The Economist says it has in its office a stalk of popcorn with twelve well matured "years" upon it. If this significant of twelve "years" of plenty, such as were foretold in Joseph's dream?
At Turner's yesterday we saw what we have never before seen in Asheville—crabapple and spitting and sputtering as lively as ever in a tub of salt water. They are from Charleston waters, and are a part of the coast delicacies which Turner now regularly treats his friends.

The greatest evidence that manufacturing here is a profitable industry, Messrs. Avery & Erwin, proprietors of the Asheville Furniture Factory, already have on hand more orders than can be filled soon. To meet the increasing demand for furniture, necessity forces the proprietors to enlarge the present capacity of their establishment. We need more manufacturing here, and must have them.
The new Methodist Episcopal church at the junction of Patton Avenue, Haywood and Buttrick streets has just been completed. It is a beautiful and substantial building. Services will be held in the church next Sunday as follows: Sunday School, which will be organized at nine o'clock, and preaching at eleven by the Pastor Rev. D. N. McInturf. Prayer meeting every Thursday night. The public cordially invited.

Forty cents on the hundred dollars' worth of property is all the people of Buncombe will have to pay, on per cent assessment, on the $400,000 subscription to the four railroads. If you own $500 worth of property your tax would be only two dollars per year. How many dozens of eggs, pecks of beans, dozen roasting, or pecks of fruit, or tomatoes, etc., do you require to pay their tax this year? If their subscription is voted, and these four roads are constructed—and no taxes will be due or collected until the roads are completed and used,—instead of $300 population Asheville will, by the time the taxes will be levied, have 15,000 or 20,000 inhabitants, creating a still greater demand for such products, and affording ready and regular sale for them.
Can't we afford this? Can the people of Buncombe afford not to vote the subscription?

ZACHARY AND ZACHARY'S
Meat market now occupies the new quarters at the corner of Court Square and College street. It is not a very pretentious building externally, being only one story high; but it is admirably arranged for its purpose. The entrance is at the angle formed by the intersection of the streets, the corner being cut back to admit a large convenient door way. On each floor are very large windows so that the interior is as light as "all out of doors." The arrangements inside are admirable—a large semi-circular counter, with marble top, resting upon masonry white oil cloth, shuts off the large area within in which are meat blocks resting on high pedestals; and the display of fat beef and mutton hangs suspended from the ceiling, but not touching the white walls. Attached to this room is a large refrigerator, adjoining is a room with steam engine and apparatus for sausage making. Water facilities are plenty, and cleanliness is a ruling idea on the whole premises.
Altogether it is an admirably arranged establishment, and will be as well conducted as it looks.

TO FURNISH A TABLE
With the daintiest of porcelain and the richest of crystal, is the aim of every clever housewife. Those who are best posted say that nowhere can this be done so readily as at Law's, opposite new post office; not only is the variety large but every article is in good taste.

THE GREAT BARBECUE!

ACTION BY THE CITY AUTHORITIES.
AUGUSTA, GREENVILLE & KNOXVILLE TO SEND DELEGATES.
Last night at the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen, Capt. Atkinson asked attention to and action concerning the proposed grand barbecue to be held in Asheville on the 24th, in behalf of railroad subscription. After hearing Capt. Atkinson the Board of Aldermen unanimously adopted the following:
WHEREAS, A mass meeting of the citizens of Buncombe is called to assemble in the city of Asheville on the 24th day of September to adopt suitable resolutions petitioning the county commissioners of said county of Buncombe to submit to the voters of the county whether they will authorize the issue of $100,000 in 6 per cent. bonds as subscriptions to the capital stock of each of four lines of railroads named in certain resolutions lately adopted in a meeting held by the citizens of Asheville; and
WHEREAS, At that meeting it was resolved to add to the interest and public comfort of the citizens called to assemble in Asheville on the 24th inst. by providing a public dinner or barbecue at which all who are interested are expected to be present:
Resolved, That we, the Mayor and Aldermen of the city of Asheville, in full accord with the spirit of a movement having for its object the material advancement of the city of Asheville and the county of Buncombe, in official expression of their approval of the said Mayor and municipal authorities be respectfully invited to send delegations of representative citizens of their respective communities to be present at the public dinner to be given in this city on the 24th inst.

