POLITICAL FREEDOM.

politics. It is the right of every man to think for himself, to utter his views and to cast his vote as he thinks right. In exercising this privilege he is accountable to no man. There are localtties, and we regret to say this old max, we believe, in the triumph of prejudice, a fact many recognized only too late. The spirit of the campaign ruled the legislature and it is in the light of this legislature that the impulse that controlled the campaign stands revealed. The issue of "white supremacy" was a fraud. It was the one above all others on which the most active prejudice in a portion of the state at least could be arraigned, with the power of well planned and concerted action on the part of adroit politicians and a servile press. It was an issue on which some plausible arguments, appealing to all citizens having the interest of the state at heart. could be urged, and many voters of independent minds, gave it their support while deprecating the violent prejudice it excited. They expected much of the legislature they thus elected, but a more reckless body of men never met to draw laws for this state than the general assembly of 1899. It was parthe only one in which it may be said to campaign, was to legislate to make "white supremacy" permanent. But the prejudice and misunderstanding that controlled the last campaign hideous, the crowd went to Leokout will not be the reigning influence in another. People will form their own opinions of what is best for them and the state. No partisan machinery can overrule the verdict of an aroused public sentiment. The issue of the next campaign will be political freedom, and the discussion of the issue in all its bearings will be free and open, and no class of men can do injury to any man because his views are his own.

ORGAN RECITAL AT ALL SOULS.

Given by Mr. Dunkley Last Evening Greatly Appreciated.

The organ recital by Mr. Ferdinand Dunkley at All Souls' church, Biltmore, last evening was a musical treat which called out a large number of musiclovers. The church was filled and chairs were placed in the aisles before the conclusion of the program. Unfortunately many came in late and missed a part, although two numbers of the program, the toccata and the duetto were repeated. The program was skilfully arranged to give a pleasing variety, and the range of music selected amply proved the power and versatility of the organist. The simplicity and sweetness of Bach's Prelude and Fugue in E minor, was followed by the tisan to the core. CROWD CAUSED COMMOTION.

Stag Trolley Ride Last Evening a Nerve Wrecking Affair.

The trolley car ride given last evening by about eighty young men was a howling success, especially in a literal sense.

The party made the ride in two open cars which were kept close together and which were made brilltant by the liberal use of Japanese lanterns and elec-tric lights. The First regiment band furnished music, when it could be heard above the general confusion. The young men were at i. ed in garbs that were wonderful and varied. All would have taken first prizes at a "hard times" party, and each was armed with some noise producing implement. Some of the horrs used were fashioned after the ones in use at the time the walls of Jerico were shautered. After feeling satisfied that all the principal streets had been made park and enjoyed a stag dance, cake walk and heavy refreshments, in the way of waterme" as, soda pop, peanuts and lemonade. The cake walk was a big success, and some of the boys should keep this attitity in mind in case of necessity. The dancing ended with a waltz "Home, Sweet Home," in which the members of the bard joined as they pla ed. The ride back to town was like unto the rest of the thip, i. e., each one tried to drown his neighbor's noise. One of the cutter's found a baby's ring in the heart of one of the melons. This caused a l'ttle anxiety on the part of those who saw it, but the craving of the inner man/ soon triumphed over superstition. It is another story about how the ring happeriod to be there. The party discontinued all noise while passing the Mission hospital.

BIG BENFFIT BALL.

To be Given at the Casino for the First Regiment Band

A ball will be given next Thursday evening at the Casino for the benefit of the First regiment band. A number of the members of the band have failed to secure employment, and it is especially for the benefit of such members that the ball will be given. Arrangements are being made to give those who attend a royal good time, and as only a nominal sum will be charged for admission, the affair will doubtless be well patronized. band will play during the even-
