MR. JOHNSTON IN CONGRESS. His Amendment to Wipe Out the Internal Revenue Laws, and Speech Thereon.

In the House on the 17th, when the tariff bill was under consideration, the following proceedings were had, as taken from the Congressional Record : Mr. Johnston, of North Carolina, I wish to offer an amendment to the amend-ment of the gentleman from Virginia.

The CHAIRMAN. The clerk will report the amendment submitted by the gentle man f om North Carolina [Mr. Johnston] The clerk reads as follows:

Mr. Jehnston, of North Carolina, Mr. Chairman, the effect of this amendment which I have offered to the amendment congress. The democrats have renominated Gen, Hawker, of the gentleman from Virginia will be to extend the repeal of the internal rev-enue law beyond the tobacco tax and to include the tax on whisky and brandy. I offer this proposition for the purpose of wiping from the statute-book the law cotton crop to date to be 83.8; slight ly higher than this time for 'S7 and which imposes internal revenue tax on all spirits distilled from grain or fruit. I have heard a great deal said on this floor was 36 feet, 51 inches above the about "free whisky" and "free brandy," and recently the representatives of the Republican party assembled in Chicago pretended to be in favor of the repeal of usual hight, and rising slowly Monday at noon; all mills stopped applied to the city council for franchises special and general, for the building of the road, and each time as emphatically prometable that the same would be special franchises as well as Democrats, which is the same would be special that the same would be special franchises from the corresponding to the inflavor of the repear of the internal revenue law. How true this may have tion of this law. It is a law which was been, we know not, but one thing is certain, the road was not built. parently to the effect it might have upon the civil liberties of the people; they relied upon the patriotism of the country to submit to a system during the continuance of a great war; and that reliance was well met. At that time the oppressive features attending the execution of the law were less thought of than the object of raising revenue. But we have long since reached a time of peace, and all parties declare in favor of taking from the statute-book every thing partaking of war legislation.

Now, if there is anything which is essentially a war measure, this system of internal revenue taxation is one, and I desire to see it wiped from the statutebook, b cause I wish to see my people relieved from the exactions and oppressions i posed upon them in connection with the enforcement of this taxation during the last twenty-five years.

Just think of it, Mr. Chairman. Mr. Johnsten, of North Carolina, I hope my friend from Iowa [Mr. Kerr] will "ask me something hard." I want Republicans and Democrats to unite nere in repealing the obnoxious law. I want to blot it out because it has done so much to excite the animosities of the people all through the country, and has been the instrument of more suffering to those who are least able to bear it than any other statute I know of. Besides it fosters a system of espionage and harsh treatment which is obnoxious to all ideas of ree government. It has done more to engender bad feeling in communities, to encourage false swearing, to sap the very manhood from our people, to teach them to regard the Government as oppressive toward the citizens than all other laws.