Resolved, That the hospitalities of the city of Asheville be tendered to said delegations by the municipal authorities of the said city of Asheville.
Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each and every the Mayor and municipal authorities of the cities embraced in this preamble and resolutions.
HAYWOOD COUNTY—COURT WEEK—GOOD CROPS—NEW RAILROAD.
We spent several days at Haywood court this week. Saw a number of the goodly people of this goodly county, and found them in better spirits over fine prospects of business improvement than we have seen them in some time.
Judge Montgomery conducted and dispatched business in his systematic and highly satisfactory manner. All the officers were on duty and efficient. No case of general public interest occupied the time of the court. Haywood does not afford many criminals of the baser sort.
From every section of the county we heard crops were the best for years, in quantity and quality, and our neighbors will have enough to meet the needs of the result of their year's labors. The tobacco crop, while not up to the yield of last year in quantity, is far superior to it in quality, and will bring a high price. The proposition to construct the Carolina, Knoxville and Western Railroad throughout that county, crossing from Transylvania county over the Pink Beds to the head waters of the Swain River, thence down that river and through its splendid valley, to Knoxville, is attracting the interest of the people of the whole county. The people here are asked to vote a subscription of $100,000 to this road, and the election has been ordered for the 13th of October. We are surprised, some opposition to voting the subscription, and the general sentiment of the county to be very largely in favor of it, as it certainly ought to be. We will suggest to our friends in Haywood, however, that in these times a people who expect to be helped must do something to help themselves. If a rail road is worth having, it certainly ought to be worth the giving something to obtain it. If the people do not want another railroad, they can say so by their votes. They need not expect other opportunities to be so indifferent to such opportunities. Whoever county can get this road can well afford to give the $100,000 for it. It would be worth more to the county in a few years than that amount would be worth without the road in a life span. Seriously, this road is a prize we are struggled for, and the county getting it may well congratulate themselves. But to get, and get it promptly, the people themselves must do something to help its construction, and the amount asked is certainly reasonable. Let us all be up and doing, and avail ourselves of opportunities while they promise so much, will cost us comparatively so little.

Hon. Thos. D. Johnston reached Waynesville Thursday, having spent the first of the week at Mitchell court. Mr. Johnston is at home in Haywood, and the people there have great regard for and confidence in him.
Old Haywood is rapidly improving. It is naturally one of the best sections in the Union, and here, people, while conservative, are intelligent and progressive. The county is bound to grow.
DIVINE TOBACCO
Which from East to West cheers the Tar's labors and the Turk's rest, as wrote Bryon, in one of his hyper-oleic strains. A great admirer of the "mellow rich and ripe" weed, the more especially when it takes the shape of a cigar. We reckoned well the good cigar was the inspiration to the ode. Were he to live in this day, and puff a few of Pelham's choice smokers, he would write another and grander poem. Everybody enjoys the original Fan cigar, the A. & A. I. cigar, the Carolinas, the Perfectos, the Grand Republics, the Honey Bee, the Pelican Flora and the other brands that Pelham, the druggist handles, at 18 S. Main st. aug 26 ft

Mr. E. G. Carrier only sold a few head of his fine cattle at auction last Wednesday.
Don't forget to subscribe to the railroad dinner. Send in your list to the committee to-day.
A good brick sidewalk now occupies the place once filled by the long piazza of the old Buck tavern.
Regular services to-morrow in the Presbyterian church at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m., Rev. Mr. Bogan pastor.
If you haven't reported what you will give to the barbecue on the 24th, do so by 4 o'clock this afternoon.
Mr. J. H. Hall and family, of New Found, are in the city of New England, and will be here in a few days in the city.

Yesterday the sky had an equinoctial look, and was filled with driving clouds; but during the day no rain fell.
Clyde Station is to have a newspaper, with Mr. J. Wiley Shook, editor. Of course it will be republican in politics.
The Western Hotel will soon live only in memory. Yesterday the roof was attacked, and to-day the brick walls will be all that is left.
Mr. R. A. Hunter returns from his trip to Tennessee to secure laborers for the new road upon which he is engaged. See advertisement.
The reports we receive from the country as to the proposition to vote $100,000 each to the different proposed roads leading to Asheville is unanimously in favor of it. Come in, boys, on the 24th, and let us have a rousing time.

The inside finish of the Waynesville Bank is certainly very beautiful, being done in Haywood county curled poplar and ash. Mr. Felmet is doing the work, and of course is doing it elegantly. It will be one of the finest and handsomest banks in the State, and reflects great credit upon the enterprise of Mr. Howell, who is having it built, as well as upon Mr. Felmet the contractor.
Mr. N. W. Fain informs us that his grandfather Elisha Phillips living on North Hominy, is in good health, and quite active at the age of 99. The old gentleman is full of the spirit of his youth, and talks with an animation and vim that time bear him out.

Mr. Elisha Phillips farther died a number of years ago at the age of 104.
ALL INVITED.
The cities of Charleston, Atlanta, Charlotte, Wilmington, Raleigh, Norfolk, Baltimore, Knoxville, Greenville, Columbia, Augusta, Cincinnati, Louisville and Chicago with all intermediate points, are directly interested in the action of Buncombe in the proposed railroad subscription. We are pleased to know Mayor Harkins will invite all of these cities to send large delegations to be present on the occasion of the grand barbecue on the 24th inst.

