FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 7 '87

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

The following extract from a speech of a leading Democrat so well expresses our views that we give it to our readers:

Should it be a matter of wonder that the labor of the country is wedded to the Democratic party? Do people seek their destroyers or fall in love with their enemies? Can men who love liberty and justice find sympathy in those who would enslave and wrong them? It has been charged that an agitator and disturber and that I represent a sentiment foreign to the peace and prosperity of my country. Is it true? If to be just and equitable relation between capital and labor is to be an agitator, then I am one. If to stand forth as an exponent of the great principles of truth and justice as between those who toil and those who sell, is to be an agitator, then I am one. If to labor for just recognition of the legitimate fruits of toil and at the same time acknowledge the just and full rights of capital, be an agitator, then I am one.

But, my fellow citizens, it is not in these lights my opponents display me. They would have you look upon me as an anarchist, as one who seeks the destruction of social order, as one who would welcome chaos. This is false. Never for one moment have I entertained a sentiment that had not for its object the perpetuity of my country, the prosperity of her people and the protection of all property. With a singleness of purpose that turns neither to the right nor the left, with a sincerity unmingled with guile, with a devotion pure and simple, I have sought nothing but justice for the two great forces, capital and labor, the amicable relations of which, gives us every blessing which arises from the efforts of men. My fellow citizens, because I entertain these sentiments I am a Democrat. Entertain them I could, if I had nothing else. I find in the history of the Democratic party everything which tends to a confirmation of these sentiments and convictions. Early attached to the organization, my attachment to it has increased with the evidence which it is constantly giving of its devotion to the eternal principles of right and justice. Within its folds is the home of every man who toils. There he can find recognition, though he is in humbleness and poverty. There he will find the largest liberty, consistent with law and the greatest protection which justice can assure. These, my fellow citizens, are not vain words. I challenge a comparison between the actions of the Democratic party and the Republican party.

Does the dog wag the tail, or the tail wag the dog?

Have the Rads swallowed the Independents, or have the Independents swallowed the Rads, wool, ivory and all?

The election of a U. S. Senator by the Tennessee Legislature will occur on the 18th inst. Quite a number of prominent Democrats are named for the position with no definite idea as to who will win.

The facility with which capital and enterprise can organize competition with the Western Union Telegraph monopoly is illustrated by the rapid operations of the Mackay-Bennett Postal Telegraph Company. It is stated by the Portland (Ore.) News that within ninety days the Postal Telegraph Company has built nearly 1100 miles of line. The wires will soon be in operation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. While private enterprise can thus combat monopoly there is not the slightest need for the government to go into the telegraph business.

It seems almost criminal that more care is not taken for the safety of workmen who are employed at a distance from towns. When a railroad is being constructed laborers are huddled in wooden shanties, which when fire breaks out, as it does sometimes, are veritable death traps. The latest case of this kind is the burning of a steamboat on the Tennessee river, at Jackson, Ala., which was used as a boarding house for the men engaged in building a railroad bridge. Over a score of these unfortunates, it has been reported, were either roasted alive or drowned. There are calamities against which no precaution can prevail, but certainly a disaster of this kind is not of such a character.

How did Pearson get left on the Speakership? Was it a dicker, or wouldn't swag do it?

The Tennessee Legislature succeeded in organizing both houses on Wednesday. Ewing being elected Speaker of the Senate, and Clapp Speaker of the House, both Democrats. Strong efforts were made to break the Democratic ranks, but we are glad to say the efforts proved futile.

Are we to have a second Webster in constitutional construction? What is the new Speaker's first name? Is it Dan? Will this new Daniel give judgment that a few select favored counties can dispense with the present county system and let it still prevail in the black counties? What will his negro allies say to this? They will acquiesce; they will swallow anything to beat the White Man's Democratic party in North Carolina.

There's some apprehension in the camp of the railroad monopoly lest the Democrats in the Nebraska Legislature shall unite with the Republican friends of Senator Van Wyck and elect him over any other candidate whom the regulars may nominate. This is what the Nebraska Democrats ought to do by all means. Senator Van Wyck is the unquestionable choice of the State, as was shown at the ballot-box in accordance with the act providing for such an expression of preference for Senator. In fact, he had no competitors. If the Republicans of Nebraska will not obey the law and the mandate of the people, the Democrats ought to set them an example. General Van Wyck is not an ideal Senator or statesman, but he has been steadfast in his attitude of hostility toward the oppressions of the railroad corporations that wield so much power in his region of the country. For this reason he is hated by the railroad monopolies, cattle syndicates and all other combinations against the public, and they will leave nothing undone to bring about his defeat. His election under such circumstances would be a genuine popular triumph, and it would be all the more gratifying if it should be achieved by Democratic votes.

TAX NOTICE

The Tax List for 1886 is in my hands, and payments thereon are past due. All parties who have failed to pay said taxes are hereby notified that the same must be paid, at once, or I will be compelled, how ever much I may desire to do so, to sell property to satisfy the same. The law is imperative, and I am compelled to obey it. J. M. BECHT, Tax Collector.

THE STATE'S FINANCES.

The biennial report of State Treasurer Bain shows that the balance on hand Nov. 30, 1884, was $947,068.56, and on Nov. 30, 1885, $532,521.32. The receipts for the fiscal year ending Nov. 30, 1886, were from all sources $843,048.28; the disbursements, for all purposes, $1,180,018.16, and the balance on hand Nov. 30, 1886, $195,550.44, made up, as we have stated before, as follows: Educational fund, $23,223.38; public fund, $106,402.84; four per cent interest, $65,924.22.

The total receipts for the school fund during the two fiscal years have been upwards of $14,000; the total expenditures have been upwards of $12,000. The available assets of the educational fund are $99,250 of four per cent coupon bonds which sustain a par value in the market.

The receipts from the tax on fertilizers for the two years have been $82,500 and from dividends on the State stock in the N. C. R. Co., $269,310. The ordinary revenues during 1885 were $209,917.62; during 1886 $650,601.03; the large increase of revenues the latter year being due to the suspension of the collection of state tax on property in the year 1884 in consequence of the payment of $600,000 by the authorities of the Western North Carolina railroad on May 1, 1885, which amount was applied to the payment of the expenses of the year 1885.

The expenditures during the years 1885 and 1886 for the agricultural department were $82,500; for interest on bonds $279,435; for the executive mansion $2,068.36, and for investment in four per cent State bonds $247,815.98. The estimates of the treasurer for future expenses during each of the ensuing two years amount to $697,650, including $57,000 for the general assembly and the estimates for state institutions elsewhere given. In summary they are: for the support of the government, $269,750; for charitable and penal institutions, $131,900; interest on 4 per cent bonds, $114,000.

The estimated resources amount to $792,997.06, at a tax of 23 cents which reduction from the present rate the treasurer recommends. "A further reduction," Mr. Bain says, "which was desired, is rendered impracticable by the large decrease in the valuation of property in the last four years, causing considerable loss to the treasury annually, the necessarily increasing appropriations to some of the institutions and the uncertain results of the reassessment." The existing law, will be made the present year.

The treasurer reports the investment in 4 per cent state bonds, and the compromise, commutation and settlement of the state debt required by law, and gives the total required debt of the state as $12,827,045.

He says correspondence addressed to the treasury department shows that many holders of the bonds of the state are yet either unfamiliar with the terms of the compromise act or ignorant of any provision for the adjustment of the debt. He therefore recommends that the act of March 4, 1879, be extended to January 1, 1889.
