DEADLOCK ON CANDIDATE.

Louisville, June 24.-After four days and nights of almost continual wrangling the democratic state convention is apparently hopelessly deadlocked. The candidates for governor are nearly equally matched since the unseating of one hundred and fifty Hardin delegates. Todays proceedings was unprecedented in brilliant manouvring. After eleven unsuccessful ballots were taken the convention adjourned until Menday.

How Will She Pass Crisis of the Next Few Days?

signed to Save the Republic.

Fair Trial for Dreyfus & Small Part of the Task Before It.

in the Highest Ranks of the Army.

Paris, June 24.-France will easily command the attention of the world composition which excites both alarm and hope-alarm because the peril is so great that a cabinet designed simply to save the republic was considered necessary, with the hope that the stern policy which has been adopted will prove adequate. The Temps describes the Waldeck Rousseau cabinet as of a character never before known of except at the end of a war, the outbreak of an insurrection or on the eve of a coup d'etat. Monday's session of the chamber of deputies will solve the problem as to the life of the cabinet. If the ministry is overthrown there remains only one man whom Frenchmen regard as possessing sufficient strength and ability to cope with the situation. He is M. Constans, who is now in Constantinople.

A fair, safe trial of Dreyfus is small part of the task of the cabinet. Suppression and punishment of insubordination in the higher ranks of the army must come first. The real crisis will come when dealing with this problem. The test of the new government will come when it attempts to execute its undoubted intention to remove General Zurlinden from the military governorship of Paris. He more than any oth-Cheyenne, Wyo., June 24.-The chase er man ranks as the figure head of militarism in France at present. There could be no better man calculated to the cabinet.
