We hear that Mr. Turner, late of the Asheville Cafe, is sojourning in the Land of Flowers.
The Rev. Dr. Beall who was hurt in the recent accident on the Lenoir railroad near Hickory, subsequently died of his injuries. He was a Presbyterian minister of Lenoir.

Parents are advised not to buy books for their children until after the school has opened. Children will be provided with a printed list of the books needed. Any error in grading will be corrected before the book lists are given out.

occurrences at Jackson, but he protested against any prejudgment of the case. Instead of mere anonymous communications, he desired that in the motives, provocations, grievances and surroundings of the people in that city, together with their actions, should be laid bare before the country, and that the verdict of the country should be had upon them.
Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, sent to the clerk's desk and had read a telegram sent on the 2d of January, by Attorney General Garland, to District Attorney Harris, of Jackson, in these words: "I notice in the papers that you are mentioned personally as participating in the political meetings recently at Jackson, to suppress the colored vote of that city and to prevent the colored people from running for office by violence and intimidation. Report fully to me at once the whole proceeding and your connection with it."

Horrible Times in the Northwest.
ST. PAUL, MINN., Jan. 12.—The railroad men agree that the storm of today is the worst ever known in the northwest for their business. It extends from the Rocky Mountains to Lake Michigan, but its worst effects are felt in Dakota and Minnesota. Everywhere it has been accompanied by high winds, which drifts the snow badly in northwestern Dakota, with below zero temperature, assumes the character of a genuine blizzard. The railroads had hardly finished clearing their tracks from previous storms, and that of today has absolutely blocked all small roads, though the through lines are battling bravely against the elements so as to keep the trains moving. The trains on the railroad to Chicago are from one to nine hours late, but all the main lines are still open and eastern trains left as usual to-night. All the freight trains on the Northern Pacific and Manitoba lines have been abandoned. A passenger train was sent out on these roads to-night. The Kansas City train on the road to Omaha, was also abandoned. Superintendent Edgar of the Manitoba road says its passenger trains are laid up at stations where there is plenty to eat. The St. Paul and Duluth is trying to keep its main line open, but has abandoned the branches.

Messrs. J. M. Green & Sons have one room of their handsome brick store in West Asheville completed and are now opening a large stock of heavy and fancy groceries. We wish them much success in their new enterprise.
Under the action of the South Carolina Railroad Commission the railroads are obliged to make monthly reports of earnings. For November 1887 the report of the Asheville and Spartanburg shows a business of $12,091.66 as against $4,063.46 for 1886 a percentage of increase of 197.50.

Work has been begun on the new depot at Charlotte. We did hear once of a new passenger depot to be built here. When shall we hear it has been begun? Such is badly needed, for the accommodation of the fifty thousand or more people who annually need the accommodation.
Messrs. Brevard & Blanton address an "open letter" to their friends and the public in this issue of the CITIZEN, which contains an important announcement. Read it carefully. It is an important step, and will redound greatly to the benefit of this enterprising firm and their many friends.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—SENATE.—The resolution offered by Mr. Chandler on the 10th of January instructing the committee on judicial affairs to inquire into the suppression of votes of colored citizens of Jackson, Miss., at the recent municipal election in that city, and into the alleged participation in such suppression by the United States district attorney, deputy collector of internal revenue and deputy United States marshal, was taken up and Mr. Chandler addressed the Senate in explanation and support of it. He said he had a communication from Jackson asking for such investigation and asserting that the facts stated could be proven by the testimony of the best men of both political parties. He had not yet in the resolution provided for power to send for persons and papers, because he apprehended that the facts would be all found on file in the department of justice. If that, however, should not prove to be so, he would desire to have the power given to make a complete investigation. He sent to the clerk's desk and had read several letters and telegrams received by him; also a manifesto which first conveyed to the colored people of Jackson the information that they would not be allowed to vote. This manifesto he said, displayed at its head the engraving of a couple of pistols, a couple of shot-guns and a powder flask. In it the young men of Jackson announced their ultimatum.

It declared that having seen one of the number (Hettishly) murdered in the dark by a negro policeman and the negro cursed city, that the corrupt radical negro government should and must be wiped out by any cost; that if the negroes ran for office they should do so at their extreme peril, and it warned all the negroes "against attempting to foist upon us this black and damnable machinery called government."
The colored citizens under all the circumstances surrounding them, had met in convention and had resolved that it would be unsafe for them to attempt to vote, and had consequently abstained from voting, so that none but white men voted. The federal officers engaged in the business were Messrs. Harris, district attorney, Wilson, deputy collector of internal revenue, and Livingston, deputy United States marshal. He submitted that the question, although it affected only for the time being, the municipal election in the city of Jackson was one of vital importance. The country this year was to enter on a presidential election, an election which was to decide the presidency and also decide the complexion of the national house of representatives. In that election at least 12,000,000 voters, representing 60,000,000 of the American people would participate. Among these voters were probably 1,500,000 of black men, representing 6,000,000 of their own race, and it was an important question whether the 1,500,000 black men were or were not to be allowed to vote. It was a question which concerned those citizens who desired a protective tariff whether that matter should be settled by a fair vote of all who are voters under the constitution, or be settled with 1,500,000 of those voters disfranchised, in pursuance of that policy which has been deliberately adopted in the capital of the State of Mississippi, where State was seeking to day to have an associate justice of the supreme court to aid in passing on the vitality of the constitutional amendments.

