SLANDER.
A case was tried last week in the Inferior Court under the law punishing the slander of an innocent woman in which the party offending will learn the wisdom of putting a bridle on his tongue hereafter. We only know of the fact of such trial and such act of the court, without knowing who were the parties in the case. But we express our satisfaction in the result, while regretting that the law had to be applied to vindicate the cause of innocence.
Woman ought to have security from assault in the malignancy and chivalry of a man or a woman. It is an unprotected slave by that generosity of sentiment which not only shield her from wrong, and cherishes her as the ideal of that purity. Character is all in all to woman. Its maintenance is her very existence. If she falls, society is merciless in its unforgiveness. There is no retrieval of a fault or a sin. The character being stained, the effect is as deadly as a sin. The victim goes through the world marked with open scorn, or withered by the suppressed whisper of suspicion. Causeless, and even careless slander is therefore a deadly crime, because it is the doom of character. The blight that falls on the unhappy subject is the most pitiable that blights the human life. The bright hours of youth are blackened by the gloom that can never again be enlightened. Hope and happiness are gone; all share in the pleasures of the innocent are rejected, and the pathway of existence is made a lonely and dreary one. Men should reflect on the consequences of careless words and thoughtless speech. The idle hours of gossip, the possibly meaningless remarks on acts or words may possibly bear up in them the sharp arrows with which malevolence may slay a spotless reputation. Mischievous speech may be done unintentionally. When it is done purposely then we take pleasure in knowing that the law has power to vindicate the innocent if there is not manliness left to save it from attack.

TERRIFIC AND FATAL GASOLINE EXPLOSION.
St. Louis, Nov. 1.—A flash, followed by a dull roar, and then the crash of walls convulsed the center of this city at two o'clock this morning, and the clatter that followed carried the rumor of a horrible calamity that had befallen three families while wrapped in slumber. An explosion of gasoline in the rear of the cellar of Michael Newman, grocery store, No. 13, South Fourteenth street, had lifted the two story building from its foundation and dropped it back again in mass beneath which were buried over a dozen persons. They were, Michael Newman, aged 52 years; Mrs. Annie Newman, aged 40 years; Miss Mamie Newman, aged 15 years; Katie Newman, aged 11 years; Eddie Newman, aged 13 years; Charles Devere, Mrs. Charles Devere, Miss Hattie Brown, of Columbus, Ky. Bruised about the lower limbs were Charles Efferd, Miss Patty Bryant, and Mrs. Beasley. The explosion had scarcely wrecked the place before a devastating fire swept through the ruins. Aid was quickly on the scene, but in such confusion that the horror seemed to increase with their efforts to relieve the imprisoned victims. The people of the neighborhood were dumb-founded, many were bruised, and none in their normal state. They ran about the streets seeking friends, demanding explanations or mourning from bruises. The heat of flames that had swept down upon the ruins baffled the efforts of firemen, who had begun the first systematic work, and for a few minutes bid fair to spread in adjoining property, but good work was done and then began searching for the dead.
The store was on corner of an alley running through from Fourteenth to Force street, and was the North room of the building covering No. 2, 7, 9, and 11 Fourteenth street. The building, a two story brick, was completed but a short time ago, and only one store room was occupied. Mr. Newman and his family of seven lived over the store. The force of the explosion was terrific. The entire block of buildings north of and across the alley from the building in which the explosion took place were gutted by the blast. The Newman block crushed in, was covered by the roof which had settled down upon the ruins and formed a barrier through which the rescuers had to cut their way. Beams and walls impeded their progress, and the threatening walls on either side overhung ready to crush the gallant men, who hastened to the spot where the calls for help directed them. The roof was soon removed, and in the debris, were revealed the mangled forms of every one of the daylight comes word that all the victims had been removed.

