FROM RALEIGH.

But Little Transpiring in the Senate—Convicts to Work Certain Canals and Roads in Eastern Counties—Speaker Webster Overruled, but Protests—Pearson's New County Government Bill—A Criminal Court for Buncombe—Associate Justice Davis.

(Special Dispatch to the Citizen.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 12. In the Senate to-day a bill was introduced to amend the Charlotte, Cincinnati & Chicago Railway, and allow 350 convicts at $125 each per annum.

The bill to repeal the stock law in Edgecombe was indefinitely postponed. The bill to allow Vance county a Representative, which was tabled yesterday, was reconsidered and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The President announced as committee on Justices of the Peace: Elias chairman.

Last night the House took up the bill to grant the State Board of Education 325 convicts for use in constructing and completing canals and roads in 13 counties in the eastern part of the State.

Speaker Webster ruled that the bill could be divided and considered separately for each county. From this ruling there was an appeal to the House, which by a vote of 59 to 40, refused to sustain the Speaker.

The House came to a vote near midnight, and the bill, every amendment having been voted down, passed its second and third readings by a vote of 69 to 18, just as it came from the Senate.

To-day Speaker Webster rose to question of personal privilege. He protested against the action of the House in overruling him, and the House by a unanimous vote let his protest go on the Journal, after the members who voted against him had admitted that his decision was right, and that they had so voted solely because they feared the bill would pass.

Among the bills introduced in the House to-day the chief were the following: By Mr. Pearson, to amend the County Government law that the people shall elect Magistrates and Commissioners, the former to give $1,000 bond, and the latter $5,000 each.

The bill to repeal the Stock Law in Vance county was tabled, while one to repeal that law in the District composed of Warren, Vance and Halifax passed, as did one for Franklin county. In the latter case the people are to vote on the question.

The bill to abolish the Inferior Court and establish a Criminal Court in Buncombe passed its second and third readings. Last night at 11 o'clock Governor appointed Joseph J. Davis Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, to fill the vacancy caused by Judge Ashe's death.

A Chattanooga special says; "Paul M. Atkinson, of this city, who achieved quite a reputation as manager of Lula Hurst, the young lady who possessed such marvelous magnetic powers, was married to that lady at her home near Cedartown, Ga. Miss Hurst, since her wonderful power deserted her, has been attending school and graduated in December last. It is reported that her fortune of $200,000 she amassed while on the stage, has been trebled since by lucky investments."

It will be remembered that Miss Hurst gave an exhibition of her wonderful powers in Asheville, this several of our citizens tested this power fully and found themselves unable to combat it or to account for the manner in which she handled the strongest or indeed a goodly number of them at one time.

Anecdote of Gen. Grant. General Grant, on his return to this country, is said to have been severely afflicted with a cough, contracted while crossing the ocean, and which had stubbornly refused to yield to any treatment. He remarked to his friend: "Men look upon me as a great soldier, but this bottle of Symplyph is greater than I. My calling has been to destroy men's lives, but this medicine is a victorious savior of men. I shall never be without it again."

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

WHAT THE LEGISLATURE WILL ACCOMPLISH—WHAT THE REPUBLICAN-INDEPENDENT ELEMENT WOULD LIKE TO DO. BUT THINGS AFT GANG AGLEE—NO HARMONY IN THEIR ACTIONS—SCENES IN THE SENATE—PRESIDENT STEEDMAN, AND THE PERSONNEL OF THE SENATE—SCENES IN THE HOUSE—THE RAILWAY COMMISSION BILL—THE COUNTY GOVERNMENT BILL, &c.

(Special Correspondence of the Citizen.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 12, 1887.

The general opinion of this legislature is that it is a body which will not distinguish itself by doing any great things. It will pass the revenue bill, establish an Agricultural and Mechanical College, remodel or rather reduce the expense of the Department of Agriculture, pass some bills incorporating railway companies and will then go home. The Democratic Senate promptly neutralizes any important things the Republican-Independent House does, so that harmful legislation is not to be feared. It is good that there be such a check upon the House. Dr. York would like, and no doubt expected, to ride rough-shod over every Democrat in the State and there are smarter men in the Legislature than Dr. York, even if he does have all the radicals in the State.

