Congress is busy with islands this week. Hawaii and Cuba are more troublesome than whole continents.

It is said that our colored brethren are not susceptible to smallpox; but it may be inferred that they catch chicken-pox easily.

Dynamiters in Cuba, anarchists in Paris, strikes in New England and war threatened in old England make the news columns lively.

Dispatches from Washington state that "the Cuban question will be brought up in the house in some shape." It will probably be in post mortem "shape" if it is not brought up soon.

Philadelphia has sixty-two cases of typhoid fever in the district supplied by one reservoir. Investigation disclosed an overflow from an intercepted sewer near the pumping station.

The anniversary of General Lee's birthday will be observed in many places by fitting ceremonies today. Where no public exercises mark the occasion, the memory of the great man and the great soldier will be cherished in the hearts of those who are capable of appreciating noble and gentle manhood. General Lee will live forever as a type of a true American gentleman.

The St. Louis Republic prints a story to the effect that a Missouri farmer has been able to produce "an extraordinarily fine quality of wool by feeding his sheep on cotton seed." The result was "a long fleece of snow white, perfectly mixed cotton wool." Now let some of our cotton growers experiment with woolen rugs as fertilizer for the cotton field, and see if they cannot produce "fine cotton wool" from the plant.

In commenting upon the homicidal mania which has been sweeping over this country during the past few years The Philadelphia Times undertakes to show that little improvement has made itself apparent in the records and that radical measures looking toward the correction of this tragic evil should be speedily adopted. Says the Times: "There is not a single state or territory in the union in which there is not a total for murder pending. In the state of Kentucky there are forty-seven cases concerning ninety-one prisoners for murder awaiting trial. In Virginia there are at least twenty-three charges of murder. In the first state only seven of the men in jail to be tried for the capital offense of murder are negroes; in Virginia there are eight, North Carolina has twenty cases or more, Georgia twenty-seven, Louisiana a score, Texas thirty-two or thirty-three, Missouri twenty-four, Illinois sixteen, Indiana seven, Michigan three, Ohio eight, Pennsylvania twenty-six, New York forty-two, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont one, New Hampshire had just settled one of her three by a sentence of thirty years imposed upon a crazed assassin. California had twenty-seven cases on her docket, and altogether there are about 280 charges of murder upon the criminal dockets of the various states and territories." The Times does not exaggerate, at least as to North Carolina, for there are probably more than double twenty cases pending trial in this state.

Aiken, S. C., is "going in" for golf. A series of tournaments has been arranged to commence the latter part of this month. A handsome trophy has just been presented to the Palmetto Club by Mr. H. H. Peck, of Waterbury, Conn., and the golfing committee is arranging a competition for it later in the season. The trophy is a silver punch bowl, gold lined, with a golfer sketched on one side. Mr. and Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor have also leased a cottage in Aiken for the winter. Mr. Chatfield-Taylor is president of the Onwentsia Golf Club at Chicago, and his wife is one of the leading women golfers in the West. The golf course has nine new holes. James Mackereel the professional who was in charge of the course last year has been retained for this season. Many of the amateurs whose names are well known in the golfing world are now at Aiken. Arthur H. Penn, the Palmetto Club's champion, and winner during the last season of the Lenox and Anolwood cups besides other trophies, is there. Herbert C. Leeds, the prominent yachtsman as well as golfer, and member of many Boston clubs has been playing over the Palmetto links for several days and getting in very good trim. William Fairbanks of the old St. Andrews Club, Scotland, who played in two or three open tournaments in the vicinity of this city toward the close of last season. Foxhall Keene is expected to arrive next week. H. Mortimer Brooks who is a frequent player on Newport links during the summer will soon be there. Mr. and Mrs. W. Butler Duncan, Jr., Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainford and his son, H. G. McVicker, W. W. Edgerton, W. B. Lord, J. A. Blair, Jr., J. L. B. Mett, J. J. Mason and Mrs. Mason. Mr. and Mrs. Carley Havemeyer have rented a cottage for the season and will occupy it next week. "With these enthusiasts which include only a small portion of what the golfing fraternity will be later it will be seen that there will be no lack of golfing activity at Aiken this winter," says the New York Herald, which also mentions the attractions of the Bon Air course. Asheville has a new 18 hole course laid out since last season which ought to attract enthusiasts. The Kenilworth links and the Country Club links were used last season by many lovers of the sport. We venture to say that there is no better opportunity in the South for golfing than there is in Asheville.

TOPICS OF TODAY.

It seems that Mr. Reed is a civil service reformer. Appearances are deceitful. To look at the speaker you would think he was an unmixt pirate of the old school.—Atlanta Constitution.

Signs of summer in the air—
Dreamy echoes float.
Skies to-day are blue and fair.

Surely bees are on the wing—
There's a dove's sad note,
And I hear a bluebird sing.

A movement is on foot to give South Carolina a geological survey. The News & Courier says: "The corps of scientific men employed at Clemson college are thoroughly competent to do good service in this new field and are prepared and anxious to do it. They ask no extra compensation for the extra and arduous work they offer to perform. They only ask that the State should pay the salaries of the survey corps for the time actually employed by an appropriation for that purpose. The whole cost of the work, it is estimated, would not exceed $3,000 a year. North Carolina, it may be noted, appropriates $10,000 a year for geological survey and has been conducting one for seven years. We should get the like service which is as valuable to South Carolina as to North Carolina or any other state, for less than a third as much money. The professor of geology in the University of Alabama teaches his classes for several months and then engages, with one or more assistants in actual field work for several months; the legislature making a fair allowance for such work. He has also we believe a competent assistant who is constantly engaged in field work under his direction."

AN INQUIRING LAD.

Personal Adornment Which Appeared to Be Unnecessary.

"When I was down in the Tennessee mountains doing my turn in that peculiar and primitive section," observed the special pension agent, "I had at various times such glimpses of life as you pampered children of the luxurious capital never get. I remember one June morning I arose from my simple bed of clapboards on the left floor of a log cabin and proceeded down a ladder to the creek, where a hundred yards down to the earth, thence a hundred yards up to a sawmill with."

"As I splashed my face in the clear water and split tiered over it after the usual fashion of a man who likes to wash his face I was joined by the 10-year-old son of the family with which I was stopping. He stood on the shore watching me with much interest, which I am glad to say I returned with zest, for he was a picture boy. He was sandy and freckled and didn't look as if he had had a bath in the memory of man. His clothes were simple enough, consisting of a cotton shirt, and there was no hat to hide a head of hair which I am positive never felt the penetrating and persuading influence of a comb. He was too much interested in the mysteries of my toilet to say anything until I took out a comb and began to use it on my tangled locks. After a tug or two at it, looking at him meanwhile, he spoke. "Say, mister," he said curiously, "have yer got to do that there?" "Do what there?" I smiled in reply. "That there that yer doin'." "You mean combing my hair?" "Yes." "Of course it has to be done." "Every mornin this erway?" "Certainly." "Well, gee-whillerkins, mister," he said, with much feeling, "yer must be a help of trouble to yerself."—Washington Star.

In caring for the table during a dinner party it is customary to reserve the most valuable or artistic plates for the "lay service." The scheme of providing does not permit the guest to be without a plate before him, and between the courses plates are laid at each cover, one laid down while the used plate is removed. Cauldon, Copeland and Royal Worcester china are much liked for "lay plates."—Philadelphia Press.

Times, has in a great many instances, relieved her baby when in the first stages of croup, by giving it Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
