the spacious dooryards the lindens have had room and time to expand, and in the beds of bloom the flowers, if not the very ones that our grandmothers planted, are the sorts that they loved. Showing that the town has sympathy for human needs and eccentricities, and is not the work of a surveyor, the streets are irregular, forming picturesque angles and open spaces. Nothing could be imagined in greater contrast to a western town, and a good part of the satisfaction our tourists experienced was in the absence of anything western, or "Queen Anne" in the architecture.

In the Pilgrim hall—a stone structure with an incongruous wooden-pillared front—they came into the very presence of the early worthies, saw their portraits on the walls, sat in their chairs, and read the records of their doings, and imbued themselves with the spirit of the lives of their heroic, uncomfortable lives. In the town there was nothing to disturb the serenity of mind acquired by this communion. The Puritan interdict of unseemly excitement still prevailed, and the streets were silent; the air, so cold and bracing, with the placidity of Holland town, declared that he never walked in a village so silent; there was no loud talking, and even the children played without noise, like little Pilgrims. God bless such children, and increase their numbers! It might have been the approach of Sunday—if Sunday is still regarded in eastern Massachusetts—that caused this hush, for it was now toward sunset on Saturday, and the inhabitants were washing the windows and the fronts of the houses with the hose, showing how cleanliness is next to silence.

Possessed with the spirit of peace, our tourists, whose souls had been vexed with the passions of many watering-places, walked down Leyden street (the first that was laid out, saw the site of the first house, turned round Carver street, walking gingerly, so as not to break the spell, out upon the hill—Coles hill—where the dead during the first week of winter had been buried. This had been converted into a beautiful esplanade, grassed and gravelled and furnished with seats, and overlooks the old wharves, some coal schooners, and shabby buildings, on one of which is a sign informing the reckless that they can obtain there clam-chowder and ice-cream, and the ugly, heavy granite caper erected over the "Rock."

No reverent person can see this rock for the first time without a thrill of excitement. It has the date of 1620 cut in it, and it is a good deal cracked and patched up, as if it had been much landed on, but there it is, and there it will remain a witness to great historic event, unless somebody takes a notion to cart it off up-town again. It is said to rest on another rock, of which it formed a part before its unfortunate journey, and that lower rock, as everybody knows, rests upon the immutable principle of self-government. The stone lies too far from the water to enable anybody to land on it now, and it is protected from vandalism by an iron grating. The sentiment of the hour was disturbed by the advent of the members of a base ball nine, who wondered why the Pilgrims did not land on the wharf, and while thrusting their feet through the grating and land on the stone. It seems that there is nothing safe from the irreverence of American youth.—Charles Dudley Warner, in Harper's Magazine.

A Brilliant Yellow from Camphor. A brilliant and permanent yellow coloring element is now obtained from camphor. It can be used upon linen, cotton, and silk, with no apparent difference in density and brilliancy, and goods thus dyed are said to be entirely unaffected by the ordinary tests to which they must be subjected in use. Boiling for hours in a strong soap solution barely turned the shade of a cotton sample.

With indigo a handsome green has been produced. This new dye, it is stated, may be produced very cheaply and the processes involved are said to render it one of the simplest coloring matters to make and apply.—Chicago News.

An Appetite for Hot Water. It is said that people who have been in the habit of drinking hot water as a medicine for some time, form an appetite for it that is difficult to break. They want it hotter and hotter, and more and more frequently. It is possible that mankind is threatened with fluor mania, and that the time is coming when hospitals must be provided for the cure of victims to the hot water habit? Perhaps societies will be formed to induce men to pledge themselves to abstain from the intemperate use of hot water.—Texas Sittings.

A Very Rare Piece of Lace. One of the finest pieces of lace ever seen in England is being shown at the Edinburgh exhibition. It consists of a huge counterpane, more than two yards square, in point de Venise, and of extreme beauty and richness of design. It was made about 100 years ago for the reigning pope, and it occupied two or three lifetimes in the working. A few years ago it found its way back to the royal lace factory at Venice, whence it was added to the collection of Mr. Stuart Samuel, of London.—Chicago Journal.

Upward of 23,000 persons registered as visitors to Bunker Hill monument the past year.