Speaker Webster ruled that the bill could be divided and considered separately for each county. were all anxious to go upon the record, and so were their opponents. Pinnix was the author of the bill. It was his pride, his only joy. To-day the long and short of it is that Pinnix was whipped—that's the word. Mr. Candler had voted the other day against tabling the bill, the latter came up as a special order to-day. Pinnix attempted to call the previous question, but he got no vote among the Republicans, and the Democrats overrode him. Overman moved, quick as he could catch the speaker's eye, to indefinitely postpone the whole matter and thus delegate it to the "limbo of the lost" for this session at least. Overman and the Democrats triumphed. The vote in favor of indefinite postponement was 55 to 49. The other way—a neat majority of 9. To the great disgust of the Republicans, two of their party, Candler and Crisp, voted for indefinite postponement; of the independent Lindsey, Parham, Pearson and Waters voted the same way, while that party only Pinnix voted against the proposition to indefinitely postpone. There were five "pairs." One negro radical, Ward, voted "nay" after it had been decided on the best authority (that of Parham and Crisp) that he had no vote, but he was paired with Patton. But that way "it was a glorious victory."

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Feb. 12th, 1887.

ALERT, Editors.—Allow me to offer a suggestion through the columns of your paper which may confer a benefit upon the town without adding to the expenses, and that is, a very great nuisance might easily be removed by a stroke of the pen of the worthy Mayor in issuing an order for the alteration of all gates opening outwards on the sidewalks within the city limits. It is very annoying to ladies especially, with their elegant shoes, to be compelled to step off the sidewalk into the muddy road before they can proceed on their journey, by reason of an eight foot gate barring their legitimate line of march, and not the less for gentlemen leaving business between the celestial and electric lights, to find themselves confronted by a "gate star" which acts in proportion to their desire in reaching home as a "battering ram" or "chevaux de frise," taking away their appetites for supper, and probably crushing some delicate article which is being taken home as a surprise to the wife or family, or that which is worse making the unfortunate victim speak such decided utterances which should be as an unknown tongue to polite society.

If a well-poisoned we be to those who drink thereof. It is worse to poison the fountain of life for one's self, and for posterity. Often by carelessness, or misfortune, or inheritance, this has happened. Ayer's Sarsaparilla frees the blood, the vital stream, and restores appetite, strength and health. No other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs, colds and all derangements of the respiratory organs tending toward consumption. In all ordinary cases it is a certain cure, and it affords more relief for the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease. Judge Walter Clark says: That the law in regard to the prompt certifying of Supreme Court opinions to the lower courts is a very important and proper one. It will save much delay, and often times hardship. It provides that opinions shall be certified by the clerk of the Supreme Court to the clerks of the Superior Court the first Monday in each month. The former law is that opinions shall be certified down after each term of court. The House has passed this bill as it came from the Senate, and it is now law.

THE COUNTY GOVERNMENT BILL. You have been advised by wire as to the result of the long fight over the bill to abolish the present system of county government. The Republicans desired to gain a lot by its passage in the house, but they failed, sadly. They

The country is to be congratulated on the termination of the great strike in and around the city of New York, by which wages are restored to the rate of twenty-two and a half cents per hour that obtained before the reduction to twenty cents, which was the immediate cause of the strike.

The theory upon which our constitution was based, and upon which all our free institutions must stand or fall, is that the government must do nothing for the citizen that the citizen can do for himself. The idea is in direct conflict with those which prevail in the despotism of Europe, and which have resulted in so much oppression and poverty among the working classes of those countries. The European doctrine is that the citizen must do anything for himself that the government can do for him. In the one case the American doctrine teaches self-reliance, self-dependence, results in self-development, and emancipates the citizen from that thralldom and dependence which weaken his moral and physical nature, and result in servility and debasement. The evils are inevitable.

Now is the time for moderate counsels. Labor and capital have suffered so severely from the conflict that both must realize that to renew it without the gravest cause would be madness. Hot-headed and irresponsible agitators on the one side and too rigid disciplinarians on the other must give way to moderate and fair minded men capable of realizing the conditions of employment that exist to-day, and of making sacrifices of pride or profit for the benefit of all the people.