A corrected list of the dead and wounded by the explosion gives eight dead and three wounded seriously. Six others who lived in the building reported missing have been found either uninjured or slightly bruised. Five of the Newman family are dead. Mamie is horribly mangled and burned and beyond all hope of recovery. Nellie lies in a terrible condition but may recover. Charles N. Devere and wife and Mrs. Agnes Beasley are dead. Miss Hattie Bryant is badly injured. There are many theories as to the cause of the explosion, but none are satisfactory. The mob which press around the scene excitedly by the explosion and their dynamite, but men of sense discountenance this idle practice. The general belief is that gasoline gas filled the cellar and that Mr. Newman kept a quantity of kerosene oil and gasoline in the cellar near where the explosion evidently took place. The rapidity of fire and fumes while it burned indicate this. The vessel and oil, if there was any, have been destroyed and the only man that knows is dead. Escaping gas theory is supported however, by the store boy who says that he noticed during the afternoon yesterday a strong smell of gas and before 7:30 o'clock he went through the building looking for an open burner. He did not visit the cellar. The tremendous force of the explosion is the cause of the greatest doubt as to this explanation. A great crowd lingers about the place but the work of rescuers is over.
Don't disgust everybody by hawking, blowing and spitting, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and be cured. d&w

The Indian summer we hoped for seems near at hand. Yesterday was calm and mild with a soft haze filling the sky.
The Knoxville Journal of yesterday says the snow of Sunday was from 4 to 5 inches deep from Lynchburg, Va., to Greenville, Tenn.
It is a singular coincidence that when the leaves begin to fall, the fall begins to leave. But the spring begins to "leave," when first the leaves begin to spring.
We omitted to notice yesterday, as we had intended, that Mr. Walter B. Gwyn and family have returned from a visit of some length to New York and other northern points.
Mr. T. J. Sumner will next week open a first class restaurant in the basement room under Redwood's store, and intends serving the public with fish and oysters of the best quality, served in the best style.
The quiet of the streets at present is somewhat noticeable. The undried mud densens the sound of wheels, and pedestrians are shod generally with india-rubbers, and the footfall is noticeably softer. It looks like a living dream, when there is so much of motion going on.
Mr. W. F. Cole informs us that on the farm of one of his tenants there is a gourd vine which has now hanging on it seven or eight large sized gourds, besides a considerable number of small and immature ones. This exceeds all instances of prolific yield we have noted in this prolific year.
Several additional wholesale establishments are to be established in Asheville by January, by gentlemen who have recently located in our city. A careful study of the field will satisfy any one that Asheville possesses peculiar advantages for a very extensive and profitable wholesale trade.

To Build From Cranberry North.
The Johnson City Contract informs us: "Col. T. E. Matson, chief engineer of the Charleston, Cincinnati and Chicago railroad, informs us that work will be commenced on the Three C's road in the breaks of the Cumberland, within the next ten days. Capt. H. W. Lamson, of this place, will have charge of the construction force and will leave this week for the breaks.
Messrs. C. K. Lide & Co., of wide awake hardware merchants, have contracted to furnish all the supplies for the line, and have ordered a wagon with a capacity of 6,000 pounds to be used in hauling steel and powder to the work.
The company will also use a force of hands at work here and work north to the coal fields right away. An engineer corps will be here to locate the line within the next fifteen days. Arrangements have also been made to begin work on the iron mountain tunnel this fall and work through the winter. By beginning the heavy work first this company has shown its familiarity with railroad work, and have gained the confidence of the people."
The above is the "Three C's Road," of which Col. Frank Cox is President, and with which the Asheville and Burnsville road will connect. The beginning of work on this line north of Cranberry is a most important move, and will probably place it in the power of the "Three C's" company to extend the road from Cranberry to Asheville at an earlier date than was at first anticipated. We learn that the work on this road between Cranberry and Asheville will be begun in the early spring, and prosecuted rapidly.

The St. Louis Post Dispatch suggests that Dakota should be compelled to knock the snow off her feet before coming into the Union.

