SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 13, '86

WHAT THEY EXPECT.

The Greensboro North State says: We may safely say, that every independent voter who is elected to the legislature...

The contrary may be as safely said. No Democratic independent that we know of ran for any other reason than the belief that his party was strong enough to carry double.

We are for organization always, and we give no countenance to independent candidates. The results of the election do not change our views. But our independent friends did not agree with us, and they ran, some to victory, some to defeat, but still as democrats.

The best Salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, rheum, fever sores, better than any other, it cures all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required.

To Merchants and Business Men: Send your job work, for hand bills, letter heads, bill heads, professional and business cards, pamphlets, etc., to the Citizen Office.

Most of the independents are from the middle counties. They certainly will not aid in giving the blow so rain to the peace, prosperity, and even the liberties of so large a portion of the State as will be involved.

There is indeed a great responsibility resting upon these men. But the trust deposited in their keeping was not placed there by the republican party.

And the North State may profit by observation on the reaction which set in at once on knowledge of many unexpected results of the election.

The New York Times, the most reliable of Northern papers in gathering and tabulating election results, gives the revised list of the House of Representatives as follows:

"One hundred and fifty-four Republicans, 167 Democrats, and 3 Labor men. A new election will be held in the Second Rhode Island District, as neither candidate received a majority on Tuesday."

This gives the Democrats ten majority over all—which is a first rate working majority, if they will work together.—Wilmington Star.

From the Raleigh correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch we make the following extract:

It seems quite like a nightmare when one thinks of last week's anxiety and fear about the elections. The first news was appalling, and the great structure which the Democrats had reared seemed to be falling almost bodily.
