THE DISCOVERY OF THE DAY.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and today stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at T. C. Smith's drug store and Pelham's Pharmacy.

Miss Allie Hughes, Norfolk, Va., was brightly burned on the face and neck. Pain was instantly relieved by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which healed the injury without leaving a scar. It is the famous pile remedy.—C. A. Rayson.

THE CRITTENTON REVIVAL

LARGE GATHERING LAST NIGHT AT CENTRAL CHURCH.

A Talk on 'Peace'—Worldly Ambition Contested With Peace That Comes From God Through Christ.

The congregation present at the revival service last night in the Central Methodist church filled the body of the church and the gallery. The usual song service of half an hour preceded Dr. Crittenton's address.

Dr. Crittenton is a man who evidently has not had the advantages of a liberal education, but he possesses good native ability and is thoroughly consecrated and thoroughly in earnest in the work in which he is engaged. He is evidently also thoroughly happy in the consolation of a perfect faith. In addressing his auditors he stands in front of the pulpit and sometimes walks to and fro across the platform. He talks rapidly.

Dr. Crittenton selected as the basis of his talk last night the 21st verse of the 22nd chapter of Job, "Acquaint now thyself with him and be at peace, and thereby good shall come unto thee." The truths he sought to teach were supported by very numerous and apt quotations from the Bible and were profusely illustrated by incidents of actual life. Every one who had not obtained the peace of God was aiming to obtain peace by striving after the various objects of worldly ambition, but although the objects were attained, the peace that had been hoped for never came. The only real and enduring peace for the human soul was that which comes from God through Christ. The peace of God, enabled Job, in his sore temptations, to say, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him," and "I know that my redeemer liveth," St. Paul to say, "I have fought a good fight. I have finished my course. I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness." Paul had been faithful to his Master from the moment he heard Jesus calling to him until his martyr's death.

The speaker had stood at the tomb of Polycarp in Smyrna and recalled the martyrdom of that holy man. "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee, because he trusteth in Thee."

The speaker impressed upon his unconvinced hearers the importance of accepting Christ without delay, and upon Christians the duty of earnestness in efforts to bring sinners to Christ. He believed in being instant in season and out of season.

One of Dr. Crittenton's stories "to point a moral" was that of an inmate of an insane asylum. He had been persuaded to open a railroad bridge to let vessels pass when there was not sufficient time before a train was due. His act resulted in a disaster and the loss of scores of lives. He became insane, and was always exclaiming and repeating, "Oh, that I had!" Dr. Crittenton said he believed he would now have been lost in eternity if he had not fifteen years ago accepted the opportunity then presented to accept Christ. Conscience and memory made the fire that can not be put out through endless eternity. He believed in coming to Christ early in life. Children were ready to come to Christ said suffer them to come. Keep out of the way and let them come. Bishop Taylor, the missionary bishop in Africa, said that those natives who were converted at eight years of age or under, remained as a rule, true to Christ, and that the same truth was exemplified everywhere. "Don't miss eternal life."

Dr. Crittenton then asked all who wanted peace to rise. The choir sang "Just as I Am, Without One Plea," and "Almost Persuaded."

A considerable number, one after another, rose at Dr. Crittenton's invitation. Then every one who wished to seek Christ was asked to come to the front seats while the choir sang "Jesus, in calling." Eight or ten came forward including several children. Dr. Crittenton offered a prayer and then sang "Where He Leads Me, I Will Follow," the choir and congregation softly joining in the refrain. God says "Give Me your heart." What is that He asks but your love and obedience, said Dr. Crittenton. An affecting incident was a prayer by Dr. Crittenton while he held in his embrace a little boy. Prayer was offered by Dr. Byrd and one or two other clergymen, and Dr. Byrd dismissed the meeting with the benediction.

On Saturday night the subject will be "Consecration." In announcing this subject Dr. Crittenton said we never stand still. God in the Bible gives the command of consecration, shows the possibility and the means. Dr. Crittenton, in treating the subject, will quote from the Bible and will give a good deal of his own experience. The character of the meeting on Sunday afternoon will be announced from the pulpit Sunday morning.

The meeting Friday night will be especially for young people. A service for children will be held Saturday afternoon.