People in California go to other States for their health, and people in other States go to California for theirs. The good things of this life are a long way off.
A singular story comes by cable to the New York Herald to the effect that Sunday last, at a dinner at Lord Salisbury's house, Mr. Blaine astonished every one at the table, and none more so than his host, by the vigor with which "he pitched into the Irish."
The son of a well known Louisville doctor emigrated to California where he engaged in the tombstone business. He wrote to his father: "There are but four physicians here and I think you would do well in San Jose. I know that with you nearer me I would be more encouraged in my effort to build up a paying business."
In the last thirteen years 4,934,418 immigrants have landed at the ports of the United States. The Germans have been in the lead, 1,364,113 of that nationality arriving; 1,364,113 from the British Isles; 679,420 from Canada, 482,181 from Sweden and Norway, 233,870 from Austria Hungary, 73,241 from Switzerland and France 71,419.
Somebody in New York is criminally negligent in permitting passengers from the cholera-infected districts of the Old World to land there and afterwards scatter throughout the whole country. A dozen italians have been found in Chicago fresh from Palermo, where the cholera rages, and others have gone no one knows where; next summer death may reap its horrible harvest.
Col. George Washington Jones, of Mississippi, is a portrait of a gentleman. He has sent a communication to the President in manner and form as follows: "As I desire President Cleveland to be re-elected I send him the left hind foot of a graveyard rabbit, that was killed in the dark of the moon. Tell him to preserve it carefully, and as long as he keeps it, he will always get there."
Spurgeon, the famous preacher, has withdrawn from the Baptist Union. He says in explanation, "To pursue union at the expense of the truth is treason to Jesus. To tamper with His doctrine is to become a traitor to Him. We have before us the wretched spectacle of professedly orthodox Christians publicly avowing union with those who deny the faith, call the fall of man a fable, and deny the personality of the Holy Ghost." He says however, that he does not propose to start a new denomination.

All "Played Out."
"Don't know what ails me lately, can't walk, can't sleep well, can't work, and don't enjoy doing anything. Ain't really sick, and I really ain't well. Feel all kind of played out anyway." That is what scores of men say every day. If they would take Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" they would soon have no occasion to say it. It purifies the blood, tones up the system and fortifies it against disease. It is a great anti-bilious remedy as well. d&w

OFFICE OF THE "WORLD."
New York, May 15, 1887.
In the fall of 1886 I was in a severe condition that I was obliged to cancel all my lecture engagements for the winter, and to give up writing. I went to Asheville and placed myself under the care of Drs. Hargan and Catchell. Continuing their treatment, I improved in health and strength, and was enabled to do as well as I feel better than I have for years.
I regard their oxygen treatment, as being of great value; they themselves, are gentlemen of skill, and worthy of the confidence of the public.

GOOD SALES.
Mr. G. M. Smathers of Pigson River sold at the Banner warehouse yesterday one barn of tobacco, 695 lbs. at the following prices: 7.131, 23, 29, 44, 50, the net proceeds of sale amounting to $150.97. Last week the proceeds of another barn brought him $153.53. He has still six more barns to sell. His barns are eight tiers, and two acres will make an average of three barns; so the value of an acre can readily be calculated from the above sales.
In addition to the above Mr. Smathers produced this year 272 gallons of sorghum syrup, corn, potatoes, wheat, hay, oats, cabbage, fruit and everything that a good farmer ought to raise, proving that he does not place his sole reliance on tobacco. We may add that he is well stocked with cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry, &c., and presents the character of a model good liver.

ASHEVILLE MANUFACTURERS.
Upon enquiry the past day or two of our various manufacturers as to the condition of trade we were greatly pleased to be assured by all, without exception, that their business was very excellent, specially their orders from abroad. Our business men are reliable, and their goods meet with popular receipt on wherever introduced. They are doing all they can to push their enterprises, and are constantly enlarging their supply to satisfy an increasing demand. They are specially pleased with the outlook for this winter and are bending every energy to meet the calls upon them. All Asheville needs is larger facilities for reaching the various markets to develop rapidly manufacturing enterprises. The outlook for our city is certainly most encouraging.
