THE SENATE OUTLOOK.

One very important consideration or the coming session of the Legisture-the most important in the ew of those ambitious of honorsthe election of a Senator to fill e vacancy occasioned by the exration of the present term of Senor Ransom. It is certainly a most portant transaction, and its gravcannot be over estimated, especnow, when again a party their redress, unconsciously has s into power, once unequivounfriendly to the South, posagain to renew the policy sused by the four years national ational measures of a demoadministration. And this is the key note of the whole contest, or ought to be. Individual ambition and personal aspiration must be subordinated to the general good of the South, the State and the democratic party, in which it alone are preserved the assenil elements of a constitutional reblican government.

The democratic majority in the gislature cannot wisely and safely rmit itself to engage in factional ife, to fritter away its strength in sonal partisanship, and in the d find itself divided into embitred fragments, to go forth to meet most important future with ded counsels and hostile faces. the effect of such division, esult of zealous senatorial asion, would have upon the inrity of the whole democratic y, has already had its illustraone whose influence has never effaced from democratic memand whose baleful presence been felt in every succeeding ral election. inherent rights of the governed. But just here the trouble comes in. It is the maintenance of this

'eternal vigilance" that so taxes the indolent temper of the greater mass of the voters, far too prone to abdicate to others the labor of thought and direction. The result is that power of protection, power for arrest of public evils, power for passed away, to make it evident at last that all has been surrendered in the hands of active banded organizations, assuming and professing to think. direct, and act for the people; creating at length a system he South will need the pres- so adverse and so antagonistic to a the Congress of its strongest the idea of popular government as to suggest the succession of an oligarchy, or a series of co-ordinate oligarchies, planning and working in harmonious aim to absorb to them-

thusiasm or rage in the support of party candidates, and in the end find results have been reached, not through the true interest of the ballot, which presumes intelligence, probity and patriotism, but through the frenzy of excitement or the poison of corruption.

If the late Presidential election is to be cited as example, our question s answered. Our system of elections does not work well, or as it wa- intended. Instead of reliance upon intelligence, probity and patriotism, the bad passions of human nature were aroused and played upon. Wild sectionalism put patriotism to flight, blind prejudices clouded all intelligence, and flagrant corruption put probity to the blush. If the two first elements had only played their part, there might be hopeful reaction. Passion might subside, and reason resume its sway. But the prospect is a dark one that is clouded with corruption. When votes are bought and sold then it comes to proof how little the voter values that which ought to be most

For three years I was almost cripoled with an awful sore leg from my knet down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurantle. It had diminished about one third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condi-tion. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever. I was persuaded to try your Cuticura Remedies, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the boas (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh begun to grow, and to day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen. B. G. They all look alike, and the only way to know what kind to buy is to try them, or take one well known, of good reputation such for example, as Dr. Hart's Anti Billious Pills. These, no doubt, are good, probably the best in the market, and for the ordinary diseases we are subject to rarely fail to give relief.
