Scrofula

Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited. but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, uncleanliness and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores I was troubled with Scrollious Sores for five years; but, after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health.— Elizabeth Warnock, 54 Appleton street,

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly ewollen and inflamed, and the was badly zwollen and milamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been healed, and my health is restored. I am grateful for the good it has done me.—Mrs. Ann O'Brian, 158 Sullivan st., New York.

REJUVENATION OF OLD HATS.

Hourin a Shop on the Bowery-Go for Fair Weather

"What becomes of all the old hats?" hatter on Park row was asked.

"Oh, they go to the skinners, who do them up again and then ship them to the country. Of course, you don't know what a skinner is? There is one right across the way, and you can find any number on the Bowery and on Hester I inherited a scrofulous condition of the and Baxter streets. Go there if you want to find out something about old hats."
As long as it will hold together, a hat, be it ever so battered and shapeless, re tains a certain value in the eyes of the dealer in old clothes and the ragpickers. The Jewish perambulating merchants, whose melancholy monotons of "old clo'" is as familiar, will seldom refuse to invest their small capital in old hats. Crushed, frayed, and dim, they are carried off to be rejuvenated in frowzy back shops by Rebeccas and Josephs. It is wonderful to mark the transformation which the cunning touch of these man-ipulators can effect, or how their glue nd brown paper, blacking and dyed rabbit's fur can stiffen and smarten the mangiest old tile into the semblance of its early prime. An old hat refreshed at this perrennial fountain of youth is really a wonderful and creditable work of art. No old painting, worm-eaten and chocolate-hued, disinterred from a garret in Ghent or Nuremberg and furnished for sale to millionaire purchasers could be touched up with lighter hand or more trembling care. It at last becomes brighter than the new, sleek, trim, oily, and the sprucest, if not the most durable of hats. A thing of beauty it is but not destined for long to be a joy to the sanguine purchaser

One of the best known establishments in which old hats undergo a rejuvenating process is to be found on the Bowery. It is an old, narrow, and frowsy shop, filled to overflowing with old, misshapen things once appendages to the seat of human reason. In the years of its existence the old shop and its proprietor must have seen numerous changes in masculine headgear. The owner of the establishment, for some mysterious reason, is deeper than many of his brothers on Hester street and Park row in the secrets of the elixir which turns old garments into new. He is no conjurer, and never tries the proverbially difficult experiment of placing new heads on old shoulders. But how many, many times has he succeeded in putting old hats on young heads, especially in remote country districts. This Bowery Israelite is a real artist. His womankind serve him well, making it a abor of love to replace the lost nap, and handling the bare edges as gingerly as if the felt or pasteboard below were dynamite ready to explode under rough usage. Refreshed hats at this establishment are not dear either. They are quoted at from $1.00 to $2.50. Thirty-five cents represent the charge of the old clothes' dealer, the rest is for labor, embellishment, and fair profit. At $1.00 the pretty and brilliant Gable, Fish and Oystess will be served after the first of September in any style, and families served with oysters as delay for three consecutive Saturday afterway for three consecutive Saturday after-But at the first downpour of rain, glue and som and paint, silk and brown paper resolve themselves into their orig-inal constituents, and the whole fabric collapses like a dissolving view.

Lawrence Barrett at Cohasset.

Mr. Barrett kindly led the way to what he called his "den." No term could better fall to describe his orderly and ele-gant study. Upon the walls hung a perfect constellation of "stars," nearly all as he said, presentation portraits. There was Henry Irving as Hamlet, Forrest. Jefferson, Herr Barnay, an exquisite por-trait of Helen Terry, Bernhardt John and Charles Kemble, and over the mantel a life-size portrait of the veteran come and Illson, dian, William Warren. "Here," calling attention to a small profile portrait is the only likeness of David Garrick without a wig that I have ever seen. It is very old and very rare." Mr. Booth, of course, was conspicuously represented in this stellar gallery. There was not only a portrait, but a bust, and beneath hung a pipe which was Mr. Booth's solace for many years and has now become, through the gift of the tragedian, Mr. Barrett's cher-ished possession. Not only here, but in every reference to Mr. Booth the younger tragedian's noble and unselfish devotion to his friend was made ingenously apparent.

"Here," continued Mr. Barrett, is the Chandos bust of Shakespeare, and this is a George worn by Edmund Kean in 'Richard IIL' and presented to me on my last night in London by Henry Irving, with the request that I should sometimes wear We have just received a car load it." The lower part of the walls of the of goods from Grand Rapids, and room gave unmistakable and ample evidence of the scholarly tastes of our cultured actor. About two hundred volumes are devoted to the drama; the rest embraced a wide range of subjects and attested both the catholicity and healthfulness of the owner's mind.

Chloroform Sniffers.

These few facts I have learned from a druggist who in a lifetime has known many victims. He says that the faith of the morphine slave, however, is not more shocking than that of the confirmed taker of chloroform. The taste for this anæsthetic is becoming as great as that for morphine. Dissipation and nervous tension both produce sleepless nights. To woo sleep chloroform is used. "Hundreds in our large cities," said the druggist, "saturate napkins and handkerchiefs with chloroform at night and fall asleep in breathing the fumes. It was thus that Charles G. Halpin died after a week's debauch, and it was thus that the son and heir of a once prominent millionaire congressman from Boston passed away. The habit produces palpitation of the heart, and in time the victim is sure to be found dead in bad.—Philadelphia Press.

Burying the Dead. We arrrived at Shiloh in time for me to be detailed to help bury the dead. That is a duty in connection with army work seldom described. The mind dislikes to dwell upon it. The killing of the man is an exciting work. There is some excite-ment even in being in line with shot and bullets—in seeing who gets hit—in feeling that you are yet whole—but there is no redeeming feature in going out to the field of the dead and gathering the men like sheaves in a harvest-field and arranging them in a trench and covering them with earth. There is no other form of death so sickening as that of a well and hearty man killed by the accidents of battle.

Hour after hour we worked on at burying the Shiloh dead. I wish I could shut out the memory of that labor from my mental vision forever.—C. S. Smith in Chicago Ledger. Eagland has a short apple crop.
