AND STILL WE GROW.
A portion—about twelve acres—of that splendid Murdock property in North Asheville was sold Monday by Mr. A. J. Lyman, Real Estate Broker, at auction. It was divided into lots of five size, and well laid out. A large crowd was in attendance, and Mr. Davis of the firm of Davis and Carter, auctioneers, cried off the property.

DEATH OF CREED F. YOUNG, Esq.
Many a Western Carolinian will hear with sorrow of the death of the above gentleman, which occurred at his home in Burnsville, Yancey county, Sunday night, Mr. Young was a prominent citizen of his county, and deservedly popular, his genial, kindly nature making all his friends. He twice represented his district in the State Senate. He was a brother-in-law of Judge John S. McElroy of Madison. Mr. Y. was about 50 years of age.

NOTICE TO WATER CONSUMERS.
Dr. Millard, Superintendent of the Water Works, was compelled to cut off the water supply yesterday, owing to the small supply in the old reservoir. It will be turned on to-day, but all parties are requested to use it as sparingly as possible. He will examine the new water works to-day, to ascertain how soon that supply will be available. Dr. Millard reserves the right to cut it off entirely if the amount used, while the supply is so limited, is not used prudently. It is hoped that all will observe these suggestions.

The Continentals of New Orleans Picnic With Ex-President Davis.
SKY-ROCKETS GET IN THEIR WORK—AN ENTIRE PENNSYLVANIA OIL TOWN DESTROYED.
AMERICANS CELEBRATE THE FOURTH IN SCOTLAND, AND ENDORSE GLADSTONE AND HIS IRISH POLICY.

Horrible Fire in Pennsylvania.
PITTSBURGH, July 5.—A special from Erie, Pa., says: The town of Clarendon, in the upper oil country and on the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad was almost wiped out by a conflagration last night. Over one hundred business houses and dwellings, including Weaver's hotel, Logan's hotel and the postoffice were consumed before one o'clock this morning and the flames are still spreading. The town had no fire department and the people were compelled to fight the flames with buckets of water. The conflagration started at 11:30 o'clock last night in Weaver's hotel in the middle of the town, and in an old mill on the outskirts. It originated carelessly use of fire works, and reaching oil tanks the destruction of the town was speedily wrought. John Stewart was caught in the bursting of a tank and was cremated. It is feared many have shared a similar fate. All the business part of the town is destroyed, and at one o'clock this morning Henry's hotel and the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad depot were burning. The buildings being of pine and hemlock burned like tinder. The greatest excitement prevails. The valley is full of fire and nothing oil, and the people becoming panic stricken fled to hillsides for safety. No estimate can be put upon the loss, but there is every reason to believe that it will reach a half million dollars. There is but a little insurance.

Ex-President Jeff Davis on the Glorious Fourth.
NEW ORLEANS, July 5.—The Continental Guards of this city went on a picnic to Beauvoir, Miss., yesterday and in body called on Mr. Jefferson Davis. Capt. Downs made an address. After referring to "the day we celebrate," he said: "I mention the fact that our membership is composed of wearers of the gray and the blue to convey the idea that that all past bitterness is buried. Again thanking you on behalf of our members and ladies accompanying us, I would add that it is our intention to picnic in your neighborhood and that we would be pleased to have yourself and family join us." Mr. Davis replied in words to the following effect: "This day is one which is full of memories very dear to us. Your uniform carries my mind back to the time when our fathers fought for great principles set forth in the Declaration of Independence. Equality of men and right of the people to govern themselves; in other words for the principle that all powers of government depend on the consent of the governed. These principles our fathers maintained. Yours is a uniform that carries us back to times when our people made sacrifices of blood and treasure for a cause that was dear to them. My father bore arms in that war and my wife's grand father was also a soldier in the revolution. Your uniform is therefore dear to the hearts of both of us. We may not dwell upon the subject yet we cannot avoid reminding you that the men of this generation through four years strife and sacrifice of blood and treasure sought to maintain the great principles of the Declaration of Independence and of the Constitution of the United States. As your Captain has just said those things belong to the past. I do not seek to revive them beyond pointing out that you fought for right and let your children remember that their fathers were neither rebels nor traitors. In conclusion Mr. Davis thanked the Continentals for their visit and remarked that Mrs. Davis, although unwell, had risen from her couch to receive them, and show her appreciation of the honor tendered. The Continentals and guests, after spending a pleasant day at Beauvoir returned to this city.