Special from Huron, Dak., says the wind is blowing fifty miles an hour, and the air is so full of snow that one is unable to see fifty feet at any time. Some unthinking teachers dismissed young school students, some of whom were to go four or five blocks across the open land. Five or six children got lost. Whistles were blown, bells rung, and the people turned out and took long ropes and walked fifteen or twenty abreast, back and forth, over the ground. They have found two, but the others have not yet been discovered.
The mercury is four degrees below zero and has fallen twenty-eight degrees since ten o'clock. Bismark reports that children who started for school were forced to turn back by the fury of the storm. Pierre, Dakota, specials say the wind is blowing sixty miles an hour and it is impossible to see fifteen feet. Three trains are snow-bound at Rea Heights, and there is a reported collision between two freight trains at the same point. Minot, Dakota, reports a storm raging there for twenty-four hours, and the temperature fifteen degrees below. All railroad travel is suspended. Jamestown, Dakota, reports no trains moving on the main line of the Northern Pacific. Grafton, Dakota, reports the wind blowing a gale, the mercury twenty below and impossible to see more than two rods. In St. Paul the parade and other ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the third ice palace were postponed to Saturday.

Charlotte raised $85,000 in a few minutes for a new cotton factory. Salisbury started with one, and was so much pleased that stock was soon taken for another. Asheville has one, and we hope soon to hear of a move made to start a second. They will not be in each other's way. Their market is the open world. The more factories the better.

There will be general rejoicing when building operations on Patton Avenue and Court House Square are completed. The nuisance of material obstructing the side walks becomes almost unbearable in such weather as the present. Only the knowledge that great good is near at hand gives patience to submit.
Thursday night will be remembered as one of storm. As the disagreeable day closed there were notes of the gathering storm; and soon sleet and then snow began to fall, driven by a tempestuous wind. This turned to rain which froze as it fell, and those who were compelled to be out had a hard road to travel. All through the night, and until 8 o'clock the next morning the walking was difficult and dangerous, and there were a number of falls, but none dangerous. The temperature rose, and the ice rapidly disappeared, and a fair day followed. But the mud was fearful.

The farmers of Wake are largely turning their attention to clover, one of them Mr. W. G. Upchurch preparing to sow down seventy-five acres. If they are emboldened to such effort in Wake, where neither soil nor climate are so suitable as here in the mountains, why should not our farmers be a little more active than most of them. Some of them down the river, under the influence of the French Broad Farmers Club, are doing well. We think Mr. F. Randolph Curtis last year seeded down 250 acres in clover, and others around him also seeded a large breadth. Why should not such examples become contagious?

ANOTHER SAD DEATH.
We are again called upon to chronicle a death in our city. About 7:40 p. m. last evening, Mr. Geo. H. DeVaut, after a few days illness, passed away. Everything was done for him that skill or friendship could suggest, but to no avail. He was about 23 years old; and a most exemplary young man, greatly esteemed by all. He was an earnest, faithful member of the M. E. Church South. Sweet rest to him. Verily, a good boy has fallen, an exemplar worthy of imitation. The burial will take place Sunday.

Mr. Riddleberger remarked there was no concealment of the fact that the resolution was intended to effect matters that ought to be considered in executive session, and he gave notice that, as for himself, he would vote for the confirmation of Lamar.
Mr. Walthall said he had not risen to offer any opposition to the proposed investigation, on the contrary he was anxious the resolutions should be adopted by the votes of those Senators whose views on the constitutional power of the Senate differed from his own. If the proposition were to investigate the town election in New Hampshire, he would vigorously oppose it. He courted the fullest investigation of that consumptives should be the least apprehensive of their own condition, while all their friends are urging and beseeching them to be more careful about exposure and overdoing. It may well be considered one of the most alarming symptoms of the disease, where the patient is reckless and will not believe that he is in danger. Reader, if you are in this condition, do not neglect the only means of recovery. Avoid exposure and fatigue, be regular in your habits, and use faithfully Dr. Fiere's "Golden Medical Discovery." It has saved thousands who were steadily failing.

Mr. William Torrence has just completed the rock foundation for the engine and machinery of the extensive works being erected at the Old Depot for Messrs. Grant, West & Co. Of course the work is well done, for Mr. T. always does good work. This establishment will soon be another of Asheville's most important industrial enterprises.
Potts, the talented young lawyer, now in Beaufort county jail, convicted of the murder of Paul Link, is to be hung at Washington, this State, on the 26th of the present month. His friends, of course, are bending their full energies to secure Executive mercy; but, so far, the Governor remains firm.
Moved by whiskey and seduced by a woman, he reaches an early but a terrible end.
The culture of upland rice in Wake county was begun last season, as an experiment by Mr. E. B. North. He tells me that but for the great August freshet he would have made 4,000 bushels. As it was he has threshed 973. The grade is very fine. It has been offered at $1.05 per bushel for it. Next season considerable rice will be planted in the upland section.
So says the Raleigh Dispatch correspondent. There is general apprehension in regard to the culture of this staple. It is limited, in popular apprehension to wet lands and tide water. Such in fact are the localities for the product of the rice fields. But there is nothing more flexible in its habits than the rice plant. It is adapted equally to marsh land and the mountain side. Its varieties are infinite. In the island of Manila alone 60 different kinds are known. It grows on the flat lands of China and on the steep sides of the lofty Himalayas, with equal readiness. Such flexibility has made it culture so habitable to various parts of North Carolina and elsewhere once it was believed that the lands of the lower Cape Fear were an unbelieved suitable, it is now found profitable to cultivate rice in Wayne and Lenoir, and even in Wake, on a moderate upland, and where artificial flooding is impracticable.
Such being the case, a variety may be found suitable to the mountains, and profitable therein.

The examinations for admission to the white school will be continued to-day from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., and all children desiring to enter the school and who have not yet received tickets of admission would do well to attend and be examined. Parents are invited to attend to-day with their children.