Waynesville
Is making material and substantial improvement. New buildings are going up for business and residences purposes; the town authorities are making splendid street improvements; there are beautiful and capacious churches, and an excellent school; there are a number of good hotels; the new bank building is rapidly approaching completion; there are several large tobacco warehouses; and then there is the splendid Waynesville White Sulphur Springs Hotel which is the pride of the county. There is a very extensive and prosperous lumber yard and band saw-mills, which draws its supplies from Haywood and surrounding counties, and ships fine lumber to New York, New Hampshire, Boston, Maine and London. There are several smaller industries which are gradually but surely growing, and contributing to the well-being of the town. The outlook for their very beautiful and pleasant place is surely encouraging.

Collision on an English Railroad.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A destructive collision occurred to-day on the Midland Railway. A train filled with excursionists who were going to Doncaster to witness the races at that place collided with another train and was wrecked. Accounts of the disaster thus far received state that twenty of the excursionists were killed and many injured.
Fatal Fire in New Orleans.
By telegraph to the Asheville Citizen.
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 16, 12:30 o'clock.—This morning an explosion occurred at the corner of English and Dauphine streets, and a moment later the entire building was on fire and all escape from the upper stories in which the Messina family resided was cut off. Fire must have been burning some time before the explosion which was doubtless caused by the ignition of powder which Messina kept for sale. When the firemen reached the scene, the voices of Messina and family could be heard mingled with the roaring and crackling of the flames, crying for help. Every effort of the firemen to rescue unfortunate inmates of the burning building failed, and the entire family consisting of Messina, his wife and their four little children, were burned to death.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—During the past two days there have arrived in the city by the various railroad lines nearly four hundred thousand people, and to this must be added the vast number who have reached the city by other means than by railroad. There are at least half a million of strangers within the city today, and even with this throng in addition to the million of inhabitants, this page of history made yesterday passed away with not a single accident of a serious nature. Everybody was good natured, and forbearing and had but one object in their minds, the peaceable and happy celebration of the greatest event of civilized times. The enormous size of some of the displays in yesterday's pageant prevented them from occupying any other street than Broad; but to days demonstration being purely military. The display passed through all prominent streets, thus giving a greater number of people an opportunity of viewing display than were allowed yesterday by reason of the limited space afforded them.
When the procession had reached the exchange and the assemblage had come to something like order, President Cleveland was introduced and said:
"I am glad I have the opportunity to meet so large a representation of the business men of Philadelphia. It is well that we should not entirely forget in the midst of our centennial jubilee that the aim and purpose of good government tend after all to the advancement of the material interests of people and the increase of their interest and commerce. The thought has sometimes occurred to me that in the hurry and rush of business there might well be infused a little more patriotism than we are wont to see, and a little more recognition of the fact that this wholesome political sentiment is closely related, not only to the general good, but to the general success of business. Of course our citizens, engaged in business are quick to see the bearing of any policy which the government may adopt, as it affects their personal success and their accumulation. But I would like to see that broad and public sentiment among them which can see beyond their peculiar personal interests and which can recognize that the advancement of the entire country is the object for which they may well strive, even some times to the diminution of their constantly increasing profits. Must we always look for the political opinions of our business men, principally where they suppose their immediate pecuniary advantages is bound? I know how vain it is to hope for the execution of selfish motive in all affairs of life. But I am reminded that we celebrate to-day a triumph over selfishness. Will any one say that the concessions of this constitution were not well made, or that

I Had a Dreadful Cough, and raised a considerable amount of blood and mucus; besides, I was very thin, and so weak I could scarcely get about the house. Tricks of Summer Boarders.
There is no end to the mean and petty tricks that some summer boarders play. From the moment they enter your house they seem to do nothing but scheme how they can get more than they pay for. If they see that there is an unoccupied room they will ask that the children be allowed to use it till it is let, and if they once get possession they will do their best to prevent its being let.
I am considered unreasonable and unfeeling if I object to my hall and parlor being made into a playroom. And if the visiting "darlings" like to throw stones at the cow or chase the chickens, they ought to be allowed these country amusements.
Of course each family would like to keep a box of beer or some temperance drink in the ice chest, and when such a thing is declared impossible, remarks are made about "being so mean with a little bit of ice." The orchard and fruit garden must be free to the boarders, who waste or spoil three times as much as they could eat if the fruit were properly picked.
My sugar bowls used to be nightly emptied to sweeten lemonade, and my water cooler robbed of the ice in order to cool the same. I have now to lock my dining room as soon as a meal is over, and the lid of my water cooler is securely fastened down.
Let the boarding house keeper beware of the young baby who is stated not to require food supplied by the house. After the first meal the young mother says, "Really, Mrs. So and So, your milk looks so good that I think dear baby might try a little." You assent, and the next morning the fond mother calmly asks your servant "where the baby's milk is."—The Epoch.