The Postmaster General established yesterday 350 new money order offices, and 190 new postal note offices throughout the country.
The Baltimore Plow Company of Baltimore, made an assignment yesterday. Frederick W. Whitman and Ezra B. Whitman, agricultural implement dealers, also made assignments.
The Chattanooga iron market shows evident signs of improvement, prices having advanced from 50 to 75 cents per ton for pig within the past week. Orders from New York, Boston and other Northern and Eastern markets increasing rapidly, and very urgent.
The proprietors of the Portland Oregonian celebrated the fourth in that section by brilliantly illuminating the summit of Mt. Hood, the highest snow-capped mountain in that State, which reached an altitude of 12,720 feet. The illumination was seen from points from 50 to 75 miles away from the mountain.
James Chastine and Hoop Boyd, drunk, had a difficulty yesterday at Coalinga, 10 miles from Birmingham, Ala., when Boyd slapped Chastine. The latter went to his home, loaded his gun with buckshot, returned to where Boyd was, made him hold up his hands and shot him, killing him instantly. Chastine gave himself up.

Bill Arp Goes a Fishing.
I am going fishing tomorrow and stay all day. I will rig up a big wagon and take the children along and a big basket of lunch and we will fish and frolic and gather flowers and eat and talk and laugh and get dirty all day long. The signs are all right for the dogwood to be in bloom and the wind is in the South and it is the dark of the moon and I think I see myself jerking the big beam from under the log. Carl knows every hole in the creek and he can catch more fish than I can and don't try half as hard. Jessie wants to pick flowers, and I've promised her she may wade in the branch, but her mother don't know it. Jessie comes to me and Carl goes to his mother for favors. What a pity grown folks can't be children once or twice in a while and wade in the branch too. The next time Judge Bleckley goes to Screamer mountain to be a boy again and go barefooted and make hickory whistles and chestnut fives and catch spring lizards and crawfish and climb trees for birds' eggs, and make black ants fight, and run ground squirrels to their holes and dig angelica and kill snakes and rock hornets' nests and fight yaller jackets, I'm going with him. I'm tired playing man all the year long without recess. It is a sort of hypocritical life. I envy the children. The scriptures say "unless you be as one of these little ones ye shall not get to heaven." So it's time to begin and therefore I'm going a fishing. That's a good Scriptural occupation anyhow, for one of the disciples said, "I go a fishing," and the other replied, "I go with thee also." I wonder if they had any hooks and like poles we have. Going a fishing and coming from a fishing are two very different things. They are no kin. We fix up our hooks and lines and split bulbs and cob every empty bottle and jug of its kind, and dig the back yard all to pieces for bait, and make great preparations, and imagine the fish are just waiting for us, and we can see the pole bending with a big on-darting around, and that's pretty much all of it—imagination. But it is the most hopeful thing in the world. We swear off, but in a week or so we want to try it again. We most always hang one or two, and sometimes get a big one on the edge of the bank and he gets away. Right here the dictionary is at fault, for there is no word in it that fits the case—that expresses the ineffable goodness of the occasion. It makes a feller feel sick at the stomach.

IMPROVEMENTS—MANUFACTURIST ADVANTAGES—PROSPECTS.
WAYNESVILLE, N. C., July 5.
The town commissioners have held the streets surveyed by a competent civil engineer, and the work of grading is being pushed forward. Contracts have been let for one mile of side walk pavement to be laid with hard brick, with stone curbing, and one mile of plank side walk. There is sufficient money in the town treasury to pay for these contracts, also to complete the side walk on every street in town. By October Waynesville will be able to boast of the best side-walks of any town in the State.
I understand arrangements are being made to have the streets well lighted. A bank has been chartered and in a short time will be open for business. The woolen factory of Killian and company is doing good work, and each day's operations adds new proof to the fact that manufacturing will pay in Waynesville.
The means is provided and a company will soon be organized for the manufacture of furniture. It is not deemed proper to state more now than that it will be managed by good business men, with ample capital for successful operation.
The G. D. S. Allen company is chartered, and are finding ready market for its proprietary medicines.
The Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopal congregations each have good houses of worship, full Sunday Schools and regular services.
Waynesville High School enrolled one hundred and thirteen students last session with an average attendance of ninety, and new improvements will be made and ample accommodations provided by next session to meet the demands of this rapidly growing school.
The Haywood White Sulphur Springs under the present management is giving satisfaction, and more guests have registered than at any previous time this early in the season.
Visitors to Waynesville will find ample and good accommodations either at the Springs or in town with good lively accommodations.
Capital and working men are invited to Waynesville, the one will find good profit on his investment, the other liberal reward for his labor. Real estate is reasonable, rents low, and business good. Mechanics and brick masons are in demand at remunerative prices.
The engineer course is in the field looking for a road from Knoxville through Haywood, by Waynesville, and through Transylvania to South Carolina.
Waynesville, altitude, climate, and scenery with its present railroad facilities, and those offered by its contemplated roads, has advantages to command the favorable consideration of capitalists, and inspire its citizens with full confidence of its future.
Pluck and energy will make Waynesville what it was destined by nature to be, the gem of the mountains.
