J. S. Elliott, a well known citizen of Marion, was found dead in a well on his premises Friday morning. He was not in his right mind, and his death was probably a suicide. He was a successful business man and leaves a good estate for his family.

The Weldon News says plans have been perfected for the construction of the silk mill to be erected at Roanoke Junction, four miles above Weldon. The building will be a substantial brick structure, 315 feet long and 78 feet wide. Work on the construction will begin about July 1st.

Some members of the North Carolina Corporation commission will attend the national convention of railroad commissioners which meets at Denver, Colo., August 10. Judge Clark, of the North Carolina supreme court, has been invited to deliver an address before the convention.

The school year just closed has been one of marked success, there having been over one hundred students during the term. Great preparations are already being made for the fall term, which will open some time in September. An elegant residence has been secured for a dormitory for girls, and the dormitory for boys will be renovated.—Polk County News.

Ellijah Joyner and Cephus Langley, the two negroes who have been in Pitt county jail for the Turnage murder, and arson at Dongola, about the first of May, were taken to Raleigh Friday and lodged in jail to prevent lynching. The prisoners were first taken to Washington and the fact soon became known in Pitt county. Immediately it was discovered a lynching party was formed and an advance began on Washington. The sheriff learned of it just in time to spirit away his prisoners and take them to Raleigh. The crimes with which they stand charged are horrible ones. They are the recent murder, robbery and arson at Dongola, Pitt county, in which L. Turnage's store was plundered and burned, after a nephew of Turnage, who clerked in the store, had been murdered. This was about May 1.

Mr. John Foster lives on the farm of Mr. Thomas Montgomery, near Fifth Creek church, in Cool Spring township, about ten miles from Statesville. His family until Wednesday was composed of his wife, Mrs. Mary Foster, and three little children, two little girls, aged four and six years, and an infant son, sixteen months old. His mother also made her home with him. After the household duties were finished Wednesday, as related by the Statesville Landmark, the elder Mrs. Foster went to churning in the kitchen, the two little girls to play in the yard, while the mother and the infant boy were in the house. About 8 o'clock Mrs. Mary Foster came out and told her mother-in-law she would churn, but the latter not consenting, the daughter-in-law went back into the house. In a few minutes the oldest little child went into the house, and seeing her baby brother leaning against the trunk with the blood trickling from his throat. She gave the alarm. Old Mrs. Foster started in and on the doorsteps met her daughter-in-law coming out with a bloody razor in her hand and a ghastly wound across her throat.

The elder lady called to her, "Drop that razor!" and the daughter-in-law at once did so. Mrs. Foster secured the razor and passed on into the house to find the baby dead with a cut across his throat from ear to ear, severing the jugular vein. She at once gave the alarm, and in a few minutes Mr. Thos. Montgomery and her son, Mr. John Foster, came. When the husband came the insane woman, who had killed her child and tried to kill herself, begged him to kill her, that they all might go together. On being asked why she committed the rash acts, she said that old Mrs. Foster told her to do it, which was only another evidence of her insanity. Dr. McLaughlin was summoned and found that the child must have died instantly.—The wound on the mother, while exposing, did not cut the jugular vein, and she will recover in all probability. It is supposed that when she saw the razor her mind lost its balance and she became an infanticide and almost a self-murderer.

HENDERSONVILLE ITEMS.

Hendersonville, May 20.—The town council met last night for the purpose of installing the new mayor and aldermen in their offices, and to elect city officers. Bailey; Street Overseer, D. E. Gibbs. Superior court will convene here Monday with Judge Coble presiding. The docket is unusually light this year. WHAT TO EXPECT IN A CHILD'S LOVE. I do not think we should expect of children the sort of love which ourselves are capable. The child's love for the parent and the parent's love for the child are essentially different, and we may only arouse a sort of antagonism in the young by insisting upon our right to a self-sacrificing affection. Let us be content with the sweet dependence, the demonstrative fondness that is nature's response to our nature, prompted bestowal of ourselves upon our children. A degree of sturdy selfishness, however, is the prerogative of healthy childhood, and cannot be regarded as altogether blameworthy.—Elaine Goodale Eastman in the June Woman's Home Companion.

CONSTIPATION

"I have gone 14 days at a time without a movement of the bowels, not being able to move them except by using hot water in the morning. Chronic constipation for seven years placed me in this terrible condition; during that time I did everything I heard of but never found any relief, such as my case until I began using CASCARETS. I now have from one to three passages a day, and I was rich I would give $1000 for each movement, such a relief." AYLMER L. HURT, 1089 Russell St., Detroit, Mich.

By allowing the accumulations in the bowels to remain, the entire system is poisoned. De Witt's Little Early Risers regulate the bowels. Try them and you will always use them. For sale by Paragon Pharmacy.

But They Weren't Civilized.

Traveling in southern India, one day I was taken into the country to see tapia roots gathered and ground for use. The adults working in the grove, men and women, had each a rag around the loins, but the boys and girls, with their black, glossy skins, were free of all incumbrance. Our guide explained to these people that we were from a country so far away and so different from theirs that the waters were sometimes made solid by the extreme cold and we could walk upon them; that sometimes it was so intensely cold that the rain was frozen into particles and lay on the earth so deep that people could not walk through it, and that three and four layers of heavy clothes had to be worn. This happy people, as our guide told us, wondered why we staid there, why we did not come and enjoy life in their favored climate.—Andrew Carnegie in North American Review.

To a certain extent all animals that live in the sea, such as whales, dolphins and porpoises, have the power to store up air, as they breathe only at intervals, when they come to the surface for that purpose.

When a person is down in the world, an ounce of help is better than a pound of preaching.—Bulwer.
