Marriage of Arthur M. Field and Miss Isabella Rose.

RING MERRILY

WEDDING BELLS

Yesterday's Brilliant Ceremony at Rome N. Y.

A Notable Event in Society Circles in the Northern City-Reception Fol lowing the Wedding Service.

Rome, N. Y., Feb. 8 .- The leading social event of the winter season in this city was the wedding this evening in Zion Episcopa church of Mr. Arthur M. Field, of Asheville, N. C., to Miss Isabella Ann Rose, of Rome.

Promptly at 6 o'clock Lohengrin's wedding march pealed from the organ, and as each eye was turned with interest towards the door of the church, the bridal party commenced its march up the centre aisle. They were met at the door by the choir in vestments singing Lohengrin's welding march with the words "Faithful and True."

The surpliced choir, consisting of fifty. voices, reversed and led the bridal party to the altar.

Following the choir came the ushers, they arranging themselves in couples on either side of the altar. Then the maid of bonor, Miss McHarg, attired in a rich gown of pink Liberty gauze over pink taffeta, carrying pink roses. Then came the brids with Mr. Harvey Spalding Bedell. The bride wore a rich white miroir satin with an original design of handwork by Mile. Zina of New York, trimmed with old point lace, and carried a white prayer book.

took all his meals in public, bishops and dukes alone being privileged to sit at the royal table. A second table was provided for abbots, counts and other leading men and at both tables there was shown more profusion than delicacy, both in the qual-ity of the meats and drinks and the man-ner in which they were served. Flutes, hauthoys and other musical instruments were played before the bearers of each ourse as it was removed from the tables. When dessert was served, 20 heralds, eac when dessert was served, 20 heralds, each holding aloft a jeweled goblet, shouted thrice, "Largesse, largesse from the most potent of kings!" As they shouted they scattered among the crowds handfuls of gold and silver coins. Then the trumpets were blown, while the better class spec tators shouted and the meaner sort scram bled and often fought vigorously for th money scattered by the heralds. Charles VII of France put a final stop to the cours plenieres, alleging that the ex-pense attendant upon his wars with England made it impossible for him to conexpense, it was explained, arose from the fact that, beginning with King Pepin's time, etiquette and custom alike demanded that the king should upon these occasions give an entire suit of new and gor geous clothing not only to his own servants and retainers, but also to those of the queen and all the princes of the blood royal. These garments were said to be livres-that is, "delivered" at the king's expense-and from this word the English word "livery" was derived, as was the oustom of providing servants with "livery," from the above mentioned practice of certain of the French kings .- London Society. .

AMERICAN HEIRESS IN PARIS.

Impecunious Titled Parisians Drew Lot to Decide Who Should Marry Her.

Lillian Bell, in a letter from Paris to The Ladies' Home Journal, writes that the most shameless thing in all Europe is the marriage question, and proceeds to narrate the experiences of a rich American girl who came to Paris with letters to friends. On account of her wealth she was invited everywhere by mothers of marriageable sons, but being unable to peak French was not much of a success. She went to a convent to learn French, and was shown much attention by the Duchesse de Z-, who was determined that her son should marry her. "Suddenly, to the amazement of everybody, the heiress sailed for America without a word of warning. The duchesse was furious. 'You must follow her,' she said to her son. 'We cannot let so much money escape.' The son said he would be hanged

"My mother was subject to sick headaches and indigestion for over a year. She was unable to stand for any length of time, and was obliged to stay in a dark room as the could not bear the light. She had no appetite whatever and herstomach was so weak she could not retain what tinue them. One of the severest causes of food she did eat. She also had severe pains in her head. She suffered so much that she became but the shadow of herself. One day I happened to read a testimonial about Hood's Sarsaparilla. It persuaded her to try this medicine. Before finishing the first bottle there was an improvement in her condition. She no longer threw up her food and her headache was not as severe. She took in all four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and several boxes of Hood's Pills and regained her weight. She is now enjoying the best of health. Her digestion is good and she can est almost anything she wishes. She is 42 years old and says she feels as well si as when she was 16. Hood's Sarsaparille made a complete cure in her case." THE ASHEVILLE GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 9, 1898.

The bridegroom, on the arm of his best man, Alexander Webb, entered at the left door. Slowly, solemnly, but full of happiness, they made their way to the altar. In front of the altar they met, the bridegroom receiving the bride and the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. John H. Egar, in a very impressive manner.

After the benediction and while still kneeling, the cho'r sang, "O, Perfect Love," the twain became husband and wife. Then to the joyous music of Mende sshon's march, they made their way down the aiste and out of the church, with every eye in the large congregation admiring the happy couple, and every heart full of good wishes for them, and every friend softly breathing them a "God-speed."

The ushers were Hon. George G. Mc-Adam, Prof. Remer, Henry Barringer, Mr. G. Linn and Mr. John B. MacHarg, jr.

This was the first wedding in Zion Episcopal church since its renovation. It was opened on Sunday, February 6, which was the restor's seventeenth anniversary, and it was richly and profusely decorated with tions of Throat, Chest and Lungs it is in palms and pink roses.

"The groom presented to each of the bridal party a gold suck pin, ename.ed in white and pink, set with pink North Carviina almandines.

Among the guests from out of town were Mrs. Marcus Field of Cooperstown, Hon. Russell S. Johnson and Miss Johnson of Camden, Mrs. A. D. Smith of Fuitonville, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ethridge, New York, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Champion, New

Among the expected guests was Mr. Edward Dexter Moore of Toledo, Oh o, who has looked after the business interests of Miss Rose, her grandmother, her mother and herself in Tole io for about forty years. Mrs. Will C. Ferrill, Denver, Col., Hon Josiah Perry and Mrs. Perry of Utica, Rev. Mr. Herrick of Wattentown, Miss Merriman Nashua, N. H., Mr. Paul B. Boden, New York city, Dr. O. H. Babbitt, Albany.

An elegant reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey spalding Bedell. The house was profusely trimmed with galax leaves from the mountains of n North Carofina, pink roses and fillies of the valley. The supper was served by Fischer, of Utica, at sinall tabeautifully decorated with pink roses,
