SHOO PER ANNUM.

WED'SDAY MORNING, MAR. 7, 1888.

THE GOVERNORSHIP. The CITIZEN is not less concerned than other papers in the State that a Democratic candidate for Governor, but it has been in no haste to indicate its preferances. The choice covers a wide field; and among the many named there is not one we would not very earnestly support. But this section of Western North Carolina has no axe to grind, If it had, it would prefer to defer all action to the wisdom of the convention. The barmonious action of that body will be best secured by the untrammeled voice of the delegates who go free to select from among the good names that will be presented, and making their choice, enter upon the campaign free from the acrimony sure to be engendered by the effort to maintain pledges [previously -made, and declarations previously announced.

The pledge the CITIZEN makes is that it will support unreserved!y. cordially and laboriously whatever the convention resolves upon.

TIMELY REMINDERS.

The Democratic party of this State, of the whole South in fact, is nations. under deep obligation to the Raleigh News-Observer of the 2nd for the admirable article, "A Word With Young Men." It is a resume of the history of parties in the South since the war up to the period when the back-bone of oppression and unconstitutional measures was broken, and the current of law, justice and fraternal relations resumed their

The article is addressed to young men, but with equal benefit might be read by the elders. The first had no experience of the dark and dismal days of the transition period. They needed the information to give them warning of dangers they may incur by ignorance of the teachings of the past. Many of the others seem to have forgotten their experience a together, and in the order, peace, prosperity and equal justice to all of the present, seem to regard the enjoyment of those things as their normal right and condition. They forget the sacrifices at which these things were won; the fearful struggle by which the burden of oppression was Chambers & Weaver, thrown off; the mighty effort by which the spell of the carpet-bagger was broken; the superhuman effort by which the white man resumed his rightful ascendancy in the affairs of the State.

It seems to be forgotten that during that baleful period the white men of the State were disfranchised, that the newly liberated freedmen were endowed with unlimited right of suffrage, that they were headed by a rapacious and vindictive horde of Northern adventurers, to whom were joined|many;bad natives of the State eager to embrace the opportunity to advance their own political or personal fortunes; that in doing this taxation was laid upon people utterly impoverished by the results of the war, the credit of the State pledged to a burden it would require generations to lift, the ev:dences of that credit squandered among those who had issued them, and the whole State disgraced at home and dishonored abroad by the very parties entrusted with the exercise of its sovereign power. In | big stock ot addition to this every present avail able resource was seized and dissipated, railroad and bank stock, sold for what they would bring in the market, and the sacred school fund exchanged for worthless bonds, di vided as spoil among the shameless plunderers. Added to this the condition of the white population in the castern counties was most deplorable. They were absolutely under negro domin ion; negro magistrates presided over a black beaver hat at $1.25; a their courts; negro sheriffs and constables executed the laws; negro commissioners apportioned taxation; and to sustain them in all their nefarious practices, Republican judges, some of infamous character, some of them carpet baggers, sat in the higher tribunals of justice

-se called. Every county was under the heel of despotism of the most odious kind, every county was loaded down with debt it had no prospect of paying, every county treasury was open to plunder at the hands of greedy and dishonest officials and in the aggregate the whole State was in a pitiable condition of yassalage to an inferior race and to an unprincipled interloper.

Bad as war was, it seemed preferable to such peace. In war, men were free, abiding the chances of battle; in peace, they had become battle; in peace, they had become slaves, their hope of freedom resting only on that manly resolution and in omitable love of liberty that never desert the Anglo Saxon." In 1869-70 the Democrats undertook the work of deliverance and accomplished it; and under their accomplished it; and under their goods in our line, and will take pleasure counsels and policy North Carolina in showing von through our assortment. has emerged from the condition of a down-trodden province into that of a sovereign State, richer, more populous, more prosperous than Forgetting all this, even those into whose soul the iron had entered seemed to have conspired to bring about a restoration of the evil days At the last State election only the blunders of the opposition saved the State from complete Repub can ascendancy. With that would there should be a proper selection of have come a Republican judi ciary, the overthrow of the present system of county government and the restoration of negro domination where it would have been most disastrous. Then would have come the arrest of prosperity. the stoppage of public works, the halt in enterprize, the paralysis to industry, and the blight to private fortune.

Remembering that the principles of the party are unchanged and that its purposes are indomitable, Democrats should look well to it that no local dissensions, no clashing of personal ambition, no irreconcilable rivalries shall interposto foster the hopes of the republicaus, abundantly watchful and industrious to avail themselves of the errors of their enemy.

The campaign is close at hand. Let Democrate be on guard. At an early day we v'll publish the excellent and instructive article

INFANTILE SKIN DISEASES

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was at acked with a virulent, maligrant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician, who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almose incred-ble rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was o e solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched, and malicious. We had no test at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the Cuticura Rensouse. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks - complete cure was wrought, leaving the little tellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well no repetition of the disease having ever ad to day he is a strong, nessany cand, percessed in repetition of the disease having ever coursed.
